GARDEN FARM, BEES, ETC.

THE HARDY FLOWER BORDER.

Writing under this heading in the Weekly Irish Times, the Gardening Correspondent says:—

When rearranging the scheme of colour—which involves transplanting—avoid as far as possible the moving of those plants which dislike frequent changing and dividing, among which may be mentioned Pæonias, Delphiniums, Lupins, Gypsophila, Anchusa, etc. These should always be planted in groups sufficiently apart from each other to allow space to intersperse with groups of such plants as Asters (Michaelmas Daisies), Dronicums, Campanulas, Chrysanthemums Maximum (Shasta Daisies), Heleniums, etc., which require frequent division. Overcrowding can thus be avoided and changes made without moving the plants, which would resent too much disturbance.

Unsatisfactory dealing by any advertiser in this column should be immediately reported to the Manager of the "Irish Times."

STAMPING OUT WARBLES.

FOLLOWING up his reference in the Irish Times to the need for eradicating the warblefly pest, Mr. R. J. Robinson, meat and cattle salesman, Birkenhead, points out that by squeezing out and destroying the ripe maggots the warblefly can be exterminated, but that on a larger scale the squeezing out process is impracticable. For this reason, valuable evidence is afforded by the procedure adopted in Denmark. The Danish Government evolved a maggot killing treatment for application to warbles in the shape of Bovidera oil, and promptly introduced a law for the compulsory stamping out of warblefly in 1922, the cattle in that country being treated for the first time, under the supervision of local organisers, in 1923.

Official returns go to show that before 1923, the first year of the compulsory treatment, 39 per cent. of the hides were found to be warbled. At the end of 1924, the number had been reduced to eight per cent., while the figures for 1925 showed an average of only four per cent. for the whole country, this being the third year of compulsory treatment. The measure has proved so successful, that its operation is to be extended for the next five years.

Mr. Robinson suggests that compulsory measures to stamp out the warblefly should also be adopted in this country in view of the importance of our cattle raising industry, and the losses caused by warbles to beef and dairy cattle.

KILLALOE SLATE QUARRIES.

Last Monday a party, including the Lord Abbot of Mountmelleray, the Very Rev. Dom. Phelan, O.C., and the Rev. Father Albric, O.C., paid a visit to the Killaloe Slate Quarries. The visitors, who were met by Mr. J. B. O'Driscoll, managing director, and conducted on a tour of the works, displayed a deep interest in the various processes of manufacturing slate.

The Lord Abbot closely inspected the machinery, most of which is driven by electricity, generated at the quarries, and which is of the most up-to-date type for transforming the quarried block into roofing slate.

SHOULD IRISH FARMERS SPECIALISE?

THE PRESENT FARMING OUTLOOK.

WHEN the outlook for Irish farmers was even bleaker than it is to-day we remarked on this page that they were not alone in their misfortunes, and although this is a cold comfort to those in adversity there may be a glimmer of hope in it. For farmers all over the world, the recognition that their hardships are not exclusive to their own country should bring with it not only a general sense of solidarity, which may slowly mature in lines of a more or less common policy, but should prompt them to study those world conditions under which their industry, which should command supremacy amongst the world's workers, has become, perhaps, the most depressed of any.

In the United States there is still an exodus from the farms to the towns. Denmark has scarcely yet emerged from her recent depression. In Canada, the fortunes of the grain crop threaten farming as a whole with difficulties. The June, 1929, statistics from England and Wales show a further decrease in the total area of agricultural land, amounting to 41,000 acres, in spite of a slight increase in rough grazing, which is more than counterbalanced by the decrease in crops and grass. Wheat is down by 4.7 per cent.—it was 14 per cent. less last year than in 1927—and barley is 5.3 per cent. less than in 1928. There are decreases in cattle and sheep, and pigs are down by 20 per cent., and though one year's returns prove little there are cumulative tendencies revealed here. Clearly, not in Ireland, nor in our islands only, but throughout civilisation, there is a first class problem to solve, and it will need the best brains of the world acting in concert to solve it.

A Signpost for Irish Producers.

But before the world can "get together" to examine this most crucial of all problems, individual nations, and certain groupings of them with common interests, must examine their own situation. The International Institute of Agriculture may suggest methods, and the Economic Committee of the League of Nations devise policies, but, except for the Empire Marketing Board's activities, we are unaware of any practical steps taken internationally to intensify farming on lucrative lines. That Board, of course, only began its work three years ago, and it is too early to look for results, but we think the lines of research and the developments following on them are full of promise, and that our own country stands to gain from them. Its latest report, "E.M.B. 19," covering the period May, 1928, to May, 1929, and published in July, contains a striking frontispiece. It is a sample "display" poster for exhibition in any works in which those employed are working on a contract from this State. It reads: "A contract for the Irish Free State is now in hand at these works. Question: How can you help to secure further contracts from the Irish Free State? By buying and getting your wife to buy what the Irish Free State is sending us. Buy Irish Free State Butter, Bacon, Eggs." If a better publicity be, as we think it is, one way in which to help the Irish farmer here is an excellent headline.

Concentrating on an "Irish Flavour."

We are less concerned, however, with publicity than with the importance of taking the utmost advantage of the increased and improved market to which it can give us access. This brings us back to the problem common not only to the countries within the British system, but to all civilised farmers. For all of them, with the world market to capture, four things have become vital to their progress and almost to their existence—improved produce, increased produce, reduced costs of production, and perfected marketing organisation.

Take the first as a case in point. It is too readily assumed that because produce is good of its kind it will hold its own anywhere. A fortnight ago we discussed New Zealand butter in this column. Last week a leading English trade paper characterised its sale as "slow," now that Irish pastures are in such excellent condition. Here is a hint for us. We cannot, of course, control the weather, but we know that because of it we in Ireland can generally count on our pastures to produce butter with what, if we will make the best of our circumstances, might come to be known as an "Irish" flavour. Provided the work of the creamery is perfectly sound, the normal result should be choicest butter. The poster we have just quoted recommends British consumers to buy our butter, our bacon and our eggs.

In every one of these products we should aim at providing our customers—not in England only, but in Ireland also—with a product which, in virtue of its natural merits, will easily proclaim its supremacy. This island is adapted to produce flavours in these foods which cannot be bettered. This principle opens up a larger field of operation than may at first sight appear. The whole question of specialisation in farming requires consideration. Ireland is able to produce not only the best butter, eggs and bacon, but nearly all the best breakfast and dinner products grown. But is the farmer and those who market for him sufficiently alive to the changing needs and fickle tastes of the consumer? Have we studied what we can easily do best, and what with difficulty or not at all?

The Moral of Local Production.

It was not by chance that place names attached themselves to certain breeds of livestock and types of produce: Hereford, Aberdeen, Galloway, Kerry cattle, "Shrops" sheep, "Yorks" pigs, Aylesbury ducks, Andalusians and Plymouths amongst fowl; Wiltshire bacon, Cheddar and Camembert cheese, Cork butter. These local names have, of course, spread far outside their points of origin, and some once popular have almost ceased to be known. We hear less of both Welsh and Wicklow mutton than we did some years ago; Cork butter is not now at the top of the price lists. It is years since we heard the proverb: "Beef to the heels like a Mullingar heifer." Yet these areas are raising produce which is probably as good as, or better than, ever. Other places may have vied with, or even in some cases ousted, them from their superior position, now that every town has all the world to choose from for its foods.

But whether the individual places named could by wise publicity and a determination to live up to it still prove their claims to superiority or not, it is certain that a small country like Ireland should base its farming policy on its undoubted ability to produce certain things to special advantage. Limerick bacon, like Cheddar cheese, owed its superiority to local conditions, and locality has still its part to play. We think, indeed, the problem applies everywhere. Argentina is specialising in maize and wheat; Canada also in wheat and cheeses; Denmark in butter and bacon (for both of which she secures a slightly superior price to ours for—when her choicest quality and ours are considered together—a slightly inferior product); and Holland and Switzerland in cheeses. In some cases climate determines the choice; in some industrial efficiency.

We stress the local aspects of the problem because they come home to us in our own markets, but, as we have shown, the farmers' problems are international, and some time a rational solution of them will be sought, and, we think, found on rational lines. In this solution international and national proclivities will both have to be respected. Meanwhile Ireland must develop the former with intelligent ardour if she is to have any progressive future. It is by adapting what we raise to our physical conditions, concentrating on them, working out common policies for common areas, that we may best hold our own and gradually increase the modest wealth possible to our small but well-dowered farm areas.

SUPPLEMENTING PASTURE.

MAINTAINING THE MILK FLOW.

AT this part of the season pasture is undergoing important changes in composition. In the majority of cases not only does its feeding value suffer in relation to bulk, but the nutriments of which it is composed, the protein, fat and carbohydrates take on new proportions to one another. Thus pasture which may well provide a balanced ration for deep milking cows in the early part of the season may now be so altered that cows yielding over two gallons per day may be hard pressed to collect and digest the materials necessary for their task.

It is of supreme importance at this critical juncture to have the yields of the deep milkers well maintained, as on this depends largely the upkeep of winter supplies. If the yield is allowed to fall below a certain point, it is next to impossible to regain it, and then only at much greater expense. Hence the advisability of giving cake supplements to the high yielding cows is an expedient which will commend itself to those concerned with the maintenance of winter supplies.

What the Cake Supplement Should Be.

The nature of the cake supplement will depend on the condition of the grass. The coarse produce from an understocked pasture needs different treatment to the less plentiful but more nutritious commodity from well-stocked and well-cared pasture. Another case is presented by the aftermath of meadows where it is desirable to supply something to correct the laxative tendency produced in the animal when dealing with the large quantities which a deep milking cow must ingest in order to keep up her yield.

Where grazing has been well stocked and well managed, but the quantity of grass not considered sufficient an allowance of 3lbs. dairy nuts or a suitable milk mixture per gallon of milk for each gallon above two gallons should be given. Such a mixture might be composed of two parts crushed oats, one part maize meal, and one part decorticated cotton cake. If the grass is exceptionally good, the cake supplement may be omitted for cows yielding up to three gallons, but it is better to err on the side of safety.

Needs of Coarse Pasture.

The coarse herbage from under-stocked or rough pasture requires supplements containing a higher proportion of protein, which may be provided in an allowance of equal parts of decorticated cotton cake and maize meal or two parts crushed oats, one part maize meal and one part decorticated earth-nut flakes. 3lbs. per head per day should be given to cows yielding over two gallons of milk for each gallon in excess of the two gallons.

Cows on aftermath should receive allowances of undecorticated cotton cake, the costive effects of which will counteract the laxative condition brought about through the change from dry, hard pasture. In this way, obstinate cases may be intercepted at a critical season when a condition of chronic diarrhœa may readily set in.

LIVER FLUKE IN CATTLE.

IT is well known, writes Mr. James Cameron, that the small flat-shaped organism named the fluke does much damage among sheep stocks which had been grazing on or near sodden, boggy pasture land. But why should it be so often assumed by even agriculturally-bred men that cattle are free from fluke? One frequently reads or hears of "rotten livers" in feeding and fat cattle, and the matter ends in this general description. Last winter I was interested in a lot of blue-grey (Shorthorn-Galiway) heifers which had been suckled as calves on a West Cumberland hill side near the Scottish Border, and afterwards grazed on sound dry pasture land on the Scotch side. When killed as two-year-olds 75 per cent. of them were found to be more or less affected with fluky livers. These livers were condemned in the slaughter house. I saw them all. A few were very bad, but, except for some wasting in the kidney fat, the carcases which had produced the "rotten" or fluky livers cut up well and showed good colour of flesh. The fluke organisms had taken possession, no doubt, when the animals were calves.

Every large slaughter house furnishes examples of such among livers. Certain grazing areas in Ireland—I'll not say where—occasionally produce cattle which show bad livers at the finish. An experienced eye will detect the something amiss at odd times in two-year-old stores. The affected animals get sucked up in their bellies, and as a general rule they have to be sold as odd lots. Not a week of winter and spring passes but which one hears of claims for condemned livers. The draining of bog lands and the preservation of such farmers' friends as the peewits or green plovers would do great good. But open drains from big wet wastes mean money, and if the land is practically dead flat the job is difficult. The peewit is a great friend, because it eats the small snails which for a time form the "host" or abode for the fluke organisms in its strange evolution. Rock salt laid down on the pastures near the bog land does some good, as the grazing animals kill a proportion of the enemy by taking a lick at the salt. The robust, wholesale remedy is draining. Well-drained land should then be top-dressed freely with salt. Would the game be worth the candle? In a good many cases I am certain that it would be worth—for the State.

Wooden Tongue.

Sections of old grass in Southern England and Ireland produce odd cases of "wooden tongue" (actinomycosis). It is not nearly so common in Ireland as it was thirty or forty years ago. In its early stages it is usually easily cured, the standard remedy being a solution of iodine (potassium iodide). But when the organism gets to the base of the teeth, and is out of touch of "swabbing," it is a stubborn subject to dislodge or kill. In bad cases one sees a form of suppuration at the lower jaw. One can get some about the tongue after gagging of the mouth, but an "entrenchment" in the jaw is not a simple matter. But I am poaching on the ground of the vet., the extremely useful practitioner who is so frequently called in when he has little chance of being useful. Better be a day before the fair, in some matters, than be two days after it. The fungoid forms of the organism which causes "wooden tongue" are probably swallowed on the pastures ever so often, but the "enemy" finds no scratch on tongue or gum.

NO SUBSIDY FOR MARES.

REPLY TO DEPUTATION.

THAT the breeding of weight-carrying hunters could be extended with the distribution of fillies of approved type to districts where horse-breeding is at a disadvantage for want of suitable mares was the opinion of a deputation from the Cork County Committee of Agriculture and the Munster Agricultural Society, which waited on Mr. P. Hogan, Minister for Agriculture. It was urged that the acquisition by the Department and the distribution to approved farmers of the right type of mare would produce the desired results. In the event of such a proposal being too costly, it was suggested that sufficient subsidies be given to the owners of selected fillies to retain them for breeding, or that a subsidy and loan, free of interest, be given for the purchase of fillies selected by the Department to an approved number of farmers.

"The only way to achieve success in the direction indicated is by having the sire and dam as near as possible to the type we seek to breed, as the dam is as essential to success as the sire," added the statement.

The deputation received a patient hearing, but had to be informed that the amount of money required to subsidise mares would exceed that now available for all the live stock schemes of the Department of Agriculture. The existing live stock schemes are based on the influence of the sire, because a subsidy of mares would mean the granting of a subsidy to individual farmers. A mare produces a foal once every two years, while a stallion is responsible for, perhaps, fifty foals in a season. If horse-breeders desire to improve their position they will, of their volition, retain their best fillies and mate them with suitable stallions for the production of weight-carrying hunters.

CREAMERY FOR EDENDERRY.

The opening of St. Brigid's Co-operative Creamery at Edenderry, Offaly, marks the completion of a project which has been in contemplation for some years. It was not until Mr. Eugene O'Brien, Edenderry, exerted himself in the matter that opposition was overcome, and the scheme placed on a sound foundation. A stimulus was given to the movement last year by the immigration to the district of Edenderry of a number of dairy farmers from the Dingle Peninsula, Co. Kerry. These men knew the value of co-operative dairying and agreed that a creamery near their new homes would be a great advantage to them.

The work was therefore proceeded with and last week the first creamery operated by Shannon electric power was formally opened, after the building and machinery had been blessed by the Rev. P. Murphy, P.P., Edenderry.

This creamery is a two-storeyed, galvanised structure, close to the railway station and is fitted with the most modern machinery.

HOW JERSEY FARMERS REAR HEIFERS.

THE methods by which Jersey Island farmers rear their heifer calves have been perfected by long experience. Jersey milk, as taken from the cow, is usually too rich for a calf's digestive system, so, on the Island, the milk is taken to one of the two co-operative factories, where it is separated, the cream made into butter and the skim-milk returned to the farms for calf-rearing. On most farms the calf is put into a very small box stall, remaining there for several months. Some of the better breeders give their calves more exercise, but all are careful not to allow the heifer calves to suck one another, and thus spoil their udders. They are careful also not to feed too heavily. The over-fattened Jersey calf will never make a good cow. There are no classes for calves at the Jersey Island shows, in order to prevent the young stock being got up for exhibition purposes.

Calves are fed milk for about five or six months. Through the summer the older calves are tethered on pasture the same as the cows. On some of the larger farms, where many calves are raised, there are fenced-in portions of pasture where calves of similar age are allowed to run together.

The heifers are kept just growing along nicely with plenty of good quality roughage and not much grain. It is recognised that over-feeding heifers for show or for any other reason is not a good practice. As a matter of fact, young heifers which win in the show ring are often not heard of after, for that reason. Under the best management they are kept thrifty and growthy, and not allowed to become stunted.

When the heifers are about four or five months in calf they are fed more liberally, and the concentrates increased to 2-3lb. daily. This heavier feeding is continued until within three or four weeks from calving, but from then onwards little or no concentrates are fed. This is so as to keep down swelling at calving time. The udder muscles on a first calf heifer are very tender, and too much inflammation and swelling are apt to cause the udder to break down. For a month after calving Jersey farmers usually continue to feed sparingly for the same reason.

AN OVERWORKED ADJECTIVE.

SOME COMPLAINTS FROM CANADA.

FERTILITY IN WEEDS.

(By JOSEPH MURPHY.)

ON the staff of the Vancouver Province there is a man who writes under the name of "Diogenes." I understand that he is the dean of all scribes in Canada, and I know that his remarks are tempered with the tolerance of an old and wise man. A short time ago he recorded a gentle "grouse." He wishes that people would cease to call Vancouver "our fair city." After so many reiterations of that adjective one might take Vancouver's beauty for granted. Like "Diogenes," I have a grouse, but, unlike him, I cannot dismiss it in a paragraph. Having been an infantry soldier, and now being a farmer of sorts, I hold two Grumbler's Licences, and propose to make use of one of them.

I wish to Heaven that Canadians would sometimes use the word "soil" without prefixing "fertile." From the outpourings of the Canadian booster one would imagine Canada to be the sole oasis in a barren world. Of course, the soil is fertile. I suppose any soil is fertile, provided it grows anything at all, but there are degrees in fertility.

On arrival in British Columbia, I dallied with the idea of buying a farm on the fertile alluvial soil of the Fraser delta, but, on hearing somebody murmur, "Five hundred dollars an acre," I dallied no more. I was only looking for agricultural land, not a building site for a factory. Cutting my coat according to my cloth, I bought a little farm on the fertile upland loam, and was congratulated on having secured a "snap." The fertility of my land manifests itself in a variety of things, which I will enumerate:—

ITEM—STUMPS.

Even Dr. Watson, without any help from friend Sherlock, could deduce that my bit of land is, or was, good for growing trees. Once upon a time this was part of the forest primeval, then along came the logger, cut the trees into shiplap and four-by-two, and departed satisfied that he left nothing worth while behind him. Then came a succession of optimists, who "broke" some of the land, and the land broke some of the optimists. One can blast the stumps, of course—with powder, I mean—but powder costs five dollars a box, and some of the stumps would tax the resources of Woolwich Arsenal.

I wish some Irish Republican, repenting of his ways, would send me his dump.

ITEM—SALLAL.

This is a paradoxical growth, quite pretty in its way, and beautifully green, even during drought. Despite its moist appearance, it is strongly astringent, and when a leaf is chewed it seems as dry as the Eighteenth Amendment.

Occasionally a hungry cow takes a bite or two of sallal, but, as a feed for dairy cattle, it is not to be recommended.

ITEM—BRACKEN.

In Ireland this fern seems to grow only near the mountains and wild places, but here it grows everywhere. If the soil be good, the bracken rises to a height of six or seven feet, and its tough black roots are everywhere. Pigs like the sticky, white substance around the root-fibres, and I have read that human beings have eaten it in time of famine. In moments of depression, I have thought of sampling it myself, but have not quite come down to that yet.

ITEM—SCUTCH, QUITCH, COUCH, TWITCH, OR WITCH-GRASS.

It needs no description. You have it in Ireland; but I never knew that it can bore right through a full-grown potato until I planted some "Gold Coins" in a field infested with scutch.

ITEM—FOG-GRASS.

This is a Bolshevik amongst meadowgrasses. It is red, unkillable, and grows up at inopportune times. Long before Timothy or Alsike are ready to mow, the red fog-grass is over-ripe, too tough for hay, and is seeding itself bountifully for next year.

ITEM—BALSAMS.

These are gnarled, undesirable conifers, which grow everywhere they should not, and which the lumber-jack regards as a weed. I have found at least one use for them. There is a thick resinous gum exuding from the base of their branches, and which I find good for caulking leaky troughs. My little daughter has also a use for young balsams—as Christmas trees.

Possibilities of employment in this way are limited.

ITEM—TRAILING BLACKBERRY.

In British Columbia there are two kinds of wild blackberries. One is much the same as our Irish kind, the other runs along the ground and produces small, hard fruit, which nobody tries to eat. The stem, or vine, resembles a wire shod with carpet-tacks, and would probably be a good substitute for barbed wire, if a man were brave enough to handle it.

I have also thistles of three kinds, all doing well—Canadian, Scotch and Sow. Likewise, ninety-four varieties of weeds, whose names I read in a Government booklet, but which I cannot quote offhand, but they are all here.

All of the aforementioned grow luxuriantly, with little or no positive action on my part, but I wish it were as simple a matter to grow any herb of any use whatever to man or beast.

NATIONAL MATERNITY HOSPITAL

A tennis tournament will be held at the Elm Park Golf Club, Merrion, Dublin, kindly placed at the disposal of the Building Fund Committee of the National Maternity Hospital, Holles street, Dublin, by the committee of the Elm Park Club. The building fund has been formed for the purpose of raising funds for the new wing which has to be built at once, as the old buildings in which the hospital is housed will not last much longer. The work should appeal to all who are interested in the mothers and babies of our poor people. The hospital does wonderful work among the poor, and thousands of lives of mothers and babies have been saved by the care and devotion of the staff since the foundation of the hospital in 1894. The committee has to raise £25,000 in three years if the work of the hospital is to continue, and it is for that reason they earnestly appeal to all who can to help the building fund.

Edith Warren, the fifteen year old girl, who had been missing from her home at Houselands road, Tonbridge, since Sunday, was found yesterday in Peckham, London.

Do you suffer from Headaches?

Most headaches are caused by defective eyes. Often the eyesight is good, but eye-strain results from a small optical defect which can be corrected by wearing suitable glasses supplied by a qualified optician.

Kindness to Animals.

Not very long ago I read that the canal banks provided a favourite exercising ground for dogs, and this statement I can safely corroborate; for no matter what the hour of the day, greyhounds, bulldogs, sealyhams, "poms.," etc., can be seen parading about under control.

The other day I was amused to see an elderly gentleman cross the road to the canal with his dog, a large stick in his hand and a towel on his arm. Watching him for some time, I saw him throw the stick into the water for the dog to fetch, and when he thought the dog had enough exercise, or he was tired, he called his pet out of the water, and carefully rubbed him almost dry with the towel. It is well worth anybody's while who has any kind of affection for dogs to take a walk along the canal banks, where dogs of all breeds thoroughly enjoy their freedom and the water. Indeed, an enormous, savage-looking brute, but in reality as quiet as a lamb, swims up and down all day long, quite willing to fetch any stick or ball thrown to him by a casual passer-by.

Motor Car Holidays.

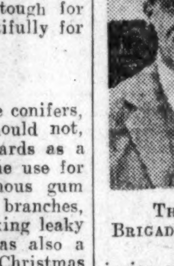

Chatting with a hotel proprietor in one of our seaside suburbs, I began to congratulate him upon the good weather and its effect upon his business, when he cut me short. He told me that the hotels near town were suffering much in the way that small shops in outlying country districts suffer from the use of motor cars. City dwellers, he said, go further afield by road, and, more often than not, even then spend but a night in any given spot, and push off on the morrow "to fresh woods and pastures new" to pic-nic in. I suggested that, at any rate, he benefited by chance custom. Not at all, he replied; people who come out for the day bring their food with them, and take it out of doors, but quite the largest number come out after their mid-day meal and consume nothing but air at the seaside. Paradoxically enough, his best friend was sudden rain. It is interesting to remark that something of this economic position was foretold by Mr. H. G. Wells in one of his earlier and more story-telling tales, "Mr. Polly." Its affect is irritatingly felt in Laytown and Bettystown, where traders told me that folk from Drogheda, who took bungalows there for the season, get their supplies by motor from the town, leaving little else but petty wants to be dealt with locally.

Poetic Licence!

I am glad to see in the current number of The Gramophone that Compton Mackenzie, the editor, attacks in vigorous style the mutilation of well-known poems to suit the whim of song producers. The case in point is Edgar Allan Poe's beautiful lyric, "Annabel Lee," which has been published under that name (with the mis-spelling of "Annabelle") without any mention of the author, except on the inside sheet, though the name of the musical composer appears in large letters on the cover. Two verses of the poem are omitted in the song, and four words are altered, and although the changes may appear trifling at first glance, to quote the editor, "it is the failure of musicians to appreciate the difference between a 'that' and a 'which,' a 'but' and a 'for,' which ruins 90 per cent. of the English lyrics set to music." Poe chose his words with a full sense of their value, and to tamper with a single one is to ruin the poetic intention of the lines.

Brigadier Malise Graham.

I was shocked, although not altogether surprised, to learn yesterday afternoon of the death of Brigadier Malise Graham, which occurred at the Elpis Private Hospital, in Dublin. I was in the jumping enclosure at Ballsbridge on Wednesday last when Brigadier Graham was injured, and actually was beside him when he was being placed in the ambulance. It was obvious even to the layman that the Brigadier's condition was very serious, and I was very much surprised to hear shortly afterwards an announcement being broadcast that his injuries were slight. From the very beginning Brigadier Graham's condition was extremely critical. Surgeon Pearson performed two major operations, but the skull fracture was complicated by infection caused by dirt on the horse's hoof, and, despite all efforts to save his life, meningitis set in on Tuesday morning. The late Brigadier had an exceedingly distinguished career in the Army. He was very well known in the Shires, where he hunted regularly for many years, and was an extremely fine horseman. His sad death will be mourned widely, and nowhere more than in Dublin, where his good sportsmanship already had made him highly popular.

THE LATE BRIGADIER GRAHAM.

The Longest Railway.

Since the war many great engineering works have been undertaken, not least amongst them our own Shannon Scheme, but it has been dwarfed into insignificance by a task which is now nearing completion—the making of the world's longest railway. When it is finished it will be possible to go by train from British Columbia to Cape Horn; for this railway traverses the two American Continents from north to south, and will not be less than 10,000 miles in length. A tunnel has been bored through the Andes, and a high level bridge will carry the line over the Panama Canal. The Canadian Pacific, hitherto one of the world's greatest railways, is a mere baby of 3,000 miles compared with this latest achievement, and the Cairo-Cape line, when completed, will not exceed 5,000 miles, so the great steel link between Canada and the Straits of Magellan will easily beat all existing records.

The Book of the Dun Cow.

I hear that the small edition printed of Lebor na Huidre, "The Book of the Dun Cow," as edited by Dr. R. I. Best and Dr. Osborn Bergin, is likely very speedily to be sold out to philologists working in different countries. This great work, which was described recently in a leading article in the Irish Times, occupied nearly twenty years of Dr. Best's leisure, but it did not exhaust his energies. Already, I understand, he has a facsimile reproduction of "The Annals of Innisfallen" well on the way towards the printing-presses. Ultimately, he says, he hopes to see students equipped with photographic facsimiles of all the greater codices, with carefully edited transcriptions, and, in the long run, critical texts.

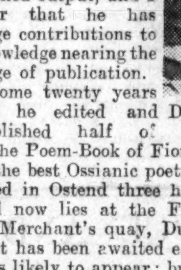

DR. R. I. BEST.

He quotes a saying of the late Dr. Kuno Meyer that only a bare beginning has been made in the study of old Irish literature, and that there is work for all who care to co-operate, if only in the compiling of lists and indexes. On the other hand, Dr. Best corrects the popular misconception that there are extensive works that have not been explored, save only in the bardic, historical poetry. The cream of the literature proper "has been well-skimmed."

From Dail to Study.

By the way, Dr. Best's edition of "The Annals of Innisfallen" will be accompanied, I gather, by a commentary from the pen of Dr. Eoin MacNeill. It may be expected confidently that fresh floods of light will be thrown on mediæval Irish history; for the subject is, above all, that in which Dr. MacNeill stands an unrivalled authority. Scholars hoped that, when he gave up active political life, he would increase his learned output, and I hear that he has large contributions to knowledge nearing the stage of publication.

DR. EOIN MACNEILL.

Some twenty years ago he edited and published half of "The Poem-Book of Fionn," a manuscript of the best Ossianic poetry which was compiled in Ostend three hundred years ago, and now lies at the Franciscan Library on Merchant's quay, Dublin. The second part has been awaited eagerly, and at last it is likely to appear; but I learn that the completion is being executed by Mr. Gerard Murphy, one of the most brilliant among the younger Irish historical scholars.

Magicians.

Magicians, their spells and mixtures, have been a favourite stock-in-trade of historical novelists and others. As a child, nothing in the Old Testament, I think, pleased me more than the machinations of Pharoah's medicine men, so adequately answered by Moses. In my days of discretion, my pet magician was the gentleman in the Ingoldsby Legends, who, begged by a disciple to raise the devil, goes through with due solemnity all the rites and incantations, and concludes by flinging in the frightened and expectant face of his pupil an empty purse. There is a deliciously astute magus in Scott's "Quentin Durward." Everyone will remember the "There is a God above us" scene, where the magician escapes murder by prophesying the death of Louis XI. twenty-four hours after his own decease. In "La Reine Margot," Dumas stages some eerie scenes in a magician's stronghold, whereby poor M. de la Mole gets into difficulties—the book, by the way, is hardly inferior to the "Three Musketeers." It is curious to realise the inter-mixture of superstition in really great minds. Even the crafty, cold-minded Catherine de Medici feared her sorcerers, though it was mostly upon their chemical knowledge of subtle poisons that she relied. In these days, alas, the minions of Merlin generally finish in front of a magistrate, and are lucky to get off with a fine. Sic transit gloria magi.

Europe's Tribute to America.

At a moment when the eyes of all the world are fixed upon the Hague, and upon Mr. Snowden's dramatic declaration that Britain can no longer afford to allow other nations to secure the greater part of Reparations payments, it may be of interest to glance at the sums which European nations must pay to the United States. Nine European nations are paying war debts to America, and each half-year the Treasury Department at Washington receives about £20,000,000 from these countries. One result of these payments is that the American Public Debt has been reduced by nearly twenty million pounds, the value of securities received from the British, Belgian, Finnish and Czecho-Slovakian Governments. No other country can show any reduction in its Public Debt.

The nine countries, with the amounts of the half-yearly payments which have to be made, are as follows:—

Great Britain	£18,840,000
Czecho-Slovakia	300,000
Belgium	250,000
Poland	250,000
Finland	36,692
Esthonia	20,000
Hungary	7,954
Lithuania	9,792
Latvia	8,000

The British Government seeks to secure from its creditors, and from German Reparations payments, just sufficient to cover its own payments to the United States. The trouble at The Hague is about payments already made by Britain.

Irishmen Abroad.

A correspondent writes: — With reference to your paragraph in the "Irishman's Dairy" of Friday last, on the subject of young Irishmen abroad, it may interest some of your readers to learn that another of Dublin's sons, Con Buckley, B.E. (N.U.I.), A.R.C.Sc.I., holds an important position in the Public Works Department, Kenya Colony. He has shared one of the Government residences in Mombasa with Dr. Dickson, of Blackrock, since their arrival in the Colony early last year. Incidentally, Dr. McElroy, whose name also occurs in your paragraph, is at present staying with them, on a visit from Uganda. Mr. Buckley's fiancée, Miss Molly Daly, M.Sc., who also is a graduate of the National University, is leaving Dublin this week for Mombasa, where their wedding is to take place early in September. Mr. Buckley is the eldest son of the Acting Director of the National Museum, Mr. J. J. Buckley, M.R.I.A.

The New Art Gallery.

Great interest is being taken in the new Art Gallery in Belfast, and the Libraries, Art and Museums Committee have considered the suggestion by Miss S. R. Praeger that an example of glass-work done by Miss Geddes, of London, and previously of Belfast, should be obtained for the new Art Gallery.

It has now been decided to ask Miss Geddes to make a window depicting "The Children of Lir." Lir, as everyone knows, was the Irish King who married the bold, bad Aoife on the death of his wife, and it was this Aoife who, out of spite, transformed into swans the children of Lir, including the beautiful Fionnuola. These swans were fated to haunt the waters until they heard the first Mass bell ringing.

Another gift has been made to the Gallery by the Viscountess Pirrie. She has presented one of the paintings of Mr. Gerald M. Burn, of Sussex, in memory of her brother, the late Right Hon. A. M. Carlisle. The painting is entitled "Shipyard," and shows vessels in the stocks, depicting a representative scene in a Belfast shipyard.

More Howlers.

Truly, the schoolboy is an enterprising person! Here are the latest triumphs of his scholastic brain:—

"The Soviet is what the middle-class call their napkin."

"A Denizen is an animal living in a jungle."

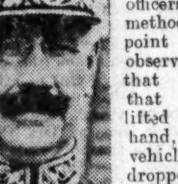

"Quadrupeds has no singular You cannot have a horse with one foot."

Tourist Propaganda.

A correspondent writes: — Visiting Harrogate recently, I was struck by the absence of any attempt to advertise the tourist attractions of Ireland. Except at the railway station, when some attention was drawn to the Heysham-Belfast route, there was no evidence of anything being done to bring occasional visitors from that fashionable inland watering place. A few people, when asked if they had ever been to Ireland, said they would like to see Killarney, but seemed to be under the impression that they must travel via Belfast. Dublin, to them, was an absolutely unknown city. In places like Harrogate, near which is the Yorkshire home of Princess Mary and Viscount Lascelles, something should be done by way of propaganda to make the Emerald Isle better known.

Parisian Canards.

Colonel Faralicq will, perhaps, forgive these two delicious, if apocryphal, canards. The first, the Parisian police, intrigued by the efficiency of London traffic regulation, despatched seven officers to study the method. Taken from point to point, they observed that all that occurred was that the constable lifted a white-gloved hand, and the vehicles stopped; dropped it and they resumed motion. Thrilled at the simplicity, and fired with emulatory enthusiasm, they returned to Paris, and immediately put the scheme into operation. The following day there were seven casualties in the police force of Paris. The pendant:—Several young Irishmen were on holiday in Paris; what won them entirely was the bold insouciance, the gay vitesse of the Parisian taxi-cab driver. They studied him carefully; observed his disregard of life and limb; his dash and abandon at curves and corners. Then they returned to Ireland and became omnibus drivers.

COLONEL FARALICQ.

Miss Madeleine Carroll.

Notable among the talented Irish women who have devoted themselves to the art of the films is Miss Madeleine Carroll, who has just returned from Nice, after taking part in the making of the film "L'instinct." Together with Irish, Miss Carroll has French blood in her veins; it is interesting, therefore, to note that her first chance on the "movies" occurred when she was selected from upwards of a hundred applicants to act in "The Guns of Loos," on the ground that she was typically English in figure and manner. She has, however, a distinctly Gallic vivacity and charm. Living in the English midlands, she took out a degree in Birmingham University, and it was from the class-rooms of Hove, where she was a schoolmistress, that she passed into Cinemaland. I understand that she is shortly to take up work in connection with the "talkies," and it is comforting to think that she will bring to them not only her visible attractiveness, but culture, and that perfection of English accent which seems only to be achieved by Irish tongues.

AMERICAN OFFICERS LEAVE DUBLIN.

The last of the foreign military horses competing at the International Military Jumping Competition at Ballsbridge left the showyard yesterday for the United States of America. The American officers concerned left Dublin last night.

Mr. Henry Fishwick, of Manningham, Bradford, was returning home after seeing the doctor yesterday when he collapsed and died. He was seventy-six years of age. His wife, who was seventy-nine, was so overcome on hearing the news that she died a few hours later.

THE CHARMS OF MYRTLE GROVE.

FETE IN AID OF ANCIENT CHURCH.

FROM OUR SPECIAL REPRESENTATIVE.
CORK, Wednesday.

The claim that a tour of the house and grounds of Myrtle Grove, Youghal, is in itself an education and a mental exercise in reviving recollections of Sir Walter Raleigh is not a biassed one. To-day, on the occasion of a fête in the grounds, which were kindly lent by Mrs. Arbuthnot, many people, including visitors to the beautiful seaside resort of Youghal, seized the opportunity to wander through the magnificent grounds and revel in their wealth of historical associations. One cannot but experience feelings of profound admiration for the ancient Tudor house, with its heavy oak panelling and thick walls, where for a time Sir Walter Raleigh, Edmund Spenser and other notable figures lived, moved and had their being. To sit at the oriel window where Sir Walter penned his letters to Queen Elizabeth, to smoke under the yew tree where Sir Walter committed a then criminal offence by smoking the fragrant weed, to wander through the room where Spenser read Raleigh's portion of the work that immortalised his memory — "The Faerie Queen" — is an itinerary not soon to be forgotten.

RALEIGH'S PIPE.

On all sides things of historical interest meet the eye. In a glass case, surrounded by other curios not necessarily connected with Sir Walter Raleigh, lies his pipe of brass, inlaid with pipe-clay, from which he drew inspiration for his works. The fireplace—a work of exquisite beauty—lends to the heavily panelled room an air of sombre dignity. Bearing weird gargoyles in numbers, deeply embossed, the fireplace rises to the full height of the room and has a hearth of the ancient open type. It is a work of art, such as rarely is found in any mansion to-day.

The house and grounds hold, and will hold for ever, memories that are imperishable. It is a place where antiquaries may find ample material for thought, as it is also a place where persons with no leaning towards things antique may reflect on the noble tastes of bygone days.

A WORTHY USE.

The house, with all its romantic interest, hardly could be used to better advantage than in serving to raise money for the repair of St. Mary's Church. The building has fallen into decay through the passing of the years.

In moving through the building and viewing its many interesting objects one feels that the very air is sacred. The atmosphere is damp. The massive rafters are safe, but no longer firm, and the walls seem to speak of the spacious, if perilous, days when Ireland turned to Christianity. No fixed architectural design is present in the building because of additions subsequent to its erection, but it is symbolic of the ages. The massive pulpit, with canopy in carved bog-oak, is said to have been carved in Youghal. Here again are found gargoyles, peculiarly associated with Ireland.

THE INVERTED CROSS.

The story of the inverted cross is one of world-wide fame, and in this ancient pile one finds the explanation. It is related that when Youghal was a corporate borough, under Charter, the Mayor used to attend the church in State, and when the Service was held the Mayoral sword was placed in this sword-rest, which, when upturned, represents the figure of the cross. It is said that once when in the rest, which still is to be seen in the church walls, the sword was stolen and was hidden for years. Later it came into the possession of the Duke of Devonshire, and it now forms part of a collection at Lismore Castle.

For three hundred years the Chancel of the church was without a roof, and was, in fact, cut off from the body of the church. In 1854, however, it was restored, and to-day it is an imposing part of the church.

It was pleasing to-day to see the hearty response to the appeal for funds to enable the restoration of this old church—a landmark in history—to be completed. The fête was opened formally by Lady Osborne Beauclerk.

Major Arbuthnot and the Rev. V. Darling, in short speeches, referred to the church's historical associations, and thanked the public for their generous response to the appeal.

The numerous stalls for the sale of farm produce, etc., were filled with eager purchasers, and business was brisk at the various side-shows.

RHODESIAN SCOUTS IN DUBLIN.

TOUR OF BRITISH ISLES AND CONTINENT.

A party of ten Boy Scouts from Southern Rhodesia, who attended the Jamboree at Birkenhead, came to Dublin yesterday as the guests of Boy Scouts from Dublin and Wicklow.

They arrived at Kingstown on the morning mail boat, and are in charge of Scoutmaster G. E. Stephens.

Cubmaster Hinchcliff, who met the visitors on their arrival, conducted them on a tour of the city and suburbs in the afternoon, visiting the Phœnix Park, the Bank of Ireland, and Guinness's Brewery.

In the evening they were met by Scouts from Dublin and Wicklow, in whose homes they are staying. Three of the visitors will be accommodated at Bray, one at Greystones, and the remainder in Dublin. Dressed in the Boy Scout uniform, with the arms of Rhodesia on the pocket, each Scout wears a deep band of zebra skin around his hat. They came from different parts of Rhodesia, some from places a thousand miles apart. On Saturday they leave for Belfast, where they intend to spend a few days. They will next go to Scotland for a week, and afterwards to the Continent for a fortnight's tour.

EXPLOSION IN A CINEMA.

Fourteen thousand feet of film exploded with a terrific report in the operating box of the Bijou Cinema, Hulme, Manchester, yesterday. The box was wrecked, but no one was injured. Only members of the staff were in the building.

Flames shot from the windows, but the Fire Brigade quickly extinguished them. Almost the whole of the current programme was destroyed.

DEATH OF WELL-KNOWN ACTOR.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
NEW YORK, Wednesday.

The death has occurred here of Cyril Keightley, an Australian actor, who was born in New South Wales on November 2nd, 1875. Mr. Keightley made his first appearance in London in 1902 in "Magda" at the Adelphi Theatre.

ROYAL DUBLIN SOCIETY.

NEW BUILDINGS IN HAND.

DIRECTOR'S REPLY TO COMPLAINTS.

As an Irish Times representative entered the headquarters of the Royal Dublin Society at Ballsbridge yesterday he heard the noise of hammers, and found that already a commencement had been made in the pulling down of what is known as the last remnant of old Ballsbridge. On this site it is intended by the next Spring Show to have erected a very fine, half-timbered, double-deck building, with boxes below for horses and a room above, 400 feet in length by 25 feet in width, which can be sub-divided into various apartments for the purpose of displaying poultry and dairy produce at the Spring Show and the art industries and extra floral exhibits at the Horse Show.

THE COMPLAINTS.

When his attention was drawn to letters in the Irish Times from Dr. Boyce and Miss A. F. Poole complaining of the supposed inadequate facilities afforded to members at the recent Horse Show, Mr. Bohane said that, apart from these, he had not heard a single complaint. Members in the majority, he said, realised that their subscription was not paid with the object of securing at least its return for privileges, but to support the Society, which is not a profit-sharing or State-aided institution, in its work.

The country member is so delighted with the work of the Society and the privileges granted to-day, said Mr. Bohane, that the list of candidates for election whenever vacancies occur must mean the election for some time to come of candidates from outside the ten miles radius of Ballsbridge, in accordance with the rule which prescribes that 70 per cent. of the newly elected members must come from outside the area mentioned.

Many applications from the city area must wait at least a further twelve months before there is any possibility of election. This in itself is testimony of the growng popularity of the Society from a national standpoint; for the Society embraces the whole of Ireland, and the representation on its principal Committees consist of men from each of the provinces, who willingly give their time and services gratuitously to enable the Society to attain its present high standard.

IN THE "DARK DAYS."

Mr. Bohane was interested to learn from the letters which have been published that certain old members had borne the brunt and burden of the day and had placed the Society in its present proud position. Mr. Bohane remarked that in those dark days—1921—now happily ended, when the most critical position in the Society's long history had to be faced, there were only, outside the Council and Committees, a very few members who came forward to give help, which was gratefully accepted, and on their part rendered yeoman service.

"Those members to-day," he said, "consider the facilities accorded for so small a subscription are over-generous, and have even suggested the possibility of raising the subscription. Members' advantages to-day are out of all proportion to those in operation in what some wish to still designate as the 'good old days.'" To any increase in subscription Mr. Bohane has rigidly objected, having agreed with certain reformers, when it was necessary to revise the by-laws, that no increase should be made.

Dr. Boyce and Miss Poole, he felt, must be reminded that in the necessary reconstruction of the Society in that difficult period attention was drawn to what was considered a waste of money in providing such amenities for members, which were only possible through the results of the Horse Show in particular. It was deliberately pointed out then that what was gained financially by agriculture should be spent in furthering the country's best interests.

THE ANNUAL SUBSCRIPTION.

These assertions were confirmed by Mr. Bohane having to face a bank overdraft of £10,000 when taking up office in 1919, due to expenditure on the amenities side, principally during the Great War, when members should have gladly submitted to support the Society's work rather than expect privileges in return, which brings membership of such an institution more into the category of a club.

Mr. Bohane believed that membership of the Royal Dublin Society should be viewed in the light of national service and pride in being able to support the work of such an institution, whose privileges for the nominal subscription of £2 2s. per annum, not 1½d. per day, were unequalled in the wide world, and whose work was generally acknowledged and supported, not only by the vast majority of members, but by everyone who had the welfare of Ireland at heart.

The Council and committees, he added, are determined that the present policy should continue—viz., that any profits derived from the Society's Show undertakings should be spent in furthering the agricultural and stock-breeding pursuits of the country, and also the furtherance of industry, science and art. Members who disagree have in their hands the remedy by electing others to the management bodies, but Mr. Bohane emphasised that in his services to the Royal Dublin Society he would wholeheartedly continue to support the present policy, having had to face, during the period referred to, a crisis brought about by the action of some old members, which threatened the very existence of the Royal Dublin Society. He knew only too well that whilst the definition of commercialism had been carpingly applied, it was the sheet anchor to which the old ship could be moored with any feeling of safety and security.

It required fifty per cent. more than the subscription to maintain privileges of membership, and any further limitation of earning capacity would be a serious matter, said Mr. Bohane.

THE ANGLESEA STAND.

The Anglesea Stand had cost £35,000, and seats on it are actually let at 10s. for the season, or 2s. 6d. per day; while members have the advantage of booking seats on the grand stand prior to the list being opened to the public, at a reduction of 20 per cent. on ordinary charges.

There are now, he said, 500 candidates for membership on the waiting list, and the percentage of withdrawals from death and other causes has been reduced from eight to three per cent.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

THE BANK RATE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—The correspondence taking place in your columns under the above heading raises points on which it is evident that only the banks themselves, who are conversant with the facts, are competent to judge, and I leave it to your readers to say whether it should be customary for or binding on financial institutions to state the reasons for the charges that they make to their customers any more than it is the rule for business firms or producers to do so. A single aspect of the banks' credit policy, such as the rates charged for advances, cannot be separated from their large and diversified business as a whole, nor is it reasonable to condemn or justify bank charges in detail by reference to conditions existing in another country.

The problems confronting Irish banks are in many respects dissimilar to those of the English institutions. Their deposits are mainly agricultural in character, and are subject to sharp fluctuations in accordance with the state of harvests and prices of agricultural produce and live-stock. They have neither the stability nor volume of the great industrial deposits of the English banking system. The larger portion of Irish advances, moreover, are based on securities relating to land, such as mortgages, title deeds and the several guarantees of the farming community, a type of advance which gives a small rate of turnover, while the security is often difficult to realise. In the English system, on the other hand, the mass of secured loans is made to industry, and is practically self-liquidating, the turnover being rapid. Such considerations must influence the banks in relation to their general scale of loan charges. Not being so favourably placed as the English institutions for the granting of loan facilities at low rates, it seems inequitable to the Irish banks that a rigid comparison should be insisted upon.

One obstacle the Irish banks have had to contend with is the difficulty of recovering loans tied up in depreciated land—in a number of cases such loans have been wilfully repudiated by the debtors, resulting in a large mass of "frozen credit" in the hands of the banks. The success with which such difficulties have, on the whole, been surmounted, and a strong position established through conservative management of the banks' affairs, is largely responsible for the high level of credit now enjoyed by the Free State and the gradually improving outlook for trade.

Mr. E. W. Digby, in his letter, asserts that I fell into a "logical pitfall" in misconstruing the sense in which he used the words "extra profits," but I could retort that he himself is guilty of a logical "inversion" in quoting the relative profit derived from a particular branch of banking activity instead of net profits from the banks' business as a whole. If he wishes to insist on taking the English rates for comparison, I might point out that such "profit" may exist merely as a consequence of relative "loss" being incurred in other directions.

I would like to correct an impression given by a passage in Mr. J. Francis Barry's letter (where he refers to "the Bankers' Committee and their editor, Mr. Eaton") that I write in any official capacity. The publication of which I am editor is the organ of the Institute of Bankers in Ireland, an educational body not having any direct or official connection with the bank managements.—Yours, etc.,

INCOME TAX METHODS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—The two cases of which I append particulars appear worth the attention of the Revenue authorities. As public officials should not be criticised anonymously I sign my name to this letter. The £1 4s. demanded refers to a small trust account for which I am liable.

Last year a demand was made on me for payment of £1 8s. 6d., alleged to be due for the year 1921-22, with the usual threat of proceedings. To this I replied that the amount demanded had been paid. I was asked for proof, but, knowing the chaotic state of the income tax records, I declined to part with my proof, but offered to produce this for inspection in my office. An official from the inspector's office was sent to examine the proof, and I got from him a signed statement that he had seen the paid cheque, endorsed by the collectors. This statement is now in my possession.

Yesterday I received a threat of immediate proceedings failing payment within three days of a claim for £1 4s. But I have from the Inspector of Taxes a signed statement, dated 2nd July—that is, over six weeks ago, that he has certified to the Revenue authorities that a repayment is due to me of £3 3s. 10d.

Is the Irish Revenue in such dire straits that it has to withhold payment of a small sum, certified to be due by its own official, for over six weeks, which is still due to me and unpaid, and at the same time to resort to threats in the attempt to recover payment of a very much smaller sum due to the Revenue?—Yours, etc.,

IRISH BLOODSTOCK.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—An interesting letter from Captain Daly with regard to horse-breeding appeared in your issue of the 13th instant. From personal experience I am of opinion that Captain Daly's advice requires some modification, especially in connection with hunter-breeding. Hunter-breeding is, on the whole, less profitable than racer-breeding. Apart from the sire's fee, the keep of the young blood-hunter is almost as expensive as the thoroughbred for racing. The latter has a fair chance of being disposed of as a yearling; the hunter colt, if it is to realise anything fair, must be kept and trained until it is four or five years old. Prize-winners and highly commended hunters, four years old and upwards, at the Royal Dublin Society have been sold from £80 to £120. Occasionally an aged hunter with an outstanding hunting record has made £200 or £300.

These are the exception, and have only made these prices when they became the property of dealers, who put the finishing touches on them. Generally and proportionately, as many hunters go unsold as racing yearlings. Only for the unjustifiably high fees charged recently for young sires which have yet to make their stud reputations, and which, though well bred, had very moderate racing careers, there is a better chance to make the breeding of thoroughbred yearlings something more profitable than hunter-breeding. It is the small-priced yearling; Tipperary Tim, etc., of the farmer breeder, which has, for the greater part, made the name for Irish bloodstock. It is better, however, that it should be clearly realised that there is for the average horse-breeder in Ireland little or no profit. More frequently it is bankruptcy. There are several millions sterling realised from Irish fowl and eggs more than from horse-breeding; but the former industry is not so attractive to many people as horse-breeding.—Yours, etc.,

FIVEMILETOWN'S "CLEAN SHEET."

The strong remarks about drunkenness in Fivemiletown uttered by Major-General Montgomery, C.B., C.M.G., at the July Court in Fivemiletown have had their effect. He spoke then of the number of cases as "disgusting," and said that drunkenness was getting worse in Fivemiletown.

At the monthly Court on Wednesday there was not one case of drunkenness, although the period included the 12th July and 12th August. This was the first occasion in ten years that there was a clean sheet.

PREPARING FOR THE GREAT ULSTER MOTOR RACE.

THRILLING INCIDENTS AT OFFICIAL PRACTICE.

BRILLIANT CORNERING BY IVANOVSKY.

As Saturday approaches—the day of the Royal Automobile Club's Tourist Trophy race over the Ards circuit, near Belfast—interest in the great event grows. Englan', Germany, the United States, France, Italy and Austria have entered cars, and on this occasion, despite the keen competition for premier honours, it is thought that England stands a good chance of victory.

The first official practice took place yesterday, and during the two hours that the cars roared over the course spectators were given a foretaste of the thrilling and spectacular tussle for supremacy that will take place on Saturday.

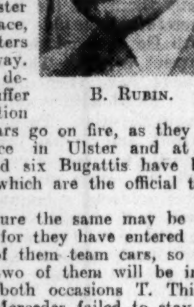

Yesterday, T. Thistlethwayte, who scorned both goggles and crash helmet, did the fastest lap, and attained a speed of 120 miles per hour on some of the straight stretches; while the brilliant cornering of Ivanovsky, the hero of the Phœnix Park races, was a feature of the trials, which were marked by many thrilling incidents.

Mr. K. Lee Guinness, control officer, will use on Saturday a twelve cylinder Sunbeam—one of the fastest cars in the world, in which Sir Henry Segrave and Mr. Kaye Don already have set up "records."

THE ENTRIES.

BRITAIN'S BID FOR PREMIER HONOURS.

At the Phœnix Park last month, on both days, the races developed into a "duel" between the British and Italian entrants. Things will be very different on the Ards circuit; for the French and Germans have learned their lesson at the Phœnix Park, and they are entering strong teams instead of individuals competitors

B. RUBIN.

If the Italians repeat their victory with their Alfa-Romeos, it will be a worthy one; but it must be remembered that the opposition from three other nations is very strong. Nor are the Lea-Francis cars, which swept the board at last year's Ulster Tourist Trophy race, likely to have matters all their own way. The French are determined not to suffer again the humiliation of having their cars go on fire, as they did in last year's race in Ulster and at the Phœnix Park, and six Bugattis have been entered, four of which are the official team cars.

In similar measure the same may be said of the Germans; for they have entered four Mercedes, three of them team cars, so that at least one or two of them will be in at the finish. On both occasions T. Thistlethwayte's giant Mercedes failed to stay the course because of gasket trouble.

The following table gives the cars entered by the different countries:—

ENGLAND.

Bentley	Lagonda
Alvis	Austin
Lea-Francis	Triumph
Riley	Aston-Martin
Arrol-Aster	Frazer-Nash

Number of cars entered—40.

FRANCE.

Bugatti	Amilcar
S.A.R.A.	Lombard

Number of cars entered—11.

ITALY.

Alfa-Romeo	O.M.

GERMANY.

Mercedes-Benz

Number of cars entered—4.

UNITED STATES.

Ford	Stutz

Number of cars entered—2.

AUSTRIA.

Austro-Daimler

Number of cars entered—1.

BID FOR HONOURS.

It will thus be seen that the British bid for honours is the strongest point of view of the number of cars entered and the diversity of their makes and types.

The giant Mercedes cars, because of their very great speed, and because of the fact that Thistlethwayte's Mercedes did the fastest lapping in last year's race, cannot be ignored. They are just a shade faster than the British Bentleys, and these same Bentleys, it is thought, might have won the second day's race in the Phœnix Park if the signal to go faster had been given a few laps sooner than it was. Ivanovsky could not have got any greater speed more out of his Alfa-Romeo.

On the other hand, the British Bentleys might turn the tables over a course and in a race that is eminently more suited to their cars. Then, again, the Lea Francis team must not be forgotten. They have improved their cars considerably since last year, and even since last month at the Phœnix Park.

THE RILEYS.

One cannot forget the challenge likely to be put up by the Rileys, and C. R. Whitcroft's Riley is by far the fastest of the cars of that make entered for the race. She has a particularly fine turn of speed, and is extremely good on the road; also her driver, Whitcroft, is a steady and konwledgeable racing driver.

S. C. H. DAVIS.

With six Bugattis in the race, due cognisance must be taken of their capabilities. In addition to being very fast, they have a good handicap and skilful drivers to pilot them.

It is anybody's race until the winner actually crosses the post.

THRILLS FOR THE CROWD.

THE FIRST OFFICIAL PRACTICE.

The first official practice was held yesterday. Thistlethwayte, driving a Mercedes-Bentz car, had the distinction of doing the fastest lap. His best time for the 13 2-3 mile circuit was 10 minutes 58 seconds, or approximately 75 miles per hour. He touched 120 miles per hour on some of the straight stretches.

Huge crowds lined the course, and many of them took up their positions at an early hour in the morning to get a good view of the trials. The scene at the grand stand was a never-ending source of interest, and the movements of the notable drivers were eagerly watched.

Earl Howe, Kaye Don, Ivanovsky, T. Thistlethwayte, Diro, Mottett, Birkin were the centre of interest for a crowd of women autograph hunters and boy hero-worshippers. School boys, indeed, were particularly keen in getting into touch with the various drivers, all of whom displayed remarkable patience and good humour in complying with the requests for autographs.

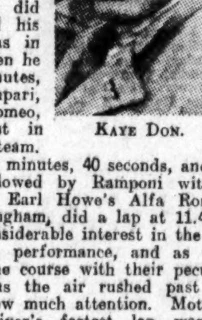

DRIVING "FASHIONS."

Many remarkable driving "fashions" were observed. Ivanovsky wore horn-rimmed spectacles, and had a red and white jacket. Earl Howe wore a special face-screen, which was not unlike a driver's helmet. Thistlethwayte dashed round the course with his sleeves up, and scorned both goggles and crash helmet.

Almost all the cars were out, and the larger machines, like the Bentleys, Mercedes, and Arrol-Astors, were placed at the end of the line. Tuning-up operations took some time, and provided a medley of sound which was music to the speed enthusiasts. The cars "ticked over" for ten minutes, and were then sent off singly. Before long many of them were again flashing past the grand stand, having completed the circuit in about twelve minutes. From the official times it appeared that Frazer Nash had the fastest lap of any driver of the small Austin Cars. His best time for the 13⅔ miles was 14 minutes, 7 seconds. Barnes, Austin, was next, 14 minutes, 19 seconds. V. E. Horsman had the best time of the two Triumphs—viz., 15 minutes, 14 seconds. B. Lewis had the fastest lap of the Riley team, 12 minutes, 46 seconds, and his next lap was 12.47. Whitcroft's Riley did a lap in 13.27. Cyril Paul, in an Alvis, did a lap at 11 minutes, 43 seconds.

LAP TIMES

Kaye Don, the winner of last year's event, only did one lap in his Lea Francis, his time being 11 minutes, 46 seconds. He also drove in Newsome's Lea Francis, which attained a speed of 11 minutes, 31 seconds. Shaw, also of the Lea Francis team, did a lap in 11.26.

KAYE DON.

Ivanovsky, the winner in Dublin, kept his Alfa Romeo in check. He did seven laps, and his fastest time was in the last lap, when he reached 13 minutes, 46 seconds. Campari, in an Alfa Romeo, was the fastest in the official team. His time was 11 minutes, 40 seconds, and he was closely followed by Ramponi with a speed of 11.49. Earl Howe's Alfa Romeo, driven by Callingham, did a lap at 11.49.

There was considerable interest in the air-cooled S.A.R.A. performance, and as they dashed round the course with their peculiar singing noise, as the air rushed past the engine, they drew much attention. Mottett, the French driver's fastest lap was 14 minutes, 59 seconds.

Earl Howe, in his Bugatti, covered the course at 11.46 in one lap. He had a poor first lap, and at the end of it stopped to make some minor adjustments.

Divo, driving a Bugatti, took matters quietly. His best time was 11 minutes, 50 seconds. His chances of winning on Saturday are being favourably commented upon in Belfast. Count Conelli, also on a Bugatti, did a lap in 11 minutes, 41 seconds, and several others almost as fast. Hall, on an Arrol-Aster, had the fastest time of the two cars of this make entered. He did a lap at 11 minutes, 53 seconds. Birkin, on a Bentley, did a lap at 11.40, and the first at 11.55.

BELFAST'S COMPETITOR.

There was considerable interest in the performance of J. W. Shaw by his Belfast friends and admirers. He drove a Lea Francis, and his best time was a lap at 11 minutes 26 seconds.

Watney on a Stutz did a lap at 12 minutes 56 seconds, which was the best time of the three laps which he covered.

Lieutenant-Commander Kidston, driving Captain Woolf Barnato's Bentley, did a lap at 11 minutes 15 seconds. The Mercedes Benz all had very good times. A. B. Maconochie did a lap at 12 minutes 2 seconds, Merz one at 11 minutes 21 seconds, and Carraciola one at 11 minutes 10 seconds. The brilliant cornering of Ivanovsky was a notable feature, and was much admired by the crowd. Lugen Salzer, a spare driver to the Mercedes team, crashed at Comber, smashing one of his back wheels and carrying off a spare wheel. The driver fortunately escaped injury, although the car was badly damaged.

GLEN KIDSTON.

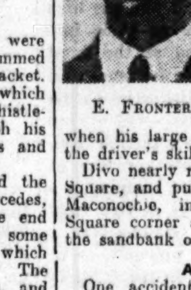

J. F. Field (Bugatti) provided the crowd at Quarry Corner with a series of thrills. On one of his laps he skidded, and the car swerved over the road. Finally the back end struck the ditch, but he handled the car well and was soon away again.

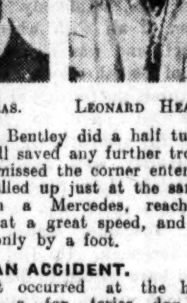

Mr. K. Lee Guinness, control officer, in opening and closing the road on Saturday, will use one of the fastest cars in the world. This is a twelve-cylinder Sunbeam, which has been sent over specially by the Sunbeam Company for the use of Mr. Guinness. Both Sir Henry Segrave and Mr. Kaye Don have driven the car, which is now in Belfast. At Southport the Sunbeam was driven by Sir Henry at a speed of 152 miles per hour over a distance of a mile from a flying start. At Brooklands Mr. Kaye Don has made many new world's "records" with the car.

THRILLS.

There were a number of thrills at Conway Square corner, Newtownards. Canaciola, in a Mercedes, had a very bad wobble, while Marioni, with his Alfa Romeo, also experienced some difficulty in getting his car put right when it got into a wobble at the Square. The first time Wilkinson, with his O.M., passed the Town Hall petrol was oozing from a pipe, but in the next round the defect had evidently been remedied. Field's Bugatti also swerved ominously, and Marioni discovered that he must be very careful taking the Town Hall corner, where a wobble in his Riley was next to provide the spectators with a great thrill, his car turning completely round, but he soon had it heading towards Comber.

Captain Woolf Barnato learned something of the dangers of the Conway Square corner

E. FRONTERAS.

LEONARD HEADLAM.

when his large Bentley did a half turn, but the driver's skill saved any further trouble.

Divo nearly missed the corner entering the Square, and pulled up just at the sandbank. Maconochie, in a Mercedes, reached the Square corner at a great speed, and missed the sandbank only by a foot.

AN ACCIDENT.

One accident occurred at the head of Church street, a fox trrier dog which wandered on to the road being struck by one of the racers and immediately killed.

Shortly before the close of the practice Watney, in his Stutz, left the course at the Newtownards square. Earl Howe was evidently not pleased with the conduct of his Bugatti. The first time he reached Newtownards the engine seemed to be missing, and he pulled up and effected some repairs.

WOMEN'S PART IN THE RACE.

A CONTROVERSY.

A controversy has arisen with regard to women taking part in the race by assisting in the pits. It appears that under the rules only three males are allowed in each pit. Mrs. Stiles, wife of the British Concessionaire of the Alfa Romeo cars, who has on many occasions assisted the Alfa Romeo teams, stated yesterday that her husband some time ago wrote to the Royal Automobile Club informing them that there would be two official women attendants at the Alfa-Romeo pits, and up to yesterday he had not been notified that they would not be allowed to work at the pits.

Mrs. Stiles said that the other woman attendant would be Mrs. D. Clayton, of Brighton, who would time the members of the team, along with Mr. Clayton.

"There would be only one other male attendant at our pits," Mrs. Stiles declared, "and he will act as interpreter to our Italian drivers. Mrs. Clayton is an expert time-keeper, and acted for us at the six hours' race."

Yesterday at the German pits a woman was busily engaged timing the members of the official Mercedes team.

An official of the Royal Automobile Club with whom our Correspondent discussed the matter yesterday said that rules have been laid down for all the competitors, and on the day of the race officials, who have been appointed, will see that all the rules, not only in regard to this matter, but all matters in relation to the race, are observed.

CHARGE AGAINST LORD HOWARD OF EFFINGHAM

BOUND OVER TO KEEP THE PEACE.

At Bow street, London, yesterday, Lord Howard of Effingham, and Ernest Miller, labourer, of London, were each bound over in their own recognisances of forty shillings to keep the peace for twelve months on charges of insulting behaviour. At first Lord Howard pleaded not guilty, but when the police asked for an adjournment he said he, Howard, had better plead guilty, as he had to go back to his work. A constable stated that early yesterday he saw a crowd outside the Forty Three Club. Howard was running after a woman, and twisted her arm; Miller was shouting. Lord Howard said that when he left the club with friends a woman tried to prevent him from getting into his car. A crowd collected, and his party was attacked. He knocked down two persons, and believed he hit Miller. He himself was struck on the head, and fell down.

MURDER OF A LANCE-CORPORAL.

PRIVATE SOLDIER EXECUTED.

Arthur Leslie Raveney, a private in the Royal Tank Corps, was hanged yesterday at Armley Prison, Leeds, for the murder of Lance-Corporal White, who was escorting him to Catterick Camp. About thirty persons—the majority of whom were women —gathered outside the prison to await the execution. Pierpont was the executioner. During the night Raveney read two works of fiction which had been supplied from the prison library at his request. He went firmly to the scaffold.

At the inquest it was stated that the execution had been expeditiously carried out.

A SMART-LOOKING YACHT.

There arrived in Kingstown Harbour last evening a very smart schooner-rigged yacht, with her very tall masts set at a rakish-looking angle. She is a most striking-looking craft, and flies the American flag. The Irish Times representative was informed that she is owned by Mr. W. M. Tomkins, of the New York Yacht Club, and her register is 80 tons.

THE LATE CANON KEVILLE.

The remains of the Very Rev. Canon Keville, P.P., V.F., Drumlish, were interred last Tuesday, after High Mass in St. Mary's Church, Longford. The attendance of clergy and people was extremely large, the spacious church being thronged and the precincts being filled by mourners.

The Most Rev. Dr. McNamee, Bishop of Ardagh and Clonmacnoise, presided at the High Mass. The assistants to the bishop were the Ven. Archdeacon O'Reilly, P.P., V.F., Carrick-on-Shannon, and the Very Rev. Canon McCabe, P.P., Drumshambo; celebrant, the Rev. F. Reynolds, C.C., Ballinahoun; deacon, the Rev. B. Keville, C.C., Killoe; sub-deacon, the Rev. A. Flynn, C.C., Drumlish; master of ceremonies, the Rev. P. Gray, Adm., Longford.

An omnibus owner who was prosecuted at Londonderry Petty Sessions failed to produce his licence. The Clerk said that he was tired telling offending motor owners that they should produce their licences in court, as it was a statutory obligation. They apparently refrained from doing so to avoid endorsement. District Inspector Dobbin said that he would prosecute the defendant for failing to bring his licence to court.

BRAY FLOWER SHOW.

FINE DISPLAY OF BLOOMS.

The Bray and District Horticultural Society held their annual Show yesterday at Arcadia, Bray. There was a fine display of blooms in the dance hall of Arcadia and in the marquees. The setting was most appropriate, the ornamentation of Arcadia enhancing the charming riot of colour throughout the room, while the bright music of an effective little band added to the pleasure of beauty in form and colour tones. Four handsome cups and a gold medal were the principal awards. Mrs A. West, of Kilcroney, Bray, won the Powerscourt Cup for sweet pea. The cup presented by Mr. Gun O'Mahoney, T.D., went to Captain L. Riall for a fine show of herbaceous flowers. He also carried off the Ardee Cup for hardy cut flowers. The Mackey Cup for vegetables was won by Mrs. Toone, Castle Park, Dalkey. The gold medal was awarded Messrs. William Watson and Sons, Ltd., Killiney. Their excellent exhibit was mainly of hybrid tea roses. Some features were the "Desmond Johnston," the "Comtesse de Castillega," and the "Golden Salmon" dwarf polyantha rose.

The Bray Horticultural Society's Show is not the biggest in Ireland, but it always enjoys marks of excellence entirely its own. The freshness of all exhibits is a great delight to visitors. The sweet peas were very striking. In the opinion of the judges, the sweet pea shown at Bray was the best display they had seen in Ireland. The hardy cut flowers and roses, too, were very good; better in many cases than were shown at Dublin. The roses were very fresh.

There was keen competition in the vegetable classes, and also in the fruit.

CORK NURSE FOR WEXFORD HOSPITAL

When the Wexford County Health Board was informed by letter from the Local Government Department that the Local Appointments Commissioners had recommended Miss Mary B. Leary, Douglas road, Cork, for appointment as midwife in the County Hospital at Wexford, Miss N. O'Ryan said that it was two years since they asked to have the appointment made.

The Secretary said that they asked several times, but there were no applications.

Miss O'Ryan—Probably you were waiting for a person from Cork.

BELFAST ROSE SHOW

OPENED BY COUNTESS CLANWILLIAM.

The Countess Clanwilliam opened to-day, in the Ulster Hall, Belfast, a two days' Rose Show, promoted by the Ulster Horticultural Society. There was a large attendance of supporters of the Society, and they were all greatly pleased with the beauty of the exhibits.

The floral parts of the display, particularly the combined roses and sweet pea exhibits, showed a remarkable standard of perfection, while the fruit exhibits were well above the high average quality seen at this show.

The Lord Mayor (Sir William Coates, Bart.) said, as President of the Society, he was glad to have an opportunity of attending the show and presiding at that opening ceremony. They all knew that the present Ulster Horticultural Society, successor to the old Ulster Horticultural Society, which flourished in the seventies and eighties of the past century, had been well maintained, enhancing the reputation of the former organisation.

He congratulated the Committee most heartily on the success that had crowned their efforts, and he would like to say that it was a delight to him to see his old friend, Mr. Thomas Paul, hale and healthy and still associated with an organisation for which he had so long laboured late and early.

MESSRS. GANLY'S SHEEP SALE.

At the opening auction of their 70th annual autumn sheep sales, in the Dublin Cattle Market yesterday, upwards of about 2,800 sheep and lambs were offered, and, with a large and representative attendance, a brisk business was done at satisfactory prices. Some of the principal flocks in the country were represented, and prices ranged up to 65/- per head. This figure was realised for useful Galway ewes consigned from Sir Thomas Stafford, Bart., while crossbred ewes from Mr. F. Conway brought 66/-. A grand draft of 120 choice Suffolk ewe and wether lambs from the favoured flock of the Marquis of Waterford were much admired and realised the following prices:—46/- to 40/-. Roscommon ewes made 62/- to 57/-; Galway ewes 60/- to 52/-; Cheviot and Wicklow mountain ewes 60/- to 50/-; horny ewes 30/- to 27/-; lambs 40/-; Galway wethers 50/-. Messrs. Ganly's next auction will be held on Wednesday, 21st August, at which 120 Suffolk cross lambs (mixed genders) and 50 grey-face ewes from the Marquis of Waterford will be offered for sale.

Last Monday evening a young man, named Murphy, belonging to Hilltown district, near Rathfriland, fell down a shaft at the Silent Valley, and died in the Kilkeel Hospital yesterday morning.

ARE YOU BEING POISONED?

Poisoned by incomplete elimination!

Constipated? No, you will say indignantly. But does your mirror say no, too? Does it perhaps show you a muddy skin, eyes tinged with yellow, a coated tongue? If so, nature is warning you that you are suffering from incomplete elimination. Your system is not entirely ridding itself of its daily waste. There is a residue of decay poisoning your bloodstream, making you old before your time. Beware of constipation—and particularly unsuspected constipation. A glass of Eno's "Fruit Salt" every morning gently dismisses the waste toxins from your system before they have had time to be absorbed into your blood. Eno is a sparkling saline drink, pleasant to take, and natural and complete in its action. It has been prescribed by doctors for sixty years as the one safe and simple preventive of constipation.

ENO'S "FRUIT SALT"

Eno costs 1/6 and (double quantity) 2/6. The words ENO and "Fruit Salt" are registered trade marks.

Spanish Politics.

It does not seem to be likely that the Marques de Estella's invitation to former Prime Ministers to participate in the debates of the National Consultative Assembly on the new draft Constitution will be accepted. According to the Special Correspondent of The Times, only Count Romanones entertained the idea for a moment; but as soon as he heard that the minutes of the debates were to be subject to censorship he decided to take no part in the proceedings. To understand the present position in Spain it is necessary to follow the steps by which the existing state of affairs has emerged from the Constitution of March 27th, 1876. This Constitution enacted that Spain should be a constitutional monarchy, and that the executive should remain with the Crown, while the legislative power should be vested in "the Cortes with the King." The Cortes consisted of Congress and of a Senate, which was composed of three classes, Senators in their own right—to wit, princes of the blood and grandees—Senators nominated by the Crown, and Senators elected by the chief Corporations of the State. At first sight this Constitution might have appeared to foreshadow an era of enlightened liberalism in a country which for generations had lain in a slough of apathy. In practice, however, it was unsatisfactory for various reasons. The illiteracy of the peasants and the power of the landlords stifled any possible growth of intelligent democracy, and the way lay open for the corrupt politician. Cabinet followed Cabinet with distressing frequency, and badly made laws were ill-administered. At last the general dissatisfaction, intensified by the Moroccan disasters of 1921, inspired the Army to action, and a military dictatorship, under the Marques de Estella, was established by Royal decree.

Two years later a desire to give a more pleasing complexion to what, in fact, was military rule induced the Marques de Estella, with the concurrence of the King, to announce a return to a civil Cabinet of Ministers. All the portfolios which had been abolished in 1923—only those for War and Foreign Affairs had been allowed to survive—were restored, but the trifling difference will be realised from the fact that ministerial decrees still had the force of law. In 1927 the Cortes which had been dissolved by the coup d'état, were replaced by a consultative National Assembly consisting of three hundred and seventy-five members, who were chosen by various bodies, such as the municipalities and the Patriotic Union. Although wholly undemocratic, the Marques de Estella's régime can claim to be a distinct improvement on the theoretically more liberal government that obtained before 1923. Indeed, the dictum of King Alfonso that the Government had interfered with the liberty of the politician only to ensure the freedom of the citizen is by no means extravagant. We hear on all sides from foreigners who lately have lived under the Spanish flag that there is little restraint on the individual's freedom. Unfortunately, however, the politically-minded few in all countries ever have preferred the simulacrum of liberty to the substance. Military revolts, engineered by officers who nurtured some grievance, and demonstrations by certain sections of the industrial classes have moved the Government to propose this further amplification of the Constitution. The new Draft will enlarge the Assembly by forty-nine additional seats, which are to be filled by leading statesmen of the old régime and representatives of the academic, professional and labour organisations.

In these circumstances, therefore, the refusal of the former Prime Ministers to co-operate, and the action of the General Union of Workers, by which its members are forbidden to occupy the newly-created seats, must be regarded as being very short-sighted. The Constitution of 1876 still officially exists, and only is suspended by the present régime. When the Directory took office, the Marques de Estella announced that his programme of reform would occupy seven years, and the new Draft would appear to be the first step in a prudent transition. It is understood that the Marques de Estella hopes that next July will see the end of the discussions of the Draft, and that, three months later, the Assembly, having drawn up the final text, will dissolve. This text, if ratified by a plébiscite, is intended to be the basis of the new laws, under which elections, municipal, provincial, and general, will be held, whereupon the Cortes will re-assemble and take over the Government from the Directory. The complaint, therefore, of the Socialists that while other nations are tending to "democratise" their constitutions, Spain alone is adopting an Eastern absolutism seems to be exaggerated. There can be little doubt that the repercussions of the war have necessitated dictatorships in many countries, particularly where the culture is Latin or Slavonic. In spite of the apparent difference between them, Lenin, Mussolini and de Estella belong to the same school. National chaos from time to time demands a tightening-up of the reins of Government, which only can be accomplished by a strong man. After a time, when the wheels have been oiled by an autocrat, the machine is ready again for democratic control.

Beauty in Peril.

The Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings has issued its fifty-second annual report. Members of the Society now number over 1,000, and the times give them cause enough to combine and to toil most earnestly. On every hand decay, neglect, wanton injury and inevitable reconstruction threaten the fabric of England's material beauty; and no longer is it sufficient to labour for the preservation of threatened cathedrals or palaces. To-day there is not a village in the land which is not in danger of desecration. The woods, the hedgerows, the old-world bridges are imperilled, and eyesores are planted in the midst of the loveliest of rural scenes. In this year's report the Society is constrained to point out that the beauty and seemliness of the country depend as much on the very simple buildings—walls and sheds, field-gates and culvert bridges—as on notable works of architecture. This truth is illustrated by the example of an Oxford architect's recent service to a village in his home county. This lover of public dignity found a builder at work in the re-pointing of a stretch of boundary wall with black cement mortar. A network of black ribbons was beginning to appear upon the face of the structure. The architect approached the builder and made recommendations, which were accepted, with the result that the grey walling was repaired with white or yellow mortar like the old. An example of the injury to old views that may follow from the lack of power to control private whim in its present extravagances is found in the case of the Martello towers. These buildings stand at frequent intervals along the South Coast. At Pevensey, in particular, there is a picturesque chain of Martello towers that remains in the memory of all visitors to that neighbourhood. The towers are private property. Commonly they are used as holiday quarters by city dwellers. They are wholly at the mercy of private caprice, and no powers exist to check their destruction or disfigurement. At present, unless a building is of first-rate importance, uninhabited and of great age, there is no legal authority which can prevent its obliteration. The Society asks, therefore, what it can do in face of an owner who chooses to destroy such a building as a Martello tower, which is valued by a great number of Englishmen. In Ireland, destruction such as the English society laments proceeds unchecked and, what is even worse, without protest. Old castles are quarried for stones wherewith to build barns, and cairns of immemorial antiquity have been pillaged with equal impiety. City Commissioners, holding office from the State, permit the disfigurement of Dublin's main streets. Is it small wonder that garish petrol-filling stations spring up on the most beautiful rural highways without check and without complaint? Would an Irish architect, shocked by a great eyesore, as the Oxford architect by a relatively small error in taste, get a friendly hearing if he ventured a protest?

A Temple of Music.

Two wealthy Americans, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Moulton, are reported to have offered to provide a sum between £2,000,000 and £3,000,000 for the erection of an international Temple of Music near Paris. Their idea is to establish a building in which the best works of music, modern as well as classical, can be performed during the summer months, when Paris is full of American and other visitors. The building will be situated in one of the Paris suburbs, far away from the noise and bustle of the city. Mrs and Mrs. Moulton lay stress on the fact that they wish the Temple of Music in no way to compete with the Opera; on the contrary, they are anxious that it shall be a complement to the Opera, and that the two institutions shall work in the closest possible co-operation. The new Temple will embrace a school of music, several studios, a restaurant, living quarters for students, and a magnificent auditorium, constructed in the most modern style. All the best artists of the world will be engaged to perform during the summer season, and, if the enterprise succeeds, the great reputation of the French capital for musical culture will be enhanced. Irish lovers of music will read of this scheme with pangs of envy. Why will not some rich Americans provide a Temple of Music for Dublin? The Irish capital must be one of the very few cities of its size in the world that have not even a concert hall. Yet it is a musical city of no mean order. It has a school of piano playing that can compare favourably with almost any school in Europe, while it has produced some brilliant singers. The lack of a proper concert hall is a lasting disgrace to Dublin, and it is high time that the omission should be repaired. If rich Americans will not come to the rescue, surely there is a sufficient number of musical enthusiasts in the country to supply the necessary funds. We are convinced that a good concert hall would pay for itself many times over within a few years, and so long as Dublin is without such a hall, the city's musical culture will continue to be cramped.

Brigadier Malise Graham.

The whole Irish people will be grieved to learn of the death of Brigadier Malise Graham, D.S.O., the distinguished leader of the British Army's jumping team which took part in the International Military Jumping Competition at the Dublin Horse Show last week. Brigadier Malise Graham was injured by a fall from his horse during one of the preliminary competitions at Ballsbridge on the second day of the Show. His skull was fractured, and, although two operations were performed on him, complications developed a few days ago, and he died yesterday in a private hospital. The late Brigadier had a brilliant career in the Army. His war record was exceptionally fine, and he was a most popular officer. A magnificent horseman, he was well known in hunting circles, and he had established a notable reputation for jumping at Olympia and other Shows. Although he had been in Ireland only for a few days, he already had won the high esteem of all with whom he came into contact, and was regarded as the finest type of British officer. We feel sure that we express the feelings of the entire nation when we offer to his widow our respectful sympathy in her terrible loss. Fortunately, such accidents are rare at the Dublin Horse Show, but jumping is a dangerous sport, and never is free from risks. Brigadier Malise Graham was a born horseman. He died, probably, as he would have wished to die, in the saddle—a gallant soldier, a great sportsman, and an English gentleman.

SIR THOMAS HORDER HONOURED.

"FREEDOM" OF HIS NATIVE TOWN.

Sir Thomas Jeeves Horder, the eminent physician, was honoured by Shaftesbury (Dorset), his native town, yesterday, when he was given the Freedom of the Borough.

Sir Thomas, who is physician to the Prince of Wales, and was one of the doctors called in when the King was ill, was born in Shaftesbury in 1871. This fact, however, was not generally known till recently, and Sir Thomas himself seems to have had some doubt about it, for in the reference books his birthplace is given as Swindon.

Sir Thomas and Lady Horder were entertained to a luncheon, and afterwards Sir Thomas said that if he had any doubt whether or not he was born in Shaftesbury that luncheon had quite decided him that he was. (Laughter.)

"There seems to have been some mistake somewhere," he said to a reporter afterwards. "My birthplace is certainly recorded wrongly in the reference books, but that casts no doubt on the authenticity of this ceremony. I am a true-born son of Shaftesbury."

Lady Horder was presented with a bouquet and an etching of a Dorset view.

CONSTABULARY DEPOT TO BE TRANSFERRED.

NORTHERN PARLIAMENT PLANS.

The delay in the proposed transfer of the Royal Ulster Constabulary Depot from Newtownards to Enniskillen has been explained in correspondence that has passed between the local members of Parliament and the Ministers concerned.

The Minister for Finance, writing to Sir Basil Brooke, Bart., M.P., states that the question of the depot is at present before the Minister of Home Affairs. His own department would be responsible for carrying out the work of reconstruction, etc.; but it could not go ahead until it was known exactly what was actually wanted. He believed, however, that, although the discussion of the future constitution of the police personnel at the depot had been very prolonged, the responsible authorities had come now to come definite conclusion, and sketch plans were, therefore, being prepared. As soon as these were ready the question of cost would have to be considered. He did not think it would be possible for actual work to be started for some months. Everybody concerned was anxious to see the depot established with as little delay as possible.

OBITUARY

MR. ERNEST ENSOR, M.A., T.C.D.

We regret to announce the death of Mr. Ernest Ensor, M.A., T.C.D., Senior Inspector of the Secondary Education Branch of the Irish Free State Department of Education.

An educationist of considerable abilities, the late Mr. Ensor had a distinguished career at Dublin University, which he entered in 1889. As well as winning a number of prizes, he obtained a Classical Scholarship in 1892, and graduated, with gold medal in Classics two years later. He was a frequent contributor to T.C.D., the well-known College magazine, in which he took an active interest during his student days. He also wrote for the Classical Review and Blackwood's Magazine. He was a son of the late Mr. Edward Ensor, M.A., and brother of Colonel Howard Ensor, M.B., R.A.M.C.

LONDON BOYS AT YOUGHAL.

The Youghal Military Barracks, which were recently evacuated by the Free State troops, are at present in occupation of a squadron of friendly invaders—the boys of the Roan School, Greenwich, London, under the charge of Mr. A. W. Hope, Headmaster.

The boys are having an ideal holiday, bathing on the fine beach at Claycastle, boating in the harbour and outside, and visiting the many scenes of historic and antiquarian interest in the vicinity.

Yesterday the Urban Council treated them to a free trip to Cappoquin. They visited the ruins of Strancally and Templemichael Castles, St. Molana's Abbey, Ballynatray, Dromana, Tourin and others.

On their return they will attend a fête in the grounds of Sir Walter Raleigh's house.

COURT AND PERSONAL.

The Prince of Wales returned to London from Le Touquet on Tuesday, and was piloted by Squadron-Leader Don in the same private two-seater aeroplane in which he made the journey to France at the end of last week. His Royal Highness is remaining for the present at York House, St. James's, and will fulfil several private engagements this week. The Marquis and Marchioness of Carisbrooke have left London for Paris, en route for Venice, and will be away until the end of next month. Other departures for Scotland include Lord and Lady Bethel, Major-General Sir Neill and Lady Malcolm, the Hon. Sir Lancelot Carnegie, and Major-General Sir Wyndham and Lady Childs.

The final match in the Polo Tournament for the French Military Cup will take place to-day at Vittel, and is expected to provide an exciting game. THE LATE MR. T. J. ASTON.

MEMORIAL TABLET UNVEILED

At a special Service held in the Clontarf Methodist Church, Dublin, last night, a memorial was unveiled to the memory of Mr. Thomas J. Aston, who had been a member of the congregation of that church for a long number of years. The memorial was a tribute by his co-directors and associates in business of the firm of Messrs. McBirney and Co., Aston's quay, of which he was for many years a director.

It consisted of a white marble tablet on a black marble background, beautifully carved, and was the work of Messrs. Harrison, sculptors, Pearse street, Dublin. It bore the following inscription: "At Rest. To the Glory of God and in Memory of Thomas John Aston, who died on the 28th April, 1928, aged 81 years, this tablet was erected as a tribute of affection and esteem, and in appreciation of his unfailing kindness, courtesy and consideration, by his co-directors and fellow-associates in business.

"Father, in Thy gracious keeping,
"Leave we now Thy servant sleeping."

The Rev. J. A. Duke occupied the chair, and a brief, but impressive, Service was held. Glowing tributes to Mr. Aston as an upright, honourable Christian gentleman were paid by the Chairman, by the Rev. W. W. Hutchinson and the Rev. Randall C. Phillips, the present minister of Clontarf Church.

THE UNVEILING.

The unveiling ceremony was performed by Mr. J. Hoctor, a director of the firm of McBirney and Co. He said that it was a labour of love to him to unveil the memorial to one who had been his close friend for over fifty years—a man who had led a blameless life, both in private and in public life; a man who was kind and charitable, gentle and forbearing to those over whom he had control. He was a bright example to all around him, and was beloved by every member of the firm of McBirney and Co., from the directors down to the humblest employé. The memorial but feebly expressed the feelings of love which those associated with him in business entertained for Mr. Aston.

The Rev. Randall C. Phillips, as minister of the church, accepted the memorial, and thanked the donors for the beautiful tablet.

Within twenty-four hours of the death of his wife, Mr. Henry Harding (80), an ex-colour-sergeant of the Royal Marines, was found dead with his head in a gas oven at his home in Elm road, Ewell, Surrey.

LONDON LETTER.

EASIER POSITION AT THE HAGUE.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
WEDNESDAY NIGHT.

Happily the treatened deadlock at The Hague Conference has been averted, but the public generally still hardly realise how nearly the proceedings became abortive, and the serious consequences that must have attended such a result. Mr. Snowden has scored a definite victory over the first and principal of the three points which he submitted to the Conference in the British interest, and there is every indication that he will be equally successful in respect of the outstanding two. The Sub-Committee, which is to be appointed on Saturday to consider the allocations under the Young plan, will, no doubt, get to work without unnecessary delay, and there should not be any long interval before they produce definite proposals to amend the scheme, under which this country's reparation receipts would be reduced by no less than £2,400,000 a year. To-day's proceedings of the Conference developed the general display of amiability that was in marked contrast to the atmosphere which pervaded recent meetings when Mr. Snowden threw down the gauntlet.

The Cotton Dispute.

In the cotton dispute the outlook is certainly more hopeful, though the difficulties which beset the trade are still a long way from satisfactory solution. However, it is something in the right direction to have gained the virtual assent of both sides to submit differences to arbitration. The Cotton Spinners' and Manufacturers' Association are prepared to accept that means towards settlement, but operatives, before approving that procedure, require to know whether, pending the award, mills will be re-opened, and at what rate of pay. They also want assurances as to the possible composition of the arbitrating authority. Those anxieties should not be difficult to satisfy. In the most optimistic circles in Manchester it is believed that the employers will agree to re-open on exactly the same conditions that prevailed before the workers came out, but on the distinct understanding that the award is not unduly delayed, in which case the mills should be again in operation next week.

Telephone at Lossiemouth.

Full advantage has been taken of the improved telephonic facilities installed at Lossiemouth before the Prime Minister went there for his holiday, and he has, therefore, been able to keep in close touch with Government departments concerning current events. The proceedings at The Hague have been promptly reported to Mr. Macdonald; details regarding the Anglo-Egyptian Treaty have been discussed, and he has been kept acquainted with the progress of negotiations connected with the cotton stoppage. In addition to these subjects, communications have been made with regard to the agenda for the Council of the League of Nations, of which Mr. Macdonald will attend at Geneva at the end of the month. It is not surprising that in the midst of so many calls to the telephone he has had little opportunity for golf.

Change of Naval Policy.

The ostensible reason for the withdrawal of the battleship division of Queen Elizabeths from the Mediterranean is the prevailing congestion at Malta, on which the Fleet is based; but there is little doubt that this complete reversal of naval policy of having the strength of the Service in Mediterranean waters is due to motives of economy. Nominally the four battleships involved will be transferred to the Atlantic Fleet. The change means that they will spend a good portion of their time in the home ports, which will be much cheaper than maintaining them at war strength on a foreign station. If Valetta harbour has really become so congested by warships as to interfere with its commercial amenities, the obvious remedy would be to detach a sufficient number and base them on Gibraltar. Their presence at the Rock would be welcomed, as the dockyard there has for some months been on short time through lack of work.

The Schneider Cup.

The British Schneider Cup team consists of six officers, four being pilots, of whom three will be chosen to participate in the race, one officer in charge of the team and one technical officer. It is a thoroughly representative British team, being drawn from Morayshire in the North to Devonshire in the South-West. Squadron-Leader Orlebar was born in Northamptonshire; Flight-Lieutenant D'Arcy Greig comes from Elgin, Morayshire; Flight-Lieutenant G. H. Stainforth from Beckenham, Kent; Flying-Officer R. L. R. Atcherley is a Yorkshireman; Flying-Officer H. R. D. Waghorn a Londoner, while Flying-Officer T. H. Moon, who is in charge of the technical side, is a Devonian. Geographical considerations, of course, played no part in the selection of the team, and it is curious that so many parts of the country should be represented on it.

Royal Commission on Liquor.

Prodigious work lies before the Royal Commission on the Licensing Laws, the names of ten of whose members have just been announced. The full complement of twenty will be made up in a few days. It is suggested that, in the course of their investigations, the Commissioners should take a trip to America to ascertain on the spot the actual facts concerning the efficacy of prohibition, about which so many conflicting stories are published. The last Royal Commission on Liquor occupied three years, 1896-99, and was presided over by the late Lord Peel. It met 123 times, examined 250 witnesses, and consisted of 24 members, eight representing the licensed trade, eight the temperance party and a like number being of an "independent" frame of mind.

July's Trade Figures.

It is cheering to note that, notwithstanding depression in many British industries, there was a general trade recovery in July. An all-round gain in British exports is recorded, while imports showed a decline. Coal was the chief contributor to the improvement. The upward movement in the South Wales trade at the beginning of the year was more than maintained. Nearly twice as much coal was exported last month compared with the corresponding period of last year, and there was a considerable increase on June figures. The effect of the cotton stoppage has not yet been reflected on the Board of Trade returns, but it is bound to produce a set-back when the next trade statistics are published.

Road Grants.

Under the new scheme, by which road grants may be made to districts suffering from severe and prolonged unemployment, even though no transferred labour is employed, the first Ministry of Transport grants go to Glamorgan County Council. The sum involved is no less than £300,000, which will be expended on road-making and improvement, an important stipulation being that only married men, or men with dependents, taken on from the local labour exchanges shall be employed. Two schemes will be undertaken, one, costing £200,000, for widening the London-Fishguard road, while the balance of the grant will be spent on inter-valley roadways. It is expected that the work will be started at the end of next week.

DEATH.

SARGENT—August 14, 1929, William Sargent, 14 Ossory road, Dublin, as the result of an accident. R.I.P. Funeral arrangements later.

TRAMWAYS STOPPAGE.

DUBLIN STRIKE AT MIDNIGHT.

ALL SERVICES SUSPENDED.

PICKETS POSTED EARLY TO-DAY.

The Dublin tramway strike began at midnight, when the last of the tramcars was safely returned to the dépôt at the end of the day's work.

Unless there is an unexpected development in the late hours of this morning, Dublin will be without a tramway service to-day.

Last minute efforts to avoid a stoppage were made yesterday, but without avail.

Pickets were appointed by the men late last night, and were instructed to take up their posts early to-day.

After a two and a half hours' session the conference arranged by the Ministry of Industry and Commerce between representatives of the Dublin United Tramways Company and their employés broke up yesterday without reaching any agreement.

The conference, on which so much hope had been built, assembled under the chairmanship of Mr. R. C. Ferguson, Assistant Secretary of the Industry and Commerce, at the offices of the Ministry, Government Buildings, at 11.30 o 'clock yesterday morning.

The company's representatives were headed by Mr. Marshall Harriss, the General Manager, and the employés' representatives included Messrs. John Cliff, Assistant General Secretary of the Amalgamated Transport and General Workers' Union; Harold Clay, National Secretary, Passengers' Group; J. Barry and H. Kirshaw, of the National Executive, and F. Gillespie, Free State Area Secretary.

HOW DISPUTE AROSE.

The dispute, it may be mentioned, followed on the company's notification three months ago that it intended to enforce a cut of 10 per cent. on the existing wages of its outdoor staffs to operate from to-day. The cut is presumed to apply also to the wages of the drivers and conductors of the company's omnibuses.

For two and a half hours the representatives of the company and employés deliberated, but the proceedings were barren of result, the only agreement reached being that no useful purpose could be served by prolonging the conference further; accordingly, at 2 p.m. it dispersed and the delegates left the buildings.

NOTHING TO SAY.

When approached by newspaper men they declined, individually and collectively, to comment on the break down, saying that they had undertaken that whatever was to be communicated to the Press would be communicated by Mr. Ferguson.

Mr. Ferguson had little to communicate, however, beyond the fact that the conference had failed to arrive at any settlement, and that, in the circumstances, it was to be feared that the public should be prepared for a stoppage of the tramway services at midnight.

The Ministry, he added, would not relax its efforts during the afternoon or evening to effect some measure of agreement, but meanwhile the prospects were black.

The conference, an Irish Times representative learned from another source, ended in a complete deadlock, the employés' representatives declining to submit to any reduction in their wages.

'BUS MEN ALSO OUT.

Omnibus men employed by the Tramways Company also decided, at a meeting last night, not to resume work this morning. While this meeting was in progress members of the Executive of the Amalgamated Transport Union were arranging the appointment of strike pickets.

The drivers and conductors who were working last night brought the tramway cars to the different dépôts at the usual time, and "signed off" in the ordinary way.

There was no scene at any of the dépôts as the men left work. The cleaners remained on duty as usual until eight o'clock this morning.

The drivers and conductors of the 'buses took their vehicles to the garage at about midnight, following the usual procedure.

"STRIKE COMMENCED AT MIDNIGHT."

An Irish Times representative who visited a number of the tramway dépôts in the city early this morning found the cleaners at work as usual. Outwardly there was nothing to indicate that a strike was in progress.

All the men had received instructions from their union not to present themselves for work to-day. The men employed on the company's omnibuses had received similar instructions after their decision yesterday evening to join in the strike. This means that the tramway and omnibus services of the Dublin United Tramways Company will not be in operation in the ordinary course to-day.

"The strike commenced at midnight," an employé of the company told an Irish Times reporter this morning.

OTHER SERVICES.

The attitude of 'bus drivers engaged in city traffic by other companies is at the present moment in doubt. A large number are stated to be in sympathy with the tramway employés.

U.S.A. AND NAVAL "YARDSTICK."

CONFERENCE AT THE WHITE HOUSE.

GENERAL DAWES'S NEGOTIATIONS.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
WASHINGTON, Wednesday.

The limitation of naval armaments was the subject of a breakfast conference at the White House this morning, which was attended by President Hoover, Mr. Stimson, Secretary of State; Mr. Adams, Secretary of the Navy; Mr. Cotton, Under-Secretary of the State Department, and the Executive Committee of the General Board of the Navy.

The White House declined to reveal details of the discussion beyond saying that it had to do with the proposed "yardstick" method of effecting reductions of naval armaments. It was stated, however, that both Mr. Stimson and Mr. Adams had been absent from Washington for a week or so, and that the conference concerned developments in London during that time.

ADMIRALS CONSULTED.

Mr. J. P. Cotton, Under-Secretary of State, who has been dealing with naval disarmament questions on behalf of the State Department, has been in constant touch with Rear-Admiral H. P. Jones, the American observer at the preliminary Disarmament Conference, and other members of the Naval General Board during the past few days. Last night Mr. Cotton conferred for over two hours with Admiral Jones, but neither the Admiral nor the State Department would reveal the nature of the conference.

Though the State Department has hitherto been silent on the naval question, Reuter's Correspondent is given to understand that the American Government is rapidly completing a formula for a naval "yardstick."

Immediately after Mr. Adams and the members of the Naval General Board had returned to the Navy Department, the Secretary of the Navy summoned Admiral Hughes, chief of naval operations, and Admiral Jones to another conference.

In political circles here it is expected that an important announcement on the whole question may be made in the near future.

STATEMENT BY MR. STIMSON.

Later in the day Mr. Stimson said, in an interview with Press representatives, that the negotiations had reached a point at which it was desirable to have a conference between naval experts and civilian members of the Government who were dealing with the subject. The civilian officials were keeping in close touch with the naval advisers, Mr. Simson asserted, and were desirous of having their cordial and friendly co-operation in the matter.

The conference, he continued, was to make sure that there were no radical differences in their points of view. He added that the views of the naval experts would naturally be given full consideration in the limitation discussions. The conference this morning was quite informal, and was not called to discuss any crisis which had arisen, but to consider correspondence relating to the negotiations between General Dawes and Mr. Ramsay Macdonald.

SUDDEN DEATH OF LORD HORNE.

A GREAT COMMANDER.

The Times Correspondent at Wick telegraphed yesterday:—General Lord Horne of Stirkoke, the famous First Army Commander, died suddenly this afternoon while shooting on the moors at his Stirkoke estate. He was grouse shooting with some of his party, when he had a sudden seizure and died. Lady Horne at the time was in Wick, where she was a stall-holder at a bazaar held in connection with St. John's Episcopal Church, of which Lord Horne was a devoted supporter. She had left home before the news reached Wick.

Lord Horne's brother, Colonel Horne, of Thurster, was also present at the scene, and was there informed of Lord Horne's death.

On receiving his barony immediately after the war Lord Horne took over the Stirkoke estate from his brother. Since then he has been a most popular landlord. He took part in all public activities in Wick and district, and was recently suggested as a suitable member for a vacancy in Caithness County Council. The local Nursing Association will also miss his valuable and active co-operation, and he has been largely instrumental in inaugurating such an association for the district near his own estate.

Lord Horne was made a freeman of Wick shortly after the Great War.

Henry Sinclair, first Baron Horne, was the second surviving son of the late Major James Horne, of Stirkoke, Caithness. He was born on February 19, 1861, and was educated at Harrow and Woolwich. He entered the Royal Artillery in 1880, and served in the South African War of 1899 to 1902, obtaining the Queen's Medal, with five clasps, and the King's Medal, with two clasps.

In the Great War he served from 1914 to 1918. He commanded the Artillery First Corps in 1914, commanded the Second Division in 1915, went to Egypt for the defence of the Suez Canal, commanded the Fifteenth Corps in France in 1916, and in that year also he commanded the First Army. He was promoted General, mentioned in despatches, and created K.C.B. and K.C.M.G. In 1919 he was created a Peer. From 1919 to 1923 Lord Horne was General Officer Commanding-in-Chief the Eastern Command, and in 1926 he was placed on retired pay. Lord Horne was Aide de camp General to the King from 1920 to 1924, and since 1925 he had been Master Gunner of St. James's Park.

Lord Horne married, in 1897, Kate, daughter of George M'Corquodale, D.L., of Newton-le-Willows, Lancashire, and Gadbys, Anglesey, by whom he had one daughter. There is no heir to the peerage.

CHINESE RETURN FIRE.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
TOKIO, Wednesday.

According to an agency message sent from the frontier town of Manchuli at 6.25 this evening, Russian and Chinese troops have joined issue on the heights to the west of Manchuli.

Chinese infantry returned the Russian fire.

SHANNON SCHEME ACCIDENT.

TWO MEN KILLED.

Two workmen—Thomas Kinsella (24) and James Conroy (25), both of Newbridge, County Kildare—were killed at O'Brien's Bridge yesterday evening while working at the weir for the Shannon electric power station.

They were on a scaffolding about 75 feet high, when one of the planks broke. Both of them fell head foremost to the concrete base, sustaining fractured skulls and severe internal injuries.

A doctor and a clergyman ministered to the injured men; who died shortly afterwards.

An inquest will be held to-day.

EARTHQUAKE IN CHILE.

TOWN FLOODED: HOTEL COLLAPSES.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
SANTIAGO DE CHILE, Wednesday.

Torrential rains, accompanied by severe earth tremors, have visited Southern and Central Chile.

The town of Tombo, in the Department of Cachapoal, is flooded, and great damage has been done to property.

IBN SAUD'S TROOPS DEFEATED.

REBELS' FORCED MARCH ACROSS DESERT.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
SIMLA, Wednesday.

Faisal ed Dawish, the Akhwan leader, who has been heading a revolt against Ibn Saud, is reported to have scored a dramatic success by a forced march across one hundred and thirty miles of waterless desert and by inflicting a signal defeat on a concentration of loyal tribesmen, supported by a detachment of Ibn Saud's regulars. The latter troops are stated to have been wiped out.

IRISH COUPLE FALL DOWN PRECIPICE.

WIFE DIES OF INJURIES.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
BAYONNE, Wednesday.

A lady, said to be Irish, whose name was given as Tuohy, died here on Friday morning as the result of injuries received through falling over a precipice in the Basses Pyrenees. She and her husband had visited Bidarray for their holidays for the last four years. They left their hotel just after midnight on Thursday and went for a walk. Missing their way in the darkness, they fell down a precipice, and the wife died as the result of her injuries. When the Bayonne authorities heard of the circumstances of the accident they ordered the burial to be postponed, and gave instructions for an inquiry to be held. This has now been completed, and has fully proved that Mrs. Tuohy's death was due to an accident.

The following obituary notice appeared in The Times of yesterday:—

"Tuohy—On August 9, 1929, at Bidarray, Basses Pyrenees, accidentally, in selflessly going to her husband's help, Ann ("Kinko"), wife of Ferdinand Tuohy, and only child of the late Mr. and Mrs. Marshall King, of Sedgefield. Laid at rest at Great Easton, Dunmow."

The Daily Mail to-day says:—A message received from our Bayonne correspondent last night, together with information obtained in this country, explains the circumstances of the death of Mrs. Ann Tuohy, wife of Mr. Ferdinand Tuohy, who was killed while on a visit to the Pyrenees. Our correspondent says that Mr. and Mrs. Tuohy went for a walk at nightfall, and on their way back to the hotel Mr. Tuohy slipped while crossing a bridge and fell into the River Nive. His wife fell, fracturing her back, in trying to rescue him. She died without recovering consciousness.

THE DEATH OF BRIGADIER GRAHAM.

SEQUEL TO HORSE SHOW ACCIDENT.

FEW EQUALS AS HORSEMAN.

HIS FAVOURITE MOUNT.

With deep regret we record the death of Brigadier Malise Graham, which occurred last evening at the Elpis Nursing Home, Dublin.

Brigadier Graham, it will be recalled, sustained serious injuries at the Horse Show on Wednesday last when, in essaying the double bank, his mount stumbled and fell, throwing its rider, who, in the horse's struggles, was kicked in the head.

At first the injuries were not considered serious, but over the week-end the injured Brigadier's condition became critical. A second operation was performed, but the patient's condition gradually became worse, and when on Tuesday acute meningitis set in, hope was virtually abandoned. Not even his extraordinary vitality could hold out against such complications, and death took place yesterday evening.

Brigadier Graham was the leader of the British military team which had entered for the military jumping competitions at the Show, and his loss to the team militated greatly against their chances.

Born in 1884, he was the younger son of the late Sir Reginald Graham, eighth

Baronet, of Norton-Conyers, Yorkshire, and brother of the present holder of the title, Sir Reginald Guy Graham. He had a brilliant career in the Army. Entering the Rifle Brigade in 1901, he joined the 16th Lancers in 1903, and was Adjutant from 1908 to 1912, and was Chief Instructor at the Equitation School, Weedon.

WAR SERVICE.

Serving in the European War, he was five times mentioned in despatches, and was awarded the D.S.O. He commanded the 10th Hussars from 1923 to 1927, and in 1928 was appointed Commanding Officer of the 6th Cavalry Brigade of the Territorial Army. In 1924 he was appointed Colonel and subsequently promoted to the rank of Brigadier.

Brigadier Graham had few equals as a horseman. He was a daring rider to hounds, and had hunted with the Quorn, Cottesmore, and almost every pack in England. There was no more skilful or popular figure in the field.

HIS FAVOURITE HORSE.

With his wonderful horse, Broncho, he was always one of the most popular figures at any horse show he attended, and the gallant rider and his mount were familiar to countless thousands at the international Horse Shows at Olympia. Broncho was a veteran of the war and was as much bemedalled as his master.

As recently as June he carried the Brigadier to a great victory at Olympia, when France was beaten by half a point for the Prince of Wales's Cup. On that occasion the rider and horse came in for a remarkable ovation for their flawless performance. Between horse and rider there was a wonderful understanding, and the perfect rhythm with which they moved never failed to thrill spectators.

They had many other notable triumphs, including the King George the Fifth Cup for Jumping and the Connaught Cup, competed for by British Officers.

Brigadier Graham had a great affection for the horse, which he regarded as the finest jumper he ever had. Broncho is now twenty-five years old, and although afflicted with cataract in one eye is still fit and enjoys jumping; but now that his famous partner is no more it is likely the old horse will pass into honourable retirement.

OTHER INTERESTS.

Many stories are told of the great kindness of Brigadier Graham to all, particularly to men whose lives lay with horses.

In addition to his interest in horses the Brigadier also took a keen interest in Golden Labrador dogs, and raised many fine animals of that breed. He was also a wonderful game shot.

He married, in 1915, Cecil Lorna, daughter of Colonel Hugh George Barclay, M.V.O., of Colney Hall, Norwich, and leaves one son. Heartfelt sympathy will be felt for his widow, who was an eye-witness of the accident through which the Brigadier met his death.

The remains will be taken by the mail boat from Kingstown to Holyhead to-morrow, and thence to Copgrove, Yorkshire, where they will lie in Copgrove Church overnight. The interment will take place on Saturday afternoon.

FREE STATE GOVERNMENT'S SYMPATHY.

Immediately after the death of Brigadier Graham became known, representatives of the Free State Army called at the Shelbourne Hotel and expressed their condolences to the widow and other members of the deceased officer's family.

The Free State Government is anxious to pay the highest honours to Brigadier Graham, but the wishes of his relatives, of course, will be considered.

GREAT PROHIBITION "ROUND UP."

MAYOR AND POLICE CHIEF ARRESTED.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
CHICAGO, Wednesday.

A special force of Federal prohibition agents "mopped" two towns—East Chicago and Indiana Harbour—last night and early this morning. Upward of two hundred and fifty persons were arrested, including schoolgirls, a Mayor, a Chief of Police, and men and women bar tenders from scores of "speak-easies" (or, as they would be called in Ireland, "shebeens)."

'PLANE CRASH IN JAPAN.

ARMY CHIEFS AMONG VICTIMS.

BRITISH PILOT KILLED.

OCEAN AERODROME NEXT YEAR.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
TOKYO, Wednesday.

Seven officers and one non-commissioned officer were killed when a new bombing aeroplane, which was taking a party of officers belonging to the General Staff on an air inspection, crashed from a height of nine hundred feet shortly after taking off from Tchikawa Aerodrome, near Tokyo, to-day.

The dead include Major-General Tsunes Aburo Ogawa, Chief of the Operations Staff; Colonel Fujioka, Chief of the Operations Section; Major Fukayama, a Staff officer, and Major Abe, Chief of the Aircraft Section.

A second machine, which took off at the same time, had on board General Suzuki, Chief of the General Staff, and other high military authorities; but the aeroplane continued its flight without mishap.

ROYAL AIR FORCE PILOT'S ERROR.

FATAL CRASH FROM FORTY FEET UP.

At an inquest at Sutton Bridge, Lincolnshire, last night on Flying-Officer Henry Jones, aged 24, Royal Air Force, whose machine crashed yesterday morning, it was stated that the accident was due to Jones turning too soon after leaving the ground. Pilot-Sergeant Hickling said that Jones took off quite normally. The machine turned steeply to the right, and when at a height of from thirty to forty feet the nose went down, and the machine crashed and burst into flames. Jones was killed outright.

A verdict of death from misadventure was returned.

The deceased officer was the twenty-sixth member of the Royal Air Force to lose his life in a flying accident this year. Last year there were seventy-six fatal flying accidents in the Force.

THE FLIGHT AROUND EUROPE.

COMPETITORS ARRIVE AT WINNING POST.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
ORLY, Wednesday.

The eighteen leaders in the "Round Europe" flight landed at this little French town, which is the winning post, this afternoon, dropping like flies one after the other within the space of four minutes. They had flown from Brussels on the last lap, and, according to the rules of the race, were not allowed to land before three o'clock this afternoon.

Most of them had arrived a matter of half-an-hour ahead of time, and they circled around the aerodrome until the clock struck.

The Italian, Lombardi, was the first to land, on the stroke of three o'clock. It was a matter of seconds between the others. Mr. John Carberry, in a Rand-Cirrus, landed fifth, thirty-five seconds after Lombardi. Miss Spooner, flying a De Haviland Gipsy Moth, landed sixth, at one minute and four seconds past three, and Captain Broad, also in a De Haviland Gipsy Moth, landed sixteenth, at two minutes thirty-eight seconds past the hour.

The competition is open till August 20th, so that there is plenty of time for stragglers to turn up. There are still from twenty to thirty on the way.

The challenge is won by the competitor who scores the most points for the "Round Europe" flight challenge—speed and regularity—and for the preliminary events.

PROBABLE WINNERS.

FROM "THE TIMES" CORRESPONDENT.
PARIS, Wednesday.

There is every indication that Captain Broad, with his De Haviland Gipsy Moth 100 h.p. Gipsy engine, will be found at the head of the list, and good judges were of the opinion that Miss Wimfred Spooner, also with a Gipsy Moth, would very probably be second.

If these anticipations are confirmed the British light aeroplanes with their light engines will have secured a remarkable success against very strong competition. The two Moths were the only British entries.

ZEPPELIN'S WORLD FLIGHT.

PASSENGERS TO EMBARK AT 4 A.M. TO-DAY.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Wednesday.

Dr. Eckener, commander of the Graf Zeppelin, which is leaving on a world flight eastwards—across Europe, Asia and the Pacific to America, and then back across the Atlantic—to-morrow, has instructed the passengers to be in the gondola by four to-morrow morning.

The route fixed after receipt of the latest weather reports is Danzig, Koenigsberg, Dunaburg, Moscow, the Urals, Yakutsk, the Sea of Okhotsk, Saghalien and Tokio. There is a possibility that the dirigible may deviate from this course, and after crossing the Urals make for Irkutsk and Manchuria.

AERODROMES ON THE ATLANTIC.

RESTAURANT AND HOTEL ACCOMMODATION.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
NEW YORK, Wednesday.

It is hoped that the first floating aerodrome in the Atlantic will be ready for use by August next year. The aerodromes will resemble floating islands, built to withstand hurricane seas without tossing.

Each island will have a displacement of 15,000 tons and will be 400 feet wide and 1,200 feet long, with a landing deck 70 feet above sea level.

They will be anchored by great masses of steel and masonry, even where the water is three miles deep. Each island will have hangars, repair shops, a restaurant and hotel accommodation.

Between the successive islands buoys will be placed at intervals of fifty miles equipped with lights and fog signalling apparatus.

SOVIET 'PLANE FORCED DOWN AGAIN.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
MOSCOW, Wednesday.

M. Shestakov, the pilot of the Soviet aeroplane Country of the Soviets, which is flying from Russia to New York via the Pacific, reported to-day from Sosnozersk, eighty kilometres from Chita, that he had made a forced landing at Taiga. The crew of the 'plane were safe.

LATE NEWS.

BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT WITH THE TIMES.

DELIVERIES IN KIND.

EFFECT ON BRITISH INDUSTRIES.

The Times of to-day, in a leading article on deliveries in kind, which has been the chief topic of discussion at The Hague Conference this week, observes:—The problem is, of course, of special importance to British industry, which has been affected adversely in two distinct ways by this form of reparations. The consignment to the various creditor countries of large stocks of commodities, such as coal, which might otherwise have been purchased in this country, has naturally exercised a directly depressing effect upon the particular trades in question. But the damage to British interests has by no means been confined to the direct effect of these deliveries. A large number of contracts covering a great variety of goods have been concluded with German firms by private individuals, especially in France, of which only a portion has been on reparation account, the remainder being of a purely private transaction.

Thus, to take an example from the electrical industry, one of our industries which has been most notably affected, in the construction of a hydro-electric plant, a French contractor may purhase a portion of the machinery which he requires from Germany by way of reparations, and this action may practically compel him to buy the remainder from German firms, because they alone supply the specification suited to the part of the plant he has already obtained in this manner.

The effect of the deliveries in kind is thus to stimulate German exports in those markets where they naturally compete most strongly with British goods to an extent which is wholly disproportionate to their actual volume. That is, of course, a result which, in all probability, was hardly foreseen when the economic clauses of the Treaty of Versailles were being drafted which brought these deliveries into being. The Treaty originally contemplated deliveries on a much narrower scale.

Objection has also very rightly been raised by the British delegates, adds The Times, to the potential extension of the deliveries permitted by the Young plan in case of a transfer moratorium. M. Lucher yesterday admitted that this was a point which needed altering, and, in view of the already heavy burdens borne by them during the last ten years, it is essential that British industries should be guaranteed against further risk. It is, perhaps, scarcely to be expected that deliveries in kind could be abolished entirely and immediately. Such a sudden change, as the experts pointed out, would, in present circumstances, unduly hamper Germany's capacity to meet her obligations. At the same time, British interests require that they should be restricted more severely than the Young plan contemplates, and that, if possible, a definite limit should be placed upon the quantity of coal deliveries.

MR. SNOWDEN AND REPARATIONS.

STICKING TO HIS GROUND.

The Times Special Correspondent at The Hague telegraphed last night:—The situation at The Hague Conference has not changed since yesterday, except that the adjournment of the Financial Committee to Saturday has brought further confirmation of the favourable progress which is being made by the financial experts. Mr Snowden, satisfied that an energetic effort is being made to find means of meeting the British demands on the distribution of annuities was the first to support the Chairman's suggestion, but he added a strong hint that substantial proposals ought to be submitted in the two and a half days, so that the Conference could get down to the real questions. His remark seems to indicate that he expects his vital resolution to be dealt with in some way on Saturday.

These hints should suffice to dispel any illusion that may be entertained that the Chancellor of the Exchequer is not sticking firmly to his ground. It is quite clear that he is willing only to concede more time for profitable discussion, and that if by next Saturday a week has elapsed since his last vigourous statement, without a reasonably satisfactory result having been attained, his patience is likely to come to an end.

HAGUE CONFERENCE.

HOW SOCIALISTS MAY PROFIT.

The Morning Post, discussing The Hague Conference, says:—The popular heart is not moved by the cant of renunciation and surrender which fills the mouth of the political preacher, and does duty as the Socialist philosophy. It is stirred by much older and much simpler instincts—loyalty being one and patriotism another. If the Socialists would profit by the success of Mr. Snowden let them make this appeal, not at The Hague only, but everywhere.

THE ELECTORAL SYSTEM.

The Daily News and Westminster Gazette, referring to-day to Lord Ullswater's Electoral Reform Committee, says:—All parties have a ground for demanding the reform of our existing electoral system. We admit that electoral reform is of vital interest to Liberals, because without it they are denied the weight to which their numbers in a democracy entitle them in the conduct of affairs. But this denial does not concern Liberals only. It is in effect a denial of the fundamental principle of democracy.

OPIUM IN CONSULAR LUGGAGE.

CULPRITS DEPORTED FROM THE U.S.A.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
SAN FRANCISCO, Wednesday.

Mr. Ying-kao, formerly a Chinese Consular official here; Mrs. Ying-kao, and Mr. Sun-foon, who was also attached to the Chinese Consulate here, have been placed on board the steamer Shinyo Maru for China by the police. It is understood that all three will be tried by the Chinese authorities.

The Customs officials here found a quantity of opium, valued at £200,000 sterling, in the luggage of Mrs. Ying-kao last month. The party were arrested, and it was urged by Chinese in America that they should be sent to China to be tried under Chinese laws—which it is believed, provide the death penalty for officials who traffic in opium.

further is being discussed, concludes the official Tass Agency.

[Note—The aeroplane was first forced to land owing to engine trouble at Novosibirsk. Last evening it was reported that it had made another forced landing at a point 170 miles from Irkutsk, in the Ilka region. Up to the time of this forced landing the 'plane had covered six thousand kilometres in thirty-six hours' flying time.]

QUIET DAY AT THE HAGUE.

BRITISH DEMANDS CONSIDERED.

FRENCH MINISTER'S STATEMENT.

For an hour and a half yesterday the Financial Commission at The Hague discussed the question of deliveries in kind, and then adjourned until Saturday in order to give the private negotiations which are taking place time to bear fruit.

Mr. Snowden, in a speech, expressed the hope that the public would not consider that there had been a deadlock. Success in the conversations, he added, would mean that on Saturday they would be able to make definite progress.

DELIVERIES IN KIND.

THE FRENCH VIEW.

FROM PRESS ASSOCIATION'S SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.
THE HAGUE, Wednesday.

The adjournment until ten o'clock on Saturday of the Financial Commission has been granted in order to give the various delegations an opportunity to continue their informal conversations on the various questions which have been raised during the discussion, and it is hoped that, as a result of these conversations, the Commission will be in a position to proceed to the appointment of the various sub-committees to deal with the subjects which have been raised.

It is believed that the sub-committees will have to work for several days, and that the chiefs of the various delegations will leave The Hague before they have finished their task.

DELIVERIES IN KIND.

Most of this morning's proceedings were taken up by a long statement by M. Loucheur, the French Minister of Labour, who explained the French standpoint on deliveries in kind.

He said that when they came to consider the actual proposals with regard to deliveries in kind under the Young plan, as compared with the Dawes scheme, so far as the volume of deliveries in kind was concerned, the proposals of the Young plan provided a reasonable solution. Personally he, like Mr. William Graham, would like to see deliveries in kind disappear if it were possible.

He had no interest in seeing any German goods imported in this way, and on this question, and on many other points, the view of the French delegation was entirely in agreement with that of the British delegation, and he considered that an effort must be made to find a solution, or some means of eliminating the inconvenience as regards the question of re-exports.

THE RE-EXPORTS.

The French delegates were in absolute agreement with the British that re-exports must be suppressed because they gave to certain countries opportunities in the world market under artificial conditions advantageous to them.

In so far as Mr. Graham's fear concerning a possible extension of the period for deliveries in kind in case of a moratorium, he personally was convinced that the development of German economics would make it possible for Germany to meet all her obligations.

The French delegation supported the British delegation both as regards the volume of goods to be re-exported and as regards the control of them. In the view of the French delegation, it was necessary to try and find a real solution of this question in the sense demanded by Mr. Graham.

M. Loucher added that he could not see anything in the speech of Herr Curtius that was against British ideas in this matter. He said that Herr Curtius seemed to be ready to try and find a solution by means of discussions in committee.

BRITISH UNEMPLOYMENT.

Dealing with the question of unemployment in Great Britain, he said it would be wrong, absolutely wrong, to suppose that British or German unemployment had no repercussion on the prosperity of other nations, and they must all try and find a remedy. He did not want people to think that the greater part of British unemployment was caused by coal deliveries, and he considered that deliveries in kind, therefore, could not play a very important part in the problem of unemployment, and particularly British coal exports.

Other speakers this morning were M. Venizelos (Greece), M. Titulesco (Rumania), and M. Ulrich (Portugal), who pointed out certain hardships which his country would suffer if the proposals of the Young plan were carried out.

M. Venizelos suggested that committees dealing with the financial part of the Young plan should simultaneously discuss the final settlement of all claims arising out of the peace treaties, and, if necessary, a special committee should be appointed to deal with these questions.

Baron Houtard (Belgium), the chairman, moved the adjournment of the Financial Commission until Saturday.

MR. SNOWDEN'S FIRM STAND.

FURTHER RESPITE FOR DELEGATES.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
THE HAGUE, Wednesday.

Is Mr. Snowden weakening or not is the question which is being asked at The Hague to-day as a result of the adjournment of the Financial Commission until

THE TRAMWAYS STOPPAGE.

A group of drivers and conductors waiting for news outside their dépôt just before midnight last night.

Saturday morning, and I am authoritatively informed that the answer is in the negative.

Last week the Chancellor startled the Conference by declaring that he could not wait much longer, and did not intend to spend the rest of his days at The Hague. This was taken to indicate that he was prepared to give the rest of the delegations a few days' time to make up their minds as to what concessions they would make towards satisfying the British demands, and it was generally expected that he would press for such a decision, if not to-day, at the latest by Friday.

CHANGE FOR THE BETTER.

Now he has given them a further respite until Saturday, evidently anxious that no stone should be left unturned to reach a settlement, so that he could not be charged with the responsibility for the eventual breakdown of the Conference.

Although up to the present not the slightest indication has been forthcoming from either British or other official quarters as to the nature of the proposals; or, even if these have actually been made, what the other parties are preparing to submit to Mr. Snowden, there is no doubt that there has been a change for the better in the situation in so far as that the British claims are nearer to being accepted than they were last week.

UNCOMPROMISING ITALY.

At the same time, although the French are showing a conciliatory spirit, and are trying to find a solution which will, at any rate, partially satisfy the Chancellor, it is reliably reported that the Italians are showing no such disposition, and are being encouraged from Rome to maintain their uncompromising attitude and to insist on having no alterations in the percentages granted to Italy under the Young plan.

A hopeful sign is that the conversations between the experts of the various delegations are continuing, and that undoubtedly the utmost good-will prevails, and every possible avenue is being explored in an endeavour to find ways and means to approach the Chancellor with some proposals which will at least enable him to declare that a basis for discussion has been found.

SATURDAY'S MEETING.

It is generally assumed that at Saturday's meeting of the Financial Commission it will be agreed that sub-committees shall be appointed to examine and deal with the various points raised during the informal talks which are going on between the delegates.

It is not certain that the Chancellor will insist on his resolution, that a sub-committee should be appointed to examine the possibilities of revising the annuities' percentages as fixed by the Young plan, though this was regarded as the crux of the whole situation, in view of the fact that the Chancellor declared in the Financial Commission: "My resolution is before the Commission, and I cannot delay a decision upon that resolution much longer."

EFFECT OF AGREEMENT.

If the private conversations which are now going on result in an agreement being reached, there would appear to be no reason for Mr. Snowden to press for his resolution, as the Chancellor will have secured a victory without it, and he will be able to leave The Hague with the satisfaction of knowing that he has successfully defended the interests of the British taxpayer.

Should, however, his resolution be submitted to the Commission as it stands, it is regarded as likely that the French and Italians will suggest amendments which will water it down considerably. What the Chancellor's attitude then will be has not been disclosed, and Saturday's sitting of the Financial Commission must be awaited before any answer to this question can be given.

A MORE HOPEFUL AIR.

Neither is it known whether Mr. Snowden will wait in The Hague until the work of the sub-committees which are to be appointed is finished, or whether he will return to England to await their reports, although the latter is regarded as more likely.

To sum up the situation, therefore, it can be said that, although a more hopeful atmosphere prevails in The Hague owing to the fact that serious attempts are being made to give Great Britain satisfaction, Saturday's sitting must be awaited to reveal whether the British Chancellor of the Exchequer has wavered from the very definite stand he adopted at the beginning of The Hague Conference, which is now a week old, and which has behind the scenes achieved more than appears on the surface.

There is a general desire that the Conference should end soon, the only people who, perhaps, wish it to go on indefinitely being the Dutch postal authorities, who are earning thousands of pounds daily in telegraph and telephone tolls from the hundreds of journalists assembled here.

DOUBTS ABOUT ITALY.

A FOUR POWERS' MEETING.

From Reuter's Correspondent.
THE HAGUE, Wednesday.

Though nothing is known as to the course of the informal talks which will take place between the various delegations here between now and Saturday when the Financial Commission meets again, there are hopes that agreement will be reached. Any apprehensions there arise from the belief that, though the French may prove amenable to argument, the Italians have received instructions not to budge.

This belief is enhanced by the news that the French, Italian, Japanese and Belgian delegates met this afternoon to discuss Mr. Snowden's claims. According to a report from an Italian source it was agreed that the four Powers interested in the Young plan were identical, and that solidarity was revealed amongst them.

M. Jaspar, the Belgian Prime Minister, afterwards visited Mr. Snowden and informed him of the outcome of the meeting.

RHINELAND ARRESTS.

GERMAN SUSPECTS RELEASED.

From Reuter's Correspondent.
COLOGNE, Wednesday.

The eight officials of the German State Property Office and a German commercial traveller, who eight months ago were suspected of espionage and arrested by the French military authorities at Coblence and Mainz, were released from the military prison at the latter town this morning. The release followed prolonged negotiations between the French and German authorities, which ended in an agreement to exchange the men for French nationals suspected of espionage by the German authorities.

Although the men were in custody for over eight months, apparently they were not brought to trial. On the completion of the inquiries and the framing of a charge against them, negotiations were initiated by the German authorities for the exchange, and no further proceedings seem to have been taken against them.

UNCONDITIONAL RELEASES.

It is understood that they were suspected of breaking into the billets of French officers in order to steal documents and plans relative to a new machine gun and a new type of gas mask. The affair has caused much comment in the Rhineland, as during the early part of their confinement the officials were not allowed to see their families, and were compelled to accept the services of a French lawyer for their defence. Several of the officials broke down under the rigorous treatment they received in the prison.

They were released unconditionally, but the commercial traveller is to leave the occupied area.

TRADE INTERESTS IN IRELAND.

PROPOSED JOINT ACTION NORTH AND SOUTH.

FREE STATE CHAMBERS OF COMMERCE.

The Association of Chambers of Commerce of the Irish Free State held its monthly meeting in Dublin yesterday. Mr. E. McArdle, Drogheda, President, presided, and the attendance included representatives of the Chambers of Dublin, Cork, Limerick, Waterford, Drogheda, Clonmel.

Mr. G. R. Ryan, Limerick, and Mr. S. D. Budd, Dublin, were unanimously co-opted as members of the Executive Council.

A letter was read from the Association of Northern Ireland Chambers of Commerce, suggesting machinery for the discussion of matters affecting the trading and commercial interests of all Ireland.

The hon. officers, with the Presidents of the Sligo and Dundalk Chambers, and the Secretary, were appointed to act on a joint Committee with a similar delegation from the Northern Association, to discuss the future method of co-operation.

THE COMPANIES ACT, 1917.

The Council considered a request from the Cork Incorporated Chamber of Commerce and Shipping to discuss what action, if any, should be taken with regard to a request for the withdrawal of Section 2 (2) of the Companies (Particulars as to Directors) Act, 1917, which requires companies to publish the names of their directors in all trade catalogues, business letters, etc., on which the name of the company appears.

The Secretary was directed to refer the matter to the Chambers for discussion.

It was noted that the twelfth Congress of the Federation of Chambers of Commerce of the British Empire, to which the Association has a right to appoint three delegates, will be held in London during the last week of May, 1930. Chambers are invited to forward suitable resolutions for submission by the Association.

Consideration of an invitation to the President to serve on a Special Committee on Bankruptcy Law was deferred until after the election of the hon. officers.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION.

It was noted:—

(I.)—That the "Statistics of Workmen's Compensation for 1927," the Report of the Special Committee on the Workmen's Compensation (Increase of Compensation) Bill, 1929, and a memorandum by Mr. John Good, Dublin, dated 21st May, 1929, had been circulated to Chambers.

(II.)—That on 29th May the Minister for Industry and Commerce held up the bill until the Departmental Committee on Workmen's Compensation (on whose report the bill was to a certain extent based) had considered the statistics.

(III.)—That the Committee has considered the statistics, but its report has not yet been published.

The Secretary was directed to request the insurance companies to explain why the rates in the Free State were so much higher than those in Great Britain and Northern Ireland.

DEBT COLLECTION.

It was noted that in the case of "land in respect of which rent, or interest in lieu of rent, or payment in lieu of rent or interest on purchase money is for the time being payable to the Irish Land Commission," a trader who has obtained a decree and made an affidavit of judgment, and in registering it in the Registry of Deeds as a mortgage, must also register a "caution against first registration" in the Lands Registry to protect himself against charges in favour of the Agricultural Credit Corporation, which otherwise would obtain priority.

The Secretary was directed to request the Chambers to bring this requirement to the notice of their members.

HEALTH INSURANCE.

It was decided to circulate the National Health Insurance Bill, 1929, to the Chambers, and to watch its progress through the Dail.

The bill gives effect to the major recommendations of the Committee on National Health Insurance, and proposes to abolish the County Insurance Committees, to transfer their functions to the County Councils, and to provide funds for the County Councils for the purpose.

The general purpose is to codify the Insurance Acts and to simplify and lessen the expense of their administration. The difficulties which hitherto have existed regarding insurable married women are being surmounted by giving an insured female, on marriage, a marriage benefit, and providing that if she desires to work after marriage she shall be in the category of persons who have never been insured.

The bill also abolishes the Deposit Contributors' Fund, and ordains the entrance of members of this fund to approved societies in a prescribed period.

Another section provides that persons in insurable occupations, hitherto exempt because of certain private means, can no longer claim exemption after 5th January next.

It was noted that the Economic Committee had ceased to function.

A letter was read from the Ministry of Industry and Commerce, stating that the Exhibition of British Industries, to be held in Buenos Aires in 1930-1931, is being brought to the attention of the various industrial committees and organisations.

TOWN PLANNING.

It was noted that the Cork Incorporated Chamber of Commerce and Shipping opposes Section VII (3) of the Town Planning Bill, 1929 (circulated to Chambers). The Secretary was directed to request the Chambers for their views on the bill.

It was decided to issue a second booklet, containing the annual reports for 1927-1928 and 1928-1929, with other matter.

UNEMPLOYMENT.

Attention was drawn to (a) the resolution passed at the Trades Congress in Limerick:—"That Congress, realising that the introduction of new machinery and other forms of nationalisation are a constant source of unemployment, instruct the National Executive to investigate matters, in order to advise trade unions how the workers could be safeguarded against the consequences of the displacement of human labour by machinery and new scientific methods in the organisation of industry."

(b) The report in the Irish Times of 3rd August, 1929, of an address by Professor H. Clay on "The Public Regulation of Wages in Great Britain."

The meeting was then adjourned to consider the election of honorary officers, the secretaryship and the annual subscriptions from Chambers.

STRABANE FIRE PRECAUTIONS.

At the monthly meeting of the Strabane Rural District Council a report was read from the Newtownstewart Local Committee, from which it appeared there were ten fireplugs in the town, but no appliances or connections in the case of fire. The Council Engineer submitted an estimate for two standpipes, with necessary couplings and connections, and the Committee agreed to accept the tender subject to the approval of the Council. Mr Miller, M.P., made a statement on the subject, and eventually the question was adjourned for a month.

note with satisfaction the definite statement that withdrawal of the British troops from the Rhineland will begin on September 15. In telegrams to German papers from The Hague the hope is expressed that M. Briand may also see his way to follow England's example without making Germany pay for something which she is entitled to demand.

The Lokalanzeiger says that the Allies intend to get out of Germany very high sums, exceeding the English demand, for the evacuation of the Rhineland.

The Vossische Zeitung also contemplates that the Allies are trying to obtain a financial concession from Germany in consideration for earlier evacuation.

The Vossische adds that the adjournment of the Conference till Saturday does not mean an interruption, but is solely an attempt to bring the Conference a long step forward by far-reaching decisions on that day.

DUBLIN MARKET TOLLS.

CATTLE EXPORTERS' REQUEST.

A question regarding the tolls charged at the Dublin Cattle Market was discussed last night at a meeting of the Irish Live-Stock Exporters' and Traders' Association.

Mr. R. J. Tuite, who raised the question, said that the tolls had been increased 300 per cent. since pre-war days. Considering that the cost of labour and the price of cattle had been greatly reduced in recent years, with a corresponding drop in profits, the tolls were far too high.

Mr. John Cassidy, President of the Association, said that the cost of living was now 70 per cent. more than it was in pre-war days, so that an increase of 300 per cent. was excessive.

Mr. C. D. Crowley proposed that the Dublin City Commissioners be asked to inquire into the matter with a view to having a reduction made. He added that in England and Scotland, where the tolls were much cheaper, better accommodation was provided.

Mr. Michael Bermingham, who presided, seconded the resolution, which was passed unanimously.

A resolution of sympathy with Mr. James Dwyer, T.D., on the death of his uncle, Mr. Timothy Dwyer, Roscrea, County Tipperary, was passed.

SCHNEIDER TROPHY.

SECRET FLIGHT OF NEW MACHINE.

At Calshot yesterday morning Squadron-Leader Orlebar, who is in command of the high-speed section which is to defend the Schneider Trophy, took out the Rolls-Royce S. 6. In going over the whole course, he reached, it is stated, a speed of nearly 320 miles per hour. When the machine was brought in it was found that the left float had been slighly dented, but the pilot was out again in the evening on the same machine, and he covered the course two or three times, the latter flight being witnessed by Air-Marshal Sir John Salmond.

All interest now is centred on the second type of machine which has been specially designed for the Air Ministry, the Gloster-Napier monoplane. A secret flight may be made to-day, and it is expected that the monoplane will be shown to a privileged party to-morrow, and then will make a public flight.

FRANCE WILL NOT COMPETE.

From Reuter's Correspondent.
PARIS, Wednesday.

The following announcement is made by the Air Ministry to-day:—

"France will not be represented in the Schneider Cup Competition, in conformity with the decision of M. Laurent Eynac, Minister of Air. The French machines under construction are quite good, but the short time available since they were commenced makes it impossible to finish the regular trials before the Schneider Cup. Under these conditions, the Minister has decided to have the trials continued before entrusting the machines to crews to attempt 'records' with them."

BRITISH TOURIST KILLED.

CHAR-A-BANC ACCIDENT IN FRANCE.

From Reuter's Correspondent.
ST. MALO, Wednesday.

Dr. Percy Woollatt, of Westcliff-on-Sea, has died in hospital from injuries received in a char-à-banc accident to-day on the St. Malo road between Cherrueur and St. Broladre. His wife and one daughter also were injured, and their condition gives rise to anxiety.

Miss Ruth Crook, Mrs. Woollatt's sister, has been detained in hospital.

The char-à-banc turned over whilst travelling from Dinard to Mont St. Michell with ten British tourists. Three of the other occupants are reported to have been injured.

MAYFAIR FLAT MYSTERY

DESCRIPTION OF ASSAILANT.

Scotland Yard officials yesterday continued investigations and search for the assailant of Mr. Philip Eaton, a wealthy young American found insensible in his flat in Mayfair, bleeding from severe wounds. He is on the danger list at St. George's Hospital, London, but recovered consciousness yesterday. He had lain unconscious for several hours before discovery, having been attacked with a knife or razor. Various articles and a large sum of money are missing from the flat. Detectives are waiting at Mr. Eaton's bedside for any information he may afford regarding his Monday night guest.

Scotland Yard authorities stated last night that the name of the man whom they want for causing grievous bodily harm in connection with the attack on Mr. Philip Eaton is Rowland Bateman.

THE "WANTED" MAN.

Scotland Yard yesterday issued the following statement:—

"Wanted, for causing grievous bodily harm, Rowland Bateman, aged 22, 5 feet 11 inches in height, complexion fresh, hair dark brown, eyes blue, scars on both knees; believed to be dressed in a dark jacket and trousers with grey stripes about an inch wide and a quarter of an inch apart, grey Trilby hat, possibly American make and style; brown brogue shoes, with possibly P.L.E. on tab. May have in his possession an expanding suit case about 30ins. in length, and believed initialled P.L.E. thereon. The case has a number of shipping labels attached.

"Bateman is believed to be in the company of Mr. J. Moore, aged 22, 5ft. 10½ins. in height, complexion sallow, hair dark brown, dressed in brown suit. The police are anxious to interview Mr. Moore in respect of the above case."

Mr. Eaton was stated last night to have relapsed into unconsciousness. He is still on the danger list.

GAMEKEEPERS FIRED ON.

EXCITEMENT ON TYRONE MOUNTAIN.

There was considerable excitement on a shooting mountain near the Tyrone-Fermanagh border, convenient to Trillick, on Tuesday, when an encounter took place between three poachers and a couple of gamekeepers, resulting in the last-named being fired upon and slightly wounded. The shooting rights of the mountain belong to Mr. J. R. Sproule, Fintona, who had gone on the mountain for the grouse shooting, accompanied by his men, McCusker and McGirr, and early in the day they observed the three poachers at work with guns and at least one dog. The gamekeepers proceeded towards the poachers, who bolted rapidly, and the chase proceeded for some distance, when one of the poachers turned round sharply, and discharged two shots at a distance of about eighty yards in the direction of their pursuers, wounding both about the hands. In the confusion the poachers made good their escape.

The affair was afterwards reported at Trillick Police Barracks and the police were very active in investigating the affair, and are hopeful of being able to apprehend the culprits.

FERMANAGH MOTORING ACCIDENT.

Yesterday Mr. Joseph Hassard, of Benmore, was struck by a motor cycle driven by Mr. William Ferguson of St. Catherine's, Derrygonnelly, who had his sister riding pillion. Hassard received a compound fracture of the leg, and was removed to hospital in Enniskillen. It appears that Hassard was preventing a cow from turning back as the cyclist was passing, and rushing across the road collided with the bicycle. The cyclist and his companion were unhurt.

COTTON PROSPECTS BRIGHTER.

OPERATIVES AND MASTERS TO MEET.

ARBITRATION MAY FOLLOW.

No time has been lost by the cotton employers in following up their decision of Tuesday last to accept the principle of arbitration as a means of settling the present wages dispute with the operatives. The end of the stoppage, now nearly four weeks old, may be said to be in sight. The Wages Committees of the two organisations of employers—the Federation of Master Cotton Spinners' Associations and the Cotton Spinners' and Manufacturers' Association—held a joint meeting yesterday, and decided to invite the operatives' representatives to meet them, with the object of agreeing on arbitration.

The decision was communicated at once to Sir Horace Wilson, the Ministry of Labour mediator, and arrangements have been made for the operatives' leaders to be at the Victoria Hotel, Manchester, the scene of the earlier conferences, this morning.

The employers' committees also decided that "there can be no question of reopening the mills until the terms of the proposed arbitration are mutually arranged."

The decisions were made known officially after the meeting.

POSITION DEFINED.

Mr. John Pogson, Secretary of the Master Cotton Spinners' Federation, said to a Press Association reporter:—"Separate and joint meetings of the Wages Committees of the Federation and of the Manufacturers' Association have been held, and the following decisions have been reached:—

"(1) That an invitation be issued to the operatives' associations to meet the employers' associations in joint conference, with the object of agreeing upon arbitration on the wages question, if the constitution of the Court of Arbitration and the terms of reference can be satisfactorily arranged.

"(2) That there can be no question of reopening the mills until the terms of the proposed arbitration are mutually arranged.

"These decisions have been communicated to Sir Horace Wilson, and I understand that arrangements have been made whereby the operatives' representatives will be in attendance at the Victoria Hotel, Manchester, this morning."

An invitation was sent by Sir Horace Wilson to representatives of the organisations of both sides to meet him at the hotel. All day the operatives' leaders had held themselves in readiness for such an invitation, and, though no official meetings were held, there was continual coming and going between the various offices.

One of the men who has been in close touch with the operatives throughout said last night that the position had been very much improved by the employers' decision. "There are still many points to be cleared up, but once the two sides get together again I do not think that there will be another breakdown," he said.

"Perhaps, it is too optimistic to say that the mills will be open on Monday, but there is no reason why they should keep closed any longer than is necessary now. A much better atmosphere will be created if the operatives are at work than if they are standing idle.

"It will be a much-welcomed gesture on the part of the employers if they can see their way to re-open at the old terms until the Arbitration Court—whatever its constitution—has given its decision. Although there may be some difficulties, the fact that Sir Horace Wilson has invited both sides to meet him shows, I think, that he intends to do his utmost to clear them away."

SIR H. WILSON AND CANADA.

With regard to Sir Horace Wilson's projected visit to Canada, the passage for which has been booked for to-morrow, it was explained yesterday that there should be no misconception about this. It has been made plain from the beginning that the Prime Minister and the Minister of Labour, with the concurrence of Mr. J. H. Thomas, wished him to remain in England until the cotton dispute was out of the way.

COMBATING SEPTICÆMIA

EXPERIMENTS WITH ULTRA-VIOLET RAYS.

Professor Leonard Hill and Dr. Albert Eidinow, of the National Institute for Medical Research at Hampstead, are collaborating in experiments which have as their end a method for increasing resistance to septicæmia.

These experiments have been very largely concentrated on the use of ultra-violet rays, an entirely new method.

Septicæmia, which is a very serious form of blood-poisoning, is caused by impure substances circulating in the blood. The condition is caused by wounds or by inflamed areas, especially in bones, joints and veins, which may be invaded by specially virulent bacteria. In very many cases it proves fatal.

Professor Leonard Hill, who is a director of the Department of Applied Physiology at the National Institute for Medical Research, has always advocated the use of light in the treatment of disease.

Dr. Eidinow has for seven years done considerable research work in light treatment. He is well known as a pioneer research worker in artificial sunlight treatment.

FASCISTS' ENGLISH HOSTAGE.

FATHER MAY APPEAL TO FOREIGN SECRETARY.

Mr. E. A. Cave, Principal of Harrow High School, whose daughter, wife of Signor Carlo Rosselli, is in an Italian prison in consequence of her husband's escape from Lipari, an island prison for political offenders, told a Press representative last night that if his daughter was not released he would ask the Foreign Secretary if he could intervene.

Signor Rosselli, who was Professor of Economics at Genoa University, was imprisoned by the Fascists for alleged complicity in the escape from Italy of Signor Turati, the Socialist leader. Three weeks ago Professor Rosselli, with two companions, escaped to Corsica and thence to France. He is now living in Paris. His wife and his brother were arrested apparently as hostages for the political good behaviour abroad of Signor Rosselli.

Signora Rosselli was taken to Aosta Prison, and because of her poor state of health was transferred to the prison hospital. Mr. Cave described the action of the Italian authorities as "barbarous and mediæval."

BABY AND NURSEMAID MISSING.

PARENTS FIND DESERTED PERAMBULATOR.

The Sheffield City Police are engaged in trying to trace a seventeen-year-old girl, Ellen Ward, whose home is at Cains road, Brighton, and Winifred Mary Evans, the eight months old child of Mr. and Mrs. John Evans, of London road, Sheffield. Mr. and Mrs. Evans went out together on Tuesday afternoon, and Ward, who is employed by them, was told to take the child out in a perambulator. When the parents of the child returned later in the afternoon they found the childs "pram" had been returned to the house, but that both the servant and the infant were missing.

ST. PATRICK'S HALL IN THE NEW AGE.

FREE STATE BANQUETING HALL.

(From a Special Correspondent.)

St. Patrick's Hall, in Dublin Castle, is to become the official banqueting hall of An Saorstat, according to an announcement in the Press this week. This latest change in the chequered history of this famous salon will not take place for some twelve months to come; in fact, not until the Law Courts are transferred to the restored Four Courts. The lack of such an apartment for State functions has long been felt, and no hall in Ireland's capital could compete in either dignity or richness of decoration with Saint Patrick's Hall.

At present this historic hall is occupied by the Library of the Bar Society of Ireland. Pewter ink pots abound, and barristers, both distinguished and otherwise, spend their days over dull, legal records, where once the Lords Lieutenant held levée. The magnificent parquet floor, which once reflected chandelier and satin slipper, is now veiled from sight, covered by a rubber floor cloth, stuck down with some adhesive solution!

THE BANNERS OF THE KNIGHTS.

Many of the rich tattered banners of the Knights of Saint Patrick still hang from the walls, but many also have been claimed by their owners; so that nothing but the skeleton banner bracket remains. In recent years some of the mural tablets recording the titles and achievements of past Knights of Saint Patrick have disappeared from the walls, how or whence no one knows. The musicians' gallery has been demolished, a dark mark on the wall alone remaining to tell of its existence.

The four richly-gilt Corinthian pillars and the gilded cornices still remain, although it is fifty years since they received their last application of gold leaf. On the ceiling one may still see the three frescoes executed by the Italian, Vincento Valdre, which date from the founding of the Order of the Knights of St. Patrick in 1783. The three frescoes represent St. Patrick preaching to the Irish, the Earl of Pembroke receiving the submission of the Irish chieftains in the reign of Henry II., and an allegorical painting of the Coronation of George III. Valdre also achieved fame in another direction. He was best man at a wedding at which the groom failed to materialise, whereupon he offered himself as a substitute, and was accepted!

FIFTY YEARS AGO.

St. Patrick's Hall receives its name from a viceregal proclamation in 1873, which begins: "Whereas His Majesty hath signified his Royal pleasure that the Great Ball Room in His Majesty's Castle, in which the ceremony of the investiture of the Knights of the Most Illustrious Order of St. Patrick shall be performed, shall receive from thence forward the honorable denomination of the Hall of St. Patrick, and shall always be distinguished by that name."

INVESTITURE.

The investiture of the Knights of St. Patrick concluded with the bestowal of the Order, the formula commencing: "Sir, the loving company of the Order of St. Patrick hath received you their Brother, Lover and Fellow." The robes of the Knights were carefully prescribed by Royal proclamation as follows: "And, as touching the habits of the Knights Companions of Our Most Illustrious Order, the mantles shall be of sky-blue sattin, lined with a white silk, having on the left shoulder a hood of blue sattin, lined also with white silk, and the said Mantle shall be tied with two strings of blue silk, mixed with gold; their shoes shall be of white leather with knots of crimson ribband; the belt of their sword shall be of crimson sattin, and they shall have a handle gilt, and a scabbard of crimson velvet."

"And our said Knights Companion shall each of them wear a round hat covered with white silk lined with blue . . . . . . surmounted with three falls of Ostrich feathers, red, blue and white; round the hat shall be a band of crimson sattin embroidered after the fashion of the great Collar of the Order."

HERALDIC GLORIES.

The proclamation winds up with a paragraph which should find great favour with many of our politicians of to-day: "And lastly, we will and direct that the Mantles, Habits and Vestments above-ordained, shall be of those manufactures known by the description of sattins and silks wrought within our Realm of Ireland."

The Knights of Saint Patrick are no longer adding to their number. In process of time they must become extinct. Their Swords, Helmets and Banners will disappear gradually from Saint Patrick's Hall. Its ancient Heraldic glory will depart. Time alone will show whether we must cry "Ichabod, Ichabod," or recognise that this historic hall has taken on a new lease of life under the new régime in Ireland.

THE CHANNEL SWIM.

MISS GILHEAD'S EFFORT FAILS.

At five minutes past two yesterday morning Miss Connie Gilhead, a London girl, aged 22, left Cape Grisnez in an attempt to swim the Channel. With her she carried the following message from the Mayor of Calais to the Lord Mayor of London:—"To the Right Honourable the Lord Mayor of London—Please accept through this gracious cross-Channel messenger, Miss Connie Gilhead, my earnest wishes for the continuance of friendly relations between our two countries and for the prosperity of the City of London. To you, my Lord Mayor, I offer my most respectful salutations.—(Signed), Leon Vincent, Mayor of Calais."

After a fine attempt Miss Gilhead found the wind too strong for her, and eight miles off the South Foreland she had to give up, and was helped into the launch, La Morinie, and returned to Boulogne.

HER TRAINER'S COMMENTS.

Mr. Jabez Wolffe, her trainer, who chose her out of three hundred applicants for training, spoke to a Press representative in the highest terms of her wonderful physique and general fitness. "She has," he said, "tremendous powers of endurance and pluck." Her training for the Channel swim was very strenuous. She gave up smoking and pretty frocks and silk stockings, and wore only a rough sweater and a tweed skirt

U.S. MARKETS.

STOCKS CLOSE HEAVY.

Reuter's Telegrams.
NEW YORK, Wednesday.

Stocks opened firm. The bull movement which has been under way in some high-priced Industrials and Rails since last Friday's break slowed up, despite a further relaxation in credit conditions, call money renewing at 7 per cent., and later declining to 6 per cent. Final prices revealed considerable irregularity owing to heavy selling on fears of another large increase in brokers' loans, together with cautionary commission house advices and bear pressure, on the theory that the rise in many stocks already had over-discounted the expected benefits from rumoured re-capitalisation plans. Although the list reached a high pitch of buoyancy at intervals, United States Steel reaching 245, General Electric 399, Westinghouse Electric 250, New York Consolidated Gas 171¼, and American Can 170½—all touching "record"—the market was unable to assimilate the late selling, which erased much of the extreme advances. Hocking Valley soared 45 points, Laclede Gas 12, and Westinghouse Electric, Chesapeake and Ohio, American Can, Auburn Auto, New York Consolidated Gas, Johns Manville, and Houston Oil 4 to 8; but New York and Harlem declined 15, Union Pacific 9, A. M. Byers 10, and American Tobacco, Electric Auto-Lite, Delaware and Hudson, Goodyear Tire, and Commercial Solvents 4 to 7 points. The close was heavy. Government Bonds firm; Railroad Bonds firm. The day's sales totalled 4,193,000 shares.

WHEAT at the opening was barely steady, ½c. to 1½c. down. Early declines were influenced by the weakness of Liverpool and a bearish official carry-over estimated for the season of 104,426,000 bushels. A sharp rally followed owing to advices of frost from many points in Manitoba, coupled with some export business in Manitoba wheat and buying by European houses. The market closed firm at advances ranging from 2⅛c. to 2⅜c. Opening options—Oct., 152; Dec., 148¼; May, 155. Closing options—Oct., 154⅝; Dec., 151⅝; May, 158⅜. Rye firm, ½c. to 1½c. up. NEW YORK COTTON.

COTTON opened steady, but 10 to 8 points lower, due to lower cables and Southern selling. The market afterwards rallied owing to the bullish features in the weekly weather report, which, however, have been generally discounted, but the advance attracted liquidation on private advices of rain in the South-West. The close was steady, with old contracts 13 to 15 and Southern contracts 18 to 11 points down. Spot quiet at 15 points loss. The Washington Census Bureau report on the consumption of cotton during July will probably be issued to-morrow. At New Orleans the futures market opened with Oct. 5 points lower. At 11.45 Oct. was quoted 18.19 and Dec. 18.38, while around 1.45 Oct. reached 18.11 and Dec. 18.35. At the close values were 15 to 12 points down. Spot declined 14 points.

CHICAGO MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Wednesday.

WHEAT opened easy and 1¼c. to ⅝c. lower, due to an increase of a million bushels in the stocks at Minneapolis, and selling by North West houses. The market rallied sharply afterwards owing to large flour sales overnight and a further export demand for hard winter, together with advices that United States wheats have been offered abroad at a small discount to compete with Argentine offerings. The close was firm, with futures 2¼ to 2¾c. up.

CLONTARF OPEN SEA HANDICAP.

The annual half-mile handicap race of the Clontarf Club for the Peace Cup was held on Tuesday night in threatening weather. Last year the course for this race was changed, and the event was held from the baths to the Clontarf Yacht and Boat Club slip. The innovation was so successful that it was repeated this year, and it is likely that this course will be the permanent one for this race in future. The race was won by K. O'Grady, who had a handicap of 3 mins. 40 secs. from the scratchmen, W. M. Maguire and P. J. Lavery. J. O'Brien (2 mins. 40 secs.) was a good second, and T. P. Walsh (1 min. 40 secs.) was third. The unplaced starters were:—C. Grier, W. F. Case, O'S. Roche, P. J. Lavery, W. M. Maguire, H. Lightfoot, J. V. Glass, J. Sheehan, J. Rickard, and C. Archer. The winner's time was 16 mins. 45 secs.

DUBLIN S.C.

Ladies—To-night at 6 p.m. sharp—50 Metres Handicap and Diving Handicap. Men—To-night at 6.30 sharp—200 Yards Handicap (Mr. Lewis Beatty's prize).

ASSOCIATION.

OLD INTERNATIONAL DEAD.

Richard Baugh, once of Wolverhampton Wanderers, died at Wolverhampton yesterday, aged 66. Baugh was twice "capped" for England against Ireland, in 1886 and in 1890, and was a member of the Wanderers team which beat Everton in the F.A. Cup final in 1893.

CHESS.

CARLSBAD TOURNAMENT.

Last week's play among the international masters left Spielmann with a distinct lead, and it seems unlikely that he will be overtaken by either of the players who are anxious to meet the world's champion, Dr. Alekhine, at the earliest opportunity. These are Capablanca and Bogoljubow.

At the close of the eighth round Spielmann had a total of 7½ points—two points beyond his nearest rival. The complete details of that round are not yet to hand, several games having been adjourned. The position after seven rounds stood as follows:—Spielmann, 6½; Euwe, 5, Canal, Niemzowitsch and Rubinstein, 4; Gruenfeld, Johner, Mattison and Vidmar, 3½; Becker, Bogoljubow, Gilg, Saemisch and Tartakower, 3; Maroczy, Marshall and Yates, 2½; Colle and Thomas, 2; Treybal, 1½; Miss Menschik, 1.

Adjourned games left an opportunity for an increased score to Rubinstein, Gruenfeld, Mattison, Vidmar, Becker, Bogoljubow, Saemisch, Maroczy, Yates, Colle and Treybal. The last-named had two adjourned games. Miss Menschik's many admirers will be interested to learn that on Monday her game against Gruenfeld was adjourned on the 110th move.

BILLIARDS.

LINDRUM'S BIG LEAD.

SYDNEY, Wednesday.

Walter Lindrum had much the better of to-day's play in his time-limit match against Willie Smith, and at the adjournment this evening he had increased his overnight lead of 312 to 1,423. In the afternoon he aggregated 1,388 to Smith's 596, his principal breaks being 318, 448, 282 and 202 (unfinished); while the Englishman, after taking his overnight break of 200 to 544, failed to reach three figures again during the session. Smith was again in indifferent form in the evening, his chief runs being 178, 141, and 124, against his opponent's 219 (full), 153 and 583. In his run of 583 Lindrum made sequences of nursery cannons and losing hazards; but never seemed to hold command at the top of the table. Closing scores:—Lindrum, 6,276; Smith (in play), 4,853.

AUSTRALIAN PLAYERS FOR ENGLAND.

Walter Lindrum and Clark McConachy, the Australian billiards players, will sail for England on September 10, in company with Willie Smith, the Englishman, who has been touring Australia. "Lindrum and McConachy have entered into a contract with us covering the whole of the season," Mr. W. T. Rainbow, of Burroughes and Watts, told a Press Association reporter yesterday: "For next season we have the material for what should be the greatest season in the history of English billiards."

CLONTARF OPEN SEA HANDICAP.

The annual half-mile handicap race of the Clontarf Club for the Pearce Cup was held on Tuesday night in threatening weather. Last year the course for this race was changed, and the event was held from the baths to the Clontarf Yacht and Boat Club slip. The innovation was so successful that it was repeated this year, and it is likely that this course will be the permanent one for this race in future. The race was won by K. O'Grady, who had a handicap of 3 mins. 40 secs. from the scratchmen, W. M. Maguire and P. J. Lavery. J. O'Brien (2 mins. 40 secs.) was a good second, and T. P. Walsh (1 min. 40 secs.) was third. The unplaced starters were:—C. Grier, W. F. Case, O'S. Roche, P. J. Lavery, W. M. Maguire, H. Lightfoot, J. V. Glass, J. Sheehan, J. Rickard, and C. Archer. The winner's time was 16 mins. 45 secs.

ASSOCIATION.

OLD INTERNATIONAL DEAD.

Richard Baugh, once of Wolverhampton Wanderers, died at Wolverhampton yesterday, aged 65. Baugh was twice "capped" for England against Ireland, in 1886 and in 1890, and was a member of the Wanderers team which beat Everton in the F.A. Cup final in 1893.

CHESS.

CARLSBAD TOURNAMENT.

Last week's play among the international masters left Spielmann with a distinct lead, and it seems unlikely that he will be overtaken by either of the players who are anxious to meet the world's champion, Dr. Alekhine, at the earliest opportunity. These are Capablanca and Bogoljubow.

At the close of the eighth round Spielmann had a total of 7½ points—two points beyond his nearest rival. The complete details of that round are not yet to hand, several games having been adjourned. The position after seven rounds stood as follows:—Spielmann, 6½; Euwe, 5; Canal, Niemzowitsch and Rubinstein, 4; Gruenfeld, Johner, Mattison and Vidmar, 3½; Becker, Bogoljubow, Gilg, Soemisch and Tartakower, 3; Marocsy, Marshall and Yates, 2½; Colle and Thomas, 2, Ireybal, 1½; Miss Menschik, 1.

Adjourned games left an opportunity for an increased score to Rubinstein, Gruenfeld, Mattison, Vidmar, Becker, Bogoljubow, Soemisch, Marocsy, Yates, Colle and Ireyfal. The last-named had two adjourned games. Miss Menschik's many admirers will be interested to learn that on Monday her game against Gruenfeld was adjourned on the 110th move.

BILLIARDS.

LINDRUM'S BIG LEAD.

SYDNEY, Wednesday.

Walter Lindrum had much the better of to-day's play in his time-limit match against Willie Smith, and at the adjournment this evening he had increased his overnight lead of 312 to 1,495. In the afternoon he aggregated 1,356 to Smith's 596, his principal breaks being 318, 448, 289 and 202 (unfinished); while the Englishman, after taking his overnight break of 200 to 544, failed to reach three figures again during the session. Smith was again in indifferent form in the evening, his chief runs being 176, 141, and 124, against his opponent's 219 (full), 153 and 583. In his run of 583 Lindrum made sequences of nursery cannons and losing hazards; but never seemed to hold command at the top of the table. Closing scores:—Lindrum, 6,276; Smith (in play), 4,853.

AUSTRALIAN PLAYERS FOR ENGLAND.

Walter Lindrum and Clark McConachy, the Australian billiards players, will sail for England on September 10, in company with Willie Smith, the Englishman, who has been touring Australia. "Lindrum and McConachy have entered into a contract with us covering the whole of the season," Mr. W. T. Rainbow, of Burroughes and Watts, told a Press Association reporter yesterday. "For next season we have the material for what should be the greatest season in the history of English billiards."

COMBINED PURCHASE SYSTEM.

PROTEST IN LIMERICK.

At the Limerick Mental Hospital yesterday, Alderman Bourke, T.D., Chairman, presiding, a letter was read from the Local Government Department stating that when the Committee decided on purchasing supplies for the institution full particulars should be given of those who voted for and against the resolution when the contractors were not on the combined purchasing list.

The Resident Medical Superintendent said that previously the storekeeper had power to purchase small quantities of leather, etc., but was deprived of such power now by a recent communication.

The Mayor said that it was very unfair to Limerick traders. The Limerick Gas Committee was not allowed to sell tar to the Corporation, and was forced to purchase from a Liverpool firm who were on the Government's combined list.

Mr. Fahy proposed a resolution calling on all public boards to protest against the system of combined purchasing.

Mr. John McCormack seconded. In preparing the County Council estimates, he said, they were surprised to find an item of £170 a year for the services of the combined purchaser. There was £25,000 spent through the Limerick Asylum, and he considered that it was very unfair not to allow the Limerick taxpayers, who were contributing the rates for its upkeep, to tender.

The resolution was adopted.

Wexford Corporation has appointed Alderman T. Rossiter and Mr. J. Gaul to attend the Conference of the Association of Irish Municipal Authorities to be held in Cork on September 10 and 11.

SUNNY TRACE'S CANTER.

BLUE HAZE SPRINGS A SURPRISE.

FAILURE OF FANATIST.

FROM OUR TRAVELLING CORRESPONDENT.

KEMPTON, Wednesday Night.

Who would have dreamt fourteen months ago when Lord Dewar's Sunny Trace was just about favourite for the Derby that today he would be winning a modest apprentices' plate stakes, and that he would be returned at such a price as 5 to 1. Yet this was the offer at the off against this most disappointing colt, who has failed in weight for age races, failed in handicaps and failed in hurdle races, while 6 to 4 was taken about the consistent little colt, Merry Miller; and Xenophone, who was beaten in a selling race at Goodwood, was at a much shorter price than Sunny Trace. In the upshot, Sunny Trace, ridden by the little-known boy, Heavey, won in a canter by six lengths from Merry Miller.

The weather still kept fine for this meeting, where the start was made at three o'clock, and where the racing was fairly good. There was one disappointment. That was when Fanatist, the colt by Fantomas, whom Mr. S. B. Joel bought in Ireland not long ago, failed to reach a place in the International Plate. He had won so easily at Goodwood that it seemed to be taking no great risk to lay odds on him, especially as he was one of the best drawn of the ten runners. Things seemed more rosy still when he jumped off in front and led the field on the rails.

A NEGLIGIBLE QUANTITY.

Then suddenly a furlong from home he stopped, and, from looking an easy winner, he became a negligible quantity. I do not say that he turned it up, or anything of that kind—he simply stopped almost to a canter, and was beaten in a few strides. This certainly was not the same colt we saw at Goodwood, and it must be left at that.

This was an interesting race, which the 20 to 1 chance, Sir J. Jardine's Blue Haze, won by a neck and a short head from Roral and Sharp's Express, the last-named a promising novice, who ran a trifle green and had to be switched here and there to get through. Blue Haze had been well beaten at Goodwood, and here he was slowly away from the gate, and both he and Roral were left with a good deal of ground to make up. They overhauled the others, and the son of Buchan won cleverly, Trelawne finishing fourth.

Bachelora, a Bachelor's Double filly, bred by Mrs. W. W. Bailey, who cost Mr. Esmond Harmsworth a large sum at Doncaster last year, and was making a first appearance here, was very badly away.

After Gallant Kid, a Prince Galahad filly, owned by Mrs. Arthur Bendir, had won the first race, the Feltham Selling Plate, by a short head from Steerforth, H. Wragg, who rode the second, lodged an objection to the winner for boring. This was quickly overruled by the Stewards, who took away the protesting jockey's deposit of £10.

PUTTENDEN PROGENY.

Puttenden must have been one of the slowest horses ever begotten by The Tetrarch, but since he has been at the stud of Sir Charles Pulley he has been getting some winners, and one of them, a chestnut filly out of Southern Star, ran away with the Vauxhall Selling Plate, which she won by three lengths and the same from Blot Out and the Arch Gift gelding, Coq-a-l'Ane.

The Stanley House trainer, Frank Butters, won the Greenwood Plate, the principal handicap of the day, even though it only brought the owner of the winner, Lord Derby, £268, with Candlemas. He has run some moderate races, as at Liverpool last month, but he was far too good for the others here, and, taking the lead in the straight, after the original leaders, Shovelstrode and Lone Knight, were beaten, he won by four lengths from the Achtoi gelding Peertoi. Moontoy remained last until they came into the straight, but he made up enough ground to finish within half a length of the second.

The Bedfont Plate, a seven furlong handicap, was won by The Factor, who had two heads to spare from Don Pat (giving 18 lbs.) and Yearly (giving 19 lbs.). The Factor, who is five years old, may not be of much account, but his trainer, W. Walters, has inexhaustible patience with horses, and there are few that pass through his hands with which he does not win a race of some sort.

SELECTIONS.

SARGO ran so well when second to Ann Hathaway in the Molyneux Cup at Liverpool that I must take her to beat the rest of the field in the Princess Plate here to-morrow, although she has top weight. Then there is GALHAMPTON, who made Press Gang go all out at Goodwood. He looks like winning the Maiden Plate.

West Wicklow will be carrying top weight in the Round Course Handicap, as Cap-á-Pie has been struck out, and, though he ran well in the Goodwood Stakes, he may not beat VOLTERO.

GALTEE MORE.

SPORTING GOSSIP

Major Blennerhassett Indisposed.

Major Blennerhassett, senior official starter to the Turf Club and the Irish National Hunt Steeplechase Committee, is indisposed, and has been ordered a rest by his medical adviser. He will, therefore, not officiate at any Irish meeting for the present.

Objection Overruled.

After the Feltham Selling Plate at Kempton Park yesterday, H. Wragg, the rider of Steerforth, objected to Gallant Kid, the winner, on the grounds of boring. After hearing the evidence, the Stewards—Major T. H. Fetherstonhaugh, Captain M. Weyland and the Hon. T. Egerton—over-ruled the objection, and ordered the £10 deposit to be forfeited.

Firmament Changes Hands.

Firmament, 5 years, by Planet—Felkington, was sold privately, with his engagement prior to the Bedfont Plate at Kempton Park, to Mr. G. Bushell, in whose name and colours he ran. It was his last appearance in England, and he will be shipped to Chili on August 27th.

Fillies for the Stud.

Sister Anne, a three-year-old filly, by Son-in-Law out of Dutch Mary, and Golden Silence, a three-year-old filly, by Swynford out of Molly Desmond, have left V. Gilpin's training establishment at Newmarket for the stud in Ireland.

FETHERSTONHAUGH'S Partoi went a like journey at a good pace; Holestone and others of the team were usefully employed.

GRUNDY'S Glentomas, Soldanel, Tullahoma and the two-year-olds took matters easy.

HUNTER'S Stormproof and the two-year-olds cantered five furlongs.

HARTIGAN'S Shrewd King went a mile and a half at a nice pace. Mulligatawny, Missanna, Tullovin and the two-year-olds were usefully employed.

PARKINSON'S Crafty Captain and Billy Kelly traversed a mile. The two-year-olds went five furlongs sharply.

TRAMORE.

BIG CROWD AND BRISK RACING.

MUSTARD CLUB AGAIN.

The popular Tramore meeting was begun yesterday in pleasant weather, the attendance being above the average for an opening afternoon. Runners, as expected, were more numerous than usual, and the sport proved quite interesting. Betty R., who won the Strand Hurdle Race, will be better known to racegoers as Dermot's Pet, her former name, and who, when bearing such, ran several times very prominently. Her American owner is spending a sporting holiday in Ireland. Princess Tag was beaten at half-way, and subsequently the winner was always going best.

The much-fancied Miss Hilda might have won the Moderate Plate but for being badly placed in the last half mile. Royal Ace had taken up the running at the start, and Canty, having the inside position, eventualy secured the verdict by a length and a half from the favourite.

The race for the Stayers' Steeplechase was one of the best of the afternoon. Sirreus did not appear to be much fancied, and the market was concerned at the finish only with Susiewusie, Sanders and Sky Fruit. The latter fell at half-way, and, after Susiewusie had cut a bold figure in the race until two fences out, she was passed by Sanders, who had been in the rear for most of the journey, and who, shaking off the challenge of Gipsy Ina from the last fence, won very comfortably. Sirreus did not appear to relish the course, but finished third in front of Susiewusie. Lare jumped badly and was last a mile from home, but finished in front of Bachelor Conway.

MUSTARD CLUB AGAIN.

Only three contested the Doneraile Handicap, and Shanford quite failed to concede 14lb. to the penalised Mustard Club, who has been showing such improved form since changing stables. Of the half-dozen runners for the Summer Maiden Plate the two most neglected in the market were Opalia and Bandon Bus. They finished first and second, Opalia winning by two lengths from Mrs. Dawson's four-year-old. The winner was making her first appearance on a racecourse, and had a good deal in hand at the winning post. She is a daughter of Loch Lomond, out of Benedictine, and, therefore, a half-sister to Blancona.

The success of the locally-owned and trained Kilbronan Lass in the race for the Widger Memorial Cup created a great deal of enthusiasm. Waitress looked a good thing for the race, but fell at half-way, and on being remounted could only finish fourth. Righ Maurice also same down, and Kilbronan Lass, finishing too strongly for Galateen, won the trophy for Miss Phelan. Details:—

INTERNATIONAL RACE.

AMERICAN JOCKEY CLUB'S PROPOSAL.

The American National Jockey Club are proposing to institute a great international race at Arlington Park next July, if they can get the co-operation of the leading sportsmen of Great Britain and the Continent. The proposed race will be modelled on the Ascot Gold Cup which is recognised the world over as the supreme test of those qualities for which the thoroughbred is famous, and will have an added value of one hundred thousand dollars. The entry of the great American horse, Reigh Count, who finished second to Invershin in the Ascot Gold Cup, is pledged in advance.

Invitations have been issued to Mr. J. Reid Walker, owner of Invershin; Baron Edouard de Rothschild, who formerly owned Cacao, the winner of the Prix Royal Oak—the French St. Leger—but who has since sold the colt to Lord Woolavington; and M. Jacques Wittouck, owner of Palais Royal II., who won the Cambridgeshire last year. In order to give further interest to the proposed contest, Mr. and Mrs Hertz have offered to augment the stake by an additional one hundred thousand dollars if Invershin is a challenger.

Unfortunately, the absence of Invershin is certain, as the horse, who is now seven years old, has won the Ascot Gold Cup twice, and has been definitely retired to the stud. In declining the challenge, Mr. J. Reid Walker, who is a member of the Jockey Club, wrote to the American National Jockey Club, stating: "I very much appreciate your kind invitation to run Invershin for the very handsome stakes which the American Jockey Club have offered for the competition, but I much regret to state that I am unable to nominate Invershin, as I decided after Ascot that he should go to the stud, and a large number of subscriptions have already been booked to him."

MISHAP TO TIFFIN.

UNBEATEN FILLY UNLIKELY TO RUN AGAIN.

Mr. Fred Darling, the Beckhampton trainer, stated at Kempton Park yesterday that Lord Ellesmere's unbeaten filly, Tiffin, recently got loose at exercise and severely injured her knee. In consequence of this mishap it is unlikely that she will be able to run again, and she will probably be sent to the stud forthwith. Tiffin, possibly the fastest horse in Great Britain, is a three-year-old filly by Tetratema out of Dawn Wind, and was bred by Sir John Rutherford. She was sold as a foal to Lord Ellesmere for 1,100 guineas.

She has won for him £16,516 in stakes, her successes comprising the Wilbraham Stakes at Newmarket, the National Breeders' Produce Stakes at Sandown Park, the Ham Stakes at Goodwood, the Convivial Plate at York, and the Cheveley Park Stakes at Newmarket last season, and the Fern Hill Stakes at Ascot, the July Cup at Newmarket and the King George Stakes at Goodwood this season.

KEMPTON PARK :

PROBABLE START AND BETTING.

GALHAMPTON FOR THE MAIDEN PLATE.

SELECTIONS.

A year ago The Black Abbot made an impressive début by winning the Maiden Plate, which is the chief item on to-day's card at Kempton Park. Some smart youngsters will be seen out for this event, although it is unlikely that either Burnley Belle or Goodwood Park will compete. Sister Clover is another probable absentee, and in her absence the best may be Paradine, Silver Mount, Elfin, Liar and Galhampton. I have no great liking for Paradine, and although Elfin ran quite well behind Sister Clover and Hakem at Goodwood, she will not carry my vote here. Liar has only had one outing in public, and was by no means disgraced when fifth to Casserole at Newmarket. I expect her to give a greatly improved display and take a lot of beating. Silver Mount has run well in her only two races, but here meets Paradine on 10lb. worse terms than at Hurst Park. Galhampton makes as much appeal to me as any other. He gave Press Gang a good race at Goodwood, and only just missed a place in the Champagne Stakes. There may not be much to choose between Liar and Galhampton, but I intend to take sides with the last-named.

PRINCESS PLATE.

The Princess Plate will attract some useful sprinters. Top weight will be carried by Sargo, with Tutbury and Tetranella each in receipt of 1lb. Basra missed a race at Folkestone earlier in the week, and will have plenty of followers here. Tutbury will be dangerous, and Lu and Trovatore are entitled to respect. My vote goes to Tetranella, who has won three of her five races this year, and may add to these successes.

The Round Course Plate, decided over two miles, will take a bit of winning. Ponorogo will stay the distance all right, but I shall take sides with Dazzler, who may have most to fear from West Wicklow.

HOW THE "TOTE" WORKS.

THE ROBOT BOOKMAKER.

Inside a great brick building on Folkestone racecourse, in which the only sound was the chink of money, I watched ten thousand pounds changing hands, writes a Press Association reporter.

I was inside the "tote"—the first member of the public to see how this huge Robot-bookmaker works. When the small white door closed behind me all the atmosphere of the racecourse vanished. It was like being in the control room of a giant battleship.

In the centre of the room stood the "commander," a quiet-voiced expert entirely responsible for the manner in which thousands of pounds passed through the machinery. A hundred capable men worked at lightning pace within the building. From without it had seemed as though the "tote" worked of its own accord. Along one side of the room, which was painted entirely in white, were forty or so of the "tote's" staff to take the money as bets were placed and to hand out tickets recording them. Each stood at a tiny pigeon-hole to receive bets on horses whose numbers were placarded outside their section of the building.

BUSINESS BEGINS.

"Open up," said the commander, and swiftly in unison forty pigeon-holes were open, and betting began.

A woman was the first to place a bet. From within a small hand holding a two-shilling piece was all that could be seen of the backer. "Number 11." Silently a ticket bearing the number of the horse and race was passed through the pigeon-hole, and the two shillings dropped with a ring into a slotted till in front of the young man. In a few moments heavy betting was in full swing, and hundreds of pounds were pouring in through the little pigeon-holes.

Every five minutes "readers," highly trained mathematicians, walked down the room learning how much had been taken by each, so that the amounts placed on every horse could be shown on the electrically-controlled board outside. Apart from the stakes made by backers ignorant of the "tote," everything ran smoothly.

"May I have this on the favourite?" asked a woman who had not inquired the number of the horse she wished to back.

"No. 15, further along, please, she was told.

QUESTIONS THEY ASK

"What price No. 6?" one man wanted to know. He was told politely that the "tote" gave prices only when the dividend had been worked out, but that he could see on the board that the horse was a hot favourite.

"What do you think is going to win?" was the request of an elderly woman.

Several people wanted to know where the refreshment room was, and there were other requests which would have puzzled a travel guide. There was the tinkle of a telephone bell, and the "Commander" was speaking to an official at the starting gate.

"One minute to go," he shouted. The minute passed. "Close down!" Simultaneously the pigeon-holes were closed, and faintly we heard, "They're off."

Men rushed to and fro in the control room. At one end of the building the amounts taken were added up, together with figures which had come by special telegraph machines from Tote buildings in other enclosures.

In three minutes the work was done. "Open up; pay out," and on the other side of the room pigeon-holes were opened and thousands of pounds passed to new owners.

Six times this was repeated, and all the while only the chink of coins was heard. Then, with a bang, the last pigeon-hole closed. The Tote's work was over for the day. Ten thousand pounds had changed hands.

GREYHOUND RACING.

BOXING.

TOM HEENEY'S RETURN TO THE RING.

NEW YORK, Wednesday.

Tom Heeney, the New Zealand heavy-weight, who has been out of the ring for some time owing to a series of minor ailments, is reported to be in splendid condition for his ten-round contest to-night against Victorio Campolo, the giant Argentinian, at Ebbetsfield. He has not appeared in a fistic arena in New York since his historic encounter with Tunney for the world's title at the Yankee Stadium over a year ago. The fight should afford a good test of the relative advantages of strength and stamina against length of reach. In regard to reach, Campolo, who can stretch his arms 86 inches apart, has an advantage of ten inches over his opponent. Campolo has only had one previous fight in New York, when he obtained the verdict over the Italian heavy-weight, Arthur de Kuh, on a foul, after a rather scrambling encounter. The betting on the bout is slightly in favour of Heeney.

ANOTHER WIN FOR YOUNG SIKI.

MELBOURNE, Wednesday.

Young Siki, the English fly-weight, beat Roy Baker, of Sydney, on points in a 15-rounds bout here to-night. Siki gave a fine exhibition, his clever evasion of his opponent's blows being a feature of the bout. Baker occasionally connected with rights to the head, but the Englishman scored frequently with straight lefts, and also had the better of the in-fighting. Siki weighed 7st. 13½ lbs., and Baker 7 st. 12½ lbs.

LEN HARVEY AND JACK HOOD.

It is likely that a Middle-Weight Championship match between Len Harvey, the holder, and Jack Hood, the welter-weight title-holder, will be definitely fixed during the next few days. Hood went from Birmingham to London yesterday to open negotiations

EASTCOTT TEAM WINS PRACTICE GAME.

NEW YORK, Wednesday.

Mr. E. W. Hopping's Anglo-American Eastcott polo team made its debut on American soil here yesterday by beating a picked Roslyn quartette by 11 goals to 4 in a practice game. Captain C. H. Tremayne has not yet arrived from England, and A. C. Schwartz, an American player, acted as substitute for him in the Eastcott four, which consisted of Cecil Balding, E. W. Hopping, Wing-Commander P. K. Wise and A. C. Schwartz (back). Wise hit very well at times and greatly impressed the Americans, his back-hand strokes on several occasions being most spectacular. Balding, who scored 5 goals, also created an excellent impression, his hitting being, perhaps, the best feature of the game. The team has come to this country to take part in the National Open Championship, which takes place at Meadowbrook next month.

ATHY COURTHOUSE.

At a meeting of the Kildare County Council the Secretary announced that the balance of payment was due to the contractor in respect of the erection of Athy Courthouse.

Mr. G. Henderson added that he recently inspected the building, and had come to the conclusion that if they asked a judge to sit in it the whole Council would be committed for contempt of Court. It was the most jerry-built affair he had ever witnessed.

Mr. Osborne, solicitor, suggested that payment should be made. The plans were

K. Wise and A. C. Schwartz (back). Wise hit very well at times and greatly impressed the Americans, his back-hand strokes on several occasions being most spectacular. Balding, who scored 5 goals, also created an excellent impression, his hitting being, perhaps, the best feature of the game. The t... n has come to this country to take part in the National Open Championship, which takes place at Meadowbrook next month.

ATHY COURTHOUSE.

At a meeting of the Kildare County Council the Secretary announced that the balance of payment was due to the contractor in respect of the erection of Athy Courthouse.

Mr. G. Henderson added that he recently inspected the building, and had come to the conclusion that if they asked a judge to sit in it the whole Council would be committed for contempt of Court. It was the most jerry-built affair he had ever witnessed.

Mr. Osborne, solicitor, suggested that payment should be made. The plans were approved by the Ministry, and the Council could do nothing in the circumstances.

It was decided to defer payment, pending a report from the County Surveyor as to whether the defects, as stated by Mr. Henderson, are well-founded.

MESSRS. HOLDEN'S AUCTION.

At the salerooms, 2 Saint Andrew street, yesterday, Messrs. Holden sold the city residence, No. 4 Upper Leeson street, after good competition. No. 16 Connaught street, Phibsborough, which was advertised for sale at the same auction was not offered, as it had been previously sold by private treaty.

VACATION LAW SITTINGS.

WORK IN A FACTORY.

HOTEL-KEEPER'S COMPLAINT.

In the High Court, Dublin Castle, yesterday, before Mr. Justice Johnston, sitting as Vacation Judge, an application was made by Mr. J. M. Fitzgerald, K.C. (instructed by Messrs. Scallan and Co.) for an injunction pending the trial of the action in the case of Mrs. Nora Duff, proprietress of Power's Hotel, Kildare street, Dublin, against the Mineral Waters Distributors, Ltd., to prevent them from causing annoyance to the inhabitants of the hotel, and to visitors, by the operations in the defendants' factory, which is situated at the rear of the hotel. The complaint was that the work in the factory was carried on as late as midnight, and that the jingling of bottles and other noises were the cause of great inconvenience to the visitors.

Mr. Dockrell, K.C. (instructed by Messrs. Whitney, Moore and Keller), for the defendants, denied that the working of the factory caused any inconvenience to the people in the hotel. Pending the trial of the action, however, he agreed to the suggestion that work might be carried on up to 8 o'clock, and not later, and an order to that effect was made by the judge, without prejudice to the trial of the action.

'BUS COMPANY'S POSITION.

PROPOSAL TO PAY A COMPOSITION.

In the matter of the Companies Acts and the Contemptible 'Bus Company, an application was made to Mr. Justice Johnston yesterday by Mr. C. S. Campbell (instructed by Mr. Gerald Byrne) for an order that the company be at liberty to call a meeting of their unsecured creditors for the purpose of laying before them a proposal to pay a composition of 3s. 6d. in the £.

The judge made an order that the meeting should be held on August 28th, directed that advertisements of the meeting should be published in the two Dublin morning papers, and that Mr. Maurice Stokes, accountant, be appointed chairman of the meeting, and, failing him, that Mr. Samuel Green be appointed chairman.

MEATH FARMER'S WILL.

CONSENT MADE A RULE OF COURT.

In a probate action, in which Francis Loughran, of Riverstown, Kilmessan, Co. Meath, was plaintiff, and R. J. Murray, of Balgeath, Kilmessan, farmer, was defendant, Mr. E. J. Kelly (instructed by Mr. Ambrose Steen) applied ex parte on behalf of the plaintiff to have a consent made a rule of Court.

The action, said counsel, was brought to establish the will of Patrick Loughran, farmer, late of Riverstown, Kilmessan, deceased. The plaintiff was executor of the will, to which the defendant lodged a caveat. The parties had now settled their differences, and the acceptance of the consent would enable the plaintiff to obtain probate.

Mr. Justice Johnston received the consent, and made it a rule of Court.

In the case of the London General Insurance Co. against Mrs. Mary Bridget Guinan for possession of the house 27 Jones's road, Dublin, under an order for sale which was granted in June, 1928,

Mr. M. Walker (instructed by Messrs. G. Fottrell and Co.) said that the application was founded on affidavits of Mr. Percy Cheetham, a representative of the company, and Mr. Holden, auctioneer, in which it was stated that last month the house was put up for sale, the highest offer being £525, while there was about £660 due to the company under a mortgage. They found it impossible to sell while the defendant and her family were in possession.

The defendant appeared in person, and handed the judge some documents in support of her case, and she said that she had invested £200 in the house, and that the company had refused to take their money in instalments from her.

Mr. Walker said that the lady had sub-let the premises—having taken in lodgers—in contravention of the terms of the mortgage.

Mr. Justice Johnston—To take in lodgers would not mean sub-letting. How much did the company advance?

Mr. Walker—£650 is due.

Mrs. Guinan said that she had paid £140 before the company came in at all, and she did not know what to do in the case.

The Judge said that the defendant was like most people in this country. They let things slide until the critical moment arrived. Then they came in panic to the court and appealed to the sympathy of a soft-hearted judge. (Laughter.) He could do nothing but make an order for possession, with a stay until October 14th.

LIMERICK BANKRUPTCY CASE.

WITNESS RELEASED FROM PRISON.

The case of John J. O'Sullivan, who had been a draper in Limerick, was before the Court for the third time. He was only thirteen months in business when he became bankrupt last May, with liabilities exceeding £1,200. Some short time before he was adjudicated he employed a lorry-owner named Ryan to take six packing cases from his shop in the city to his brother's place near Drumcollher. The allegation on the part of the assignees was that these cases contained goods which the intending bankrupt was removing surreptitiously for the purpose of defrauding his creditors. Ryan's evidence was that the cases were of such weight and their lids being nailed down, that he believed they contained goods of some kind. The cases were deposited at the farmyard of Michael O'Sullivan, a brother of the bankrupt, and Ryan was paid £5 for the job.

Timothy O'Sullivan, another brother of the bankrupt, swore that the cases were empty, and that they were required by his brother Michael to remove some of his household furniture from one farm to another that was three miles distant.

A fortnight ago the Judge committed Timothy O'Sullivan to prison for unsatisfactory answering, and he was brought into Court from Mountjoy yesterday in charge of a warder.

In reply to Mr. Geoghegan, K.C. (instructed by Messrs. Fullerton and Doyle), Timothy Sullivan now stated that the cases in question—some of them—contained smaller cases, but no goods from the shop in Limerick. After the shop was closed some of the assistants took away a few things, and even the bankruptcy messenger got some things.

John J. O'Sullivan, the bankrupt, who was again examined yesterday, swore that there was nothing in the cases taken by Ryan, except smaller, empty cases and some waste paper. On the day that the Court messenger arrived and took possession, a quantity of articles of apparel were taken by his assistants. He had recently given details of these to his solicitor in Limerick.

Mr. Daniel O'Keeffe, the Court messenger, swore that the statement to the effect that he had got any of the goods was absolutely false. He had seen no goods distributed to the assistants, as alleged.

The Judge ordered the release of Timothy O'Sullivan, and the case was further adjourned for a fortnight.

Mr. M. Walker (instructed by Messrs. Thompson and Edwards) appeared for the assignees.

Mr. W. H. Knight, late Chief Clerk, Irish Railway Clearing House, has been presented with a valuable piece of furniture by his colleagues on his retirement on superannuation after a service of 51 years.

DUBLIN DISTRICT COURT.

DUBLIN FAMILY'S PLIGHT.

FATHER ACCUSED OF THEFT OF SUIT OF CLOTHES.

(BEFORE MR. GUSSEN.)

Guard Fordes (147 B) charged a labourer, James Keogh, with the larceny of a suit of clothes valued at £5 10s., the property of John Healy, who resides in the same house as the defendant in Macken street.

The Guard stated that he arrested Keogh at his residence the previous night, and on taking him to College street station he admitted the charge, and made a statement to the effect that on Monday last he opened the locked box of John Healy, took out a suit of blue serge, and got a woman whom he knew to pawn it in Mount street for 25s. The accused man handed over a pawn ticket.

John Healy identified the suit of clothes (produced), and said that he had been living with the defendant in the same house for fifteen years. The defendant was a married man and had six young children.

The defendant said that the affair was due to drink. He opened the box with an old key, and hoped to have been able to get the suit out of pawn before Healy would want it again.

The Justice said that he regarded the case as a shocking one. If the defendant could not give up drink, he was no use in his house or to the State.

The Guard stated that on his visit to the house the previous night there was not a bit of bread for the children.

The Justice called the wife of the defendant, and, having interrogated her, gave her a grant from the poor box to enable her to purchase some food for the children.

The defendant was remanded in custody for a week.

MISSING LEAD PIPING.

ACCUSED MAN REMANDED IN CUSTODY.

Richard McKenzie, a labourer, residing in the Buildings, Patrick street, was charged by Detective Leonard with the larceny and illegal possession of three stone of lead piping, valued at 8s., the property of Mr. H. A. Andrews, electrical engineer, Kildare street.

The detective stated that while he was in a marine store in Golden lane on the previous day the accused man entered with the lead (produced) and offered it for sale. Witness arrested him, and he explained how he obtained possession of the lead.

The Justice ordered a remand in custody until Saturday next.

A BALE OF CLOTH.

CHARGE AGAINST CARTER.

Joseph Bracken, Upper Gloucester street, a carter employed by Messrs. John Wallis and Sons, was charged by Detectives Gordon and Hart for having, while in the company of Elsie Carter and Isobella and James McLoughlin, all of Coleraine street, stolen from the premises, 37 Golden lane, a bale of cloth, valued at £30, the property of Samuel Clein. There was a further charge of having the cloth illegally in his possession and selling it to Mrs. McLoughlin, 23 Coleraine street, for £2 10s.

Detective Gordon gave evidence of arresting the accused man, in conjunction with Detective Hart, at Portland row. When charged he made a statement admitting the offence.

He was remanded till to-morrow in independent bail of £50.

In connection with the case Isobella and James McLoughlin and Elsie Carter were charged with having certain property illegally in their possession.

The Guards gave evidence of searching the shop, 23 Coleraine street, and finding concealed in presses thirty-six suit lengths of dark brown cloth, three men's new overcoats, several bicycle tubes, and some tooth paste of a French brand, for none of which they were able to give a satisfactory account.

They also were remanded on bail till to-morrow.

THE LIGHTING OF WEXFORD.

SHANNON ELECTRICITY THIS MONTH.

The Electricity Supply Board have written to Wexford Corporation approving of the arrangements entered into by that body with the Board's representative for the lighting of the town, and stating the current would be made available at a date not later than the 28th inst.

Information as to the switching on arrangements would be furnished later.

WEXFORD MAN'S DEATH.

CALL FOR SWORN INQUIRY.

The Wexford County Health Board have decided to ask the Local Government Department to hold a sworn inquiry into allegations made against Dr. P. A. Doyle, medical officer, Bridgetown, and Dr. C. J. H. Anglim, medical officer, Broadway, of having refused, when requisitioned, to attend in his illness a labourer named Mathew Walsh, of Rathmacnee, Wexford, who died subsequently.

The Secretary stated that the complaint was first made to the Board by Mr. Gaul, a member, on the authority of Mr. W. Codd, Churchlands, who was Walsh's employer. Mr. Codd and the two boys who went for the doctors were in attendance in connection with the matter.

LETTERS FROM DOCTORS.

Dr. Doyle wrote that he failed to see that his refusal to attend could be a cause of complaint, as Rathmacnee was not in his dispensary district. He attended Walsh and his family at intervals since 1919, and was never paid for any attendances or medicine. Shortly before his fatal illness he was speaking to Walsh, and told him not to call for him any more if he wanted medical attendance. On the occasion in question he received a message that Walsh was sick and would like to see him. He told the messenger the above facts, and did not go. He got no proper message that Walsh was ill, and was not given the idea that his case was serious; otherwise he would have attended, as he had done repeatedly.

Dr. Anglim wrote that a messenger called at his house at 12.45 p.m., and told him that the case was urgent. On examining the statement he did not consider that the case was urgent, and did not refuse to attend. He was told the treatment adopted by Walsh's friends, and he considered it good. He told the messenger that he would be around in the morning. He did go, and was astonished on his arrival to learn that Walsh was dead and that an inquest was to be held that evening. There was nothing in the conversation with the messenger about a red ticket or that Walsh was a red ticket case. Although he had been several years practising in the district he was never asked to attend Walsh or any member of his family, whom, he understood, had a private medical attendant. He considered that Walsh was a private case. As he learned from the inquest, had he gone immediately that he was requisitioned he would have arrived at about the time of the man's death.

MESSENGER'S STATEMENT.

Mr. Codd stated that he was not satisfied with the explanations of the doctors.

The Board decided to hear statements from the messengers who went for the doctors.

One, a youth named Frank Benson, stated that when they arrived at Dr. Doyle's residence they told him that Walsh was ill, and they asked him to come to attend him. The doctor said that he had not got any payment for the last time that he was with Walsh. He (Benson) said that Walsh was dying, and the doctor said that he would not give a damn, and then slammed the door in their faces. They then went for Dr. Anglim, who, on being informed that Walsh had become suddenly ill and was dying, said that he could not do anything. He also told them not to be keeping him in the cold, and slammed the door against them.

Mr. Codd said that a messenger was then sent for Dr. Pierse, Wexford, who arrived shortly after the man had died.

At the Bristol Horse Show yesterday the Open Championship Cup in the driving class was won by Mr. E. Ray Carter, of Barnstaple, with Melbourne Fine, a horse that won the championship of the world in the driving classes in America six years ago, and this year carried off the championship of the Royal Cornwall Show.

LACTOPEPTINE will positively relieve your INDIGESTION

Tested and Recommended by many Eminent Authorities. Hospitals use it, the Medical Press asserts its value.

"GIVE your digestion a rest" urge the Specialists. "Treat INDIGESTION in a common-sense way. Help the overtaxed stomach to right itself." Lactopeptine provides the means. It contains the natural elements, in their correct proportions, which do the work of digestion in the human body. Its results are positive.

Lactopeptine is neither a drug, nor is it a secret remedy. The Lactopeptine constituents are published. A glance at the formula would convince even the most sceptical of its value in all cases of indigestion. An Eminent Scientist says, after exhaustive analysis:—"I have found that the preparation Lactopeptine contains within itself all the principles required to promote a healthy digestion."

LACTOPEPTINE RELIEVES INDIGESTION AND ALL ITS SYMPTOMS, SUCH AS:—HEARTBURN, FULLNESS AFTER MEALS, NAUSEA, FLATULENCY, HYPERACIDITY, HEADACHES, TIGHTNESS on the CHEST, PALPITATIONS, ETC.

If you suffer from any form of Indigestion, follow the best Medical advice and start to-day on a course of Lactopeptine. It will fight, and quickly conquer, by positive means, and in the only common-sense way, the most severe cases. Being composed of natural digestives it cannot harm the weakest stomach. It helps in every case, and everyone who takes it immediately feels the benefit.

LACTOPEPTINE NOT A DRUG BUT A NATURAL REMEDY

THE MEDICAL PRESS SUBSTANTIATE OUR CLAIMS. No other remedy for indigestion has had such wholehearted support from the leading Medical Journals as Lactopeptine. They recognise its positive value. This important distinction between Lactopeptine and other remedies should be clearly understood. Lactopeptine relieves by active participation in the natural process of Digestion.

ILLEGAL FISHING.

TWO MEN FINED.

At Londonderry Rural Petty Sessions yesterday a young man named John Creswell, of Ardlough, was prosecuted for fishing with a net on the River Faughan without a licence, and for fishing an illegal net. John Bradley, Malvern terrace, Londonderry, was summoned for aiding and abetting him.

Mr. W. S. McDermott, for the Board of Conservators, said that the River Faughan used to be one of the finest white trout rivers in the North of Ireland for anglers, but it was being destroyed by poachers. The net used by Creswell was capable of closing the river.

The evidence showed that the defendants were found by Constables Armstrong and Johnston. Creswell was in the river with the net, and Bradley was on the bank. Both ran away, but were pursued and caught by the constables, who also seized the net and twenty-one white trout. Four other men who had been with the defendants escaped. While the constables were pursuing the men, their bicycles, which they had left behind a ditch, were taken away. A week afterwards water bailiffs found the bicycles in a hole in the Faughan.

Mr. Glass, R.M., said that ninety-five per cent. of the persons who took out licences to fish the Faughan were working men who desired a little recreation after their day's toil, and they were entitled to have a chance of getting their reward. Poaching had been wholesale and continuous in this river, despite repeated warnings and convictions. It was well known that people who had taken out licences to fish the river had not seen salmon there for three years, and that was due to the constant poaching and illegal netting that was going on.

Each of the defendants was fined £5.

NORTH DUBLIN RURAL COUNCIL

At the meeting of the North Dublin Rural District Council yesterday (Mr. John Kelly, Vice-Chairman, presiding), the auditor's report on the Council's accounts for the two half-years ended March 31, 1929, was submitted.

The Clerk (Mr. J. P. Conry) said that there were no surcharges.

Mr. Beckett said that, in view of attacks that had been made on the Council, the auditor's report was very satisfactory.

The NEW FORD
Keeps its Tune

You can drive your new Ford thousands of miles without lifting the bonnet (except, of course, to replenish with petrol and oil). Its design enables it to keep its tune with the minimum of attention.

The new Ford has made obsolete the messy, constantly recurring job of tappet adjustment—one of the most common causes of loss of tune.

Its powerful 14.9 h.p. engine, turning over at a moderate rate of revolutions, lasts longer and wears better. It is quiet and stays quiet.

The valve stems of the new Ford are working in oil. This prevents a common cause of uneven running through wear and air leaks in the guides.

The brakes of the new Ford have each a simple external means of adjustment. The veriest novice can easily keep them in correct adjustment.

Add to this invaluable ease and maintenance, the power, speed, comfort and silence of the new Ford, and you will realise why this car is rapidly becoming one of the most popular on the road to-day.

You can get immediate delivery of yours, taxed and insured, for £50 down—through any Ford Dealer.

£50 down secures immediate delivery of any standard model ready for the road, tax, insurance and delivery charges all included! Special low rates of insurance. 50-55 m.p.h. 3 speeds. 4-wheel brakes. Unsplinterable glass windscreen. Pyroxylin cellulose finish. Choice of 4 colour schemes.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND NOTES

NOTES FOR INVESTORS

BRIGHTER MARKETS.

FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.
59 FLEET STREET, LONDON, Wednesday.

Stock markets both here and in America have quickly recovered from the shock of the sudden and unexpected monetary development in New York. The absence of a change in our Bank rate and the statement that dearer money here need not necessarily follow from the advance in the New York rediscount rate, are mainly responsible for the more cheerful feeling. The future course of markets should be favourable, provided the American exchange recovers, but whilst the rate hovers round gold point some anxiety at least will be felt. The position of the Bank of England has been considerably weakened by recent heavy losses of gold. Assuming that further exports could take place without a higher Bank rate being imposed, it is clear that the point would ultimately be reached when the Bank would be compelled to call a halt by raising the official value of money. In brief, whilst more confident views are expressed as to the outlook, there is still uncertainty as to the immediate future because of the low level of the American exchange. Still, the new account opened cheerfully on the Stock Exchange on the recovery in Wall street, the better tone being assisted by a broadening of business in several directions, quite apart from the active demand for those international Industrial securities favoured by New York.

Brewery Shares.

Not so long since the market for Brewery shares suffered a set-back on the reference made to the industry in the King's speech. The downward movement undoubtedly went too far, but many of the shares are now making a good recovery. Notwithstanding the prosperity of recent years profits still continue at a high level, and handsome dividends are paid, and this prosperity has been enjoyed, despite the heavy burden of taxation. As in other branches of industry the tendency has been towards closer co-operation or amalgamation for the purpose of effecting economies and eliminating wasteful competition, a development that has been of very great advantage.

Financial Strength.

This class of security may not appeal to a good many investors owing to the difficulty of gauging the outlook, particularly as the intentions of the Chancellor of the Exchequer in regard to liquor duties will not be known until the next Budget is introduced. Meanwhile the formation of the Royal Commission on Licensing, foreshadowed in the King's Speech, is proceeding rapidly, and it is probable that they will commence their deliberations in the autumn. It is impossible to say, of course, how the brewery companies will be affected by the Commission's recommendations, but it is understood that the trade will be strongly represented. As far as can be seen, the outlook appears promising, and an additional incentive for taking an interest in the shares is the strong financial position of the well-managed companies. This is an important point when making a choice of any industrial share, and one that holders will appreciate more if, and when, less prosperous times are experienced. The lower level of values now established presents an opportunity to acquire shares on favourable terms, although prices may not recover to the highest touched this year. Among the many attractive Ordinary shares may be mentioned Benskins, Hoare and Co., Guinness, Ind Coope, Mitchells and Butlers, Threlfalls, Watney Coombe Deferred, Wolverhampton, and Dudley Ordinary, etc.

Rubbers.

The general opinion regarding the rubber industry is that prospects are now brighter than for some time past. Certainly the share market keeps remarkably firm, and potential buyers find difficulty in securing shares. The improvement has followed the removal of restrictions on exports, which has enabled costs to be materially reduced, while the growth in consumption has also contributed to the more hopeful outlook. In the circumstances, it is scarcely surprising that holders of the better class rubber shares are reluctant to part with them at the present juncture. Some time may elapse before the patience of holders will be rewarded, but the present condition of the market suggests that prices of the shares will respond very quickly to anything like an aggressive demand. Interest in the shares will be quickened considerably, of course, when the demand for the commodity approaches supply, and, in the opinion of some people, that time is not very far off.

H. E. Randall.

As an investment, the Ord. and Pref. shares of H. E. Randall offer attractions at current prices. Manufacturers of boots and shoes have experienced considerable prosperity over a long period, and the nature of the commodity suggests that there will always be a good demand for the company's products. The total capital is comparatively small, amounting to £250,000, of which £85,000 is in Preference and £165,000 in Ordinary shares, all of £1 each. There are no Debentures, and nothing figures for goodwill. Dividends of 15 per cent. per annum have been paid for a number of years past on the Ordinary shares, whilst last year's net profit was equal to over 21 per cent. The last balance sheet showed reserves and carry forward amounting to £155,316. The Ordinary are quoted round 45s., thus indicating a yield of about 6⅝ p.c., whilst the 6 p.c. Cumulative Pref. shares stand at a little over par, showing a return of nearly 5¾ p.c. In view of the excellent record of this particular company there seems to be scope for some capital appreciation in the Ord. shares.

RAYON MARKET.

SLOW DEMAND.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.
MANCHESTER, Wednesday.

Demand for rayon fabrics has been very restricted. The cessation of work in the Lancashire cotton mills is still affecting business very considerably. A small trade has been arranged for home consumption, with dress goods in particular being affected, although crêpes, crêpe satins, and certain specialities have been in quieter request. All rayon fabrics are quiet, and casements and brocades show little life, but an improved demand is expected before long. Only small purchases of furnishing cloths are mentioned, though a considerable improvement has been noticeable in certain light and medium-weight speciality materials recently.

The Colonies are fairly active, Canada and Australia being the best, and India has shown more interest in brocades and prints, though bids have usually been poor. China is dull and other outlets are quiet.

Best quality yarns have moved steadily, but the inferior grades are still a dragging market.

FREE STATE EXCHEQUER RETURN.

A serious error occurred in the statement of the Free State Exchequer return for the period ending August 10. The expenditure was given as £518,947 more than in the same period of 1928, whereas it was that amount less.

The set of figures should read as follows:—

REVENUE.		EXPENDITURE.
1929......	£7,803,888	1929......	£8,079,240

TONE AND COMMENT.

DUBLIN DEALINGS LIMITED.

GUINNESS HARDER.

Outside Margarine and possibly Guinness shares, business on 'Change lacked animation, owing to the holiday period of the year, and many of the prices marked represented quite small transactions. Considerable business was again current in Margarine issues, with local realisations and continued support for the other side, but without moving prices to any extent. Guinness Ordinary again received steady attention at slightly harder prices, but Dublin Distillers were offered, and gave way. The Funds were harder, but Land stocks were offered, and Dublin Corporation "new" stock established a rise. Banking securities rather tended to ease, British and Irish Steam Preference were steady. Cable stocks were neglected. Rails held the previous day's improvement, and Dublin United Tram Preference were a slightly harder market. Textiles were hopefully disposed, but Courtaulds did not hold an initial gain. Dunlops and Chemicals closed rather on offer. Margarines opened higher, but slipped back on profit-taking. Parent Trust Deferred gave way for odd lots. Tobaccos closed firm. Thwaites Preference were on offer at last price, but the Ordinary were wanted. Todd Burns issues, in the Drapery group, were dealt in at last price.

LONDON FAIRLY FIRM.

INTERNATIONALS UNSETTLED.

Dealings in the London Stock Markets as a whole yesterday were again on quite a good scale, while the firmer tendency manifest recently continued in force, and at the close a further long list of appreciable improvements was recorded. The feature was provided by the Oil share section, which, following the steady upward movement of the past few days, attracted rather wider attention. The leaders, such as Mexican and Canadian Eagles and Shells, met good support, and substantial gains were recorded. A factor in this upward movement was the decline in the average daily production in the United States, which was 12,600 barrels down, compared with the high record of the previous week. Rhodesian Mines were another strong section, Bwanas, Loangwas, Chartered and South Rhodesian Base Metals all marking appreciable improvements. Bwana M'Kubwa and Southern Rhodesian Base Metals were exceptionally firm markets, the former gaining no less than 3s. 7½d. on the day, while the latter were 6s. 3d. to the good.

The investment sections and the Miscellaneous Industrials also presented a generally firm appearance. The leading International securities, on the other hand, were unsettled. There was not a great deal going on in the Gilt-edged section, but the tone remained steady to firm.

Home Rails continued to display a satisfactory tendency. Colonial and Foreign Rails were unsettled; for, while the Buenos Ayres issues and San Paulo continued on the up-grade, "Ircas" went off rather sharply, and "Caupacs" lost the turn.

BANK LOSES GOLD.

It was announced at the Bank of England yesterday that slightly over £1,000,000 of bar gold had been taken for export, presumably for America. The movement was not unexpected in view of the low level of the American exchange. The development is not viewed with alarm in the Money market, but, as the Bank has already lost many millions, more particularly to France, it can scarcely be regarded with equanimity. It is probable that several more millions could go out of the Bank without creating the necessity for a higher Bank rate, but it is obvious that the limit must eventually be reached if the outflow continues. Already the Bank's stock has been reduced to a figure well below the total suggested as a minimum by the Cunliffe Committee when the amalgamation of the two notes issues was made. A satisfactory feature was that after the gold had been taken from the Bank the American exchange made some recovery, but it still remains at a level which is not sufficiently high to completely remove anxiety as to the future. Despite the ease in money in Lombard street, there is no disposition to let discount rates slip away, and on every day this week bills have been sold from a special quarter, and sometimes very freely, for the purpose of assisting in the maintenance of bill rates.

OFFICIAL QUOTATIONS.

One of the conditions precedent to an application for the official quotation of a share on the London Stock Exchange is that the prospectus must have been publicly advertised. The committee now proposes that the prospectus or offer for sale must be publicly advertised in at least one London morning newspaper.

IRVINE'S SHIPBUILDING AND DRY DOCKS COMPANY.

In the course of a circular conveying notice of the calling of an extraordinary general meeting—to be held in London on 21st inst.—shareholders are informed that, in order that the company's balance sheet may fairly represent its financial position, it is considered necessary that the capital should be reduced from £740,000 to £157,000, and that such reduction should be effected by writing off the sum of 11s. from each of the Preference shares and 19s. from each of the Ordinary shares. Each resulting Preference share would then be of the nominal value of 9s., and will be sub-divided into four Preference shares of 2s. each and one Ordinary share of 1s. each. The new Preference shares of 2s. each would be entitled to a non-cumulative preferential dividend at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum as from the date when the scheme becomes effective, and in a winding-up would be entitled to receive out of the assets of the company 5s. for each Preference share, thus giving them the capital originally subscribed—namely, £1 per Preference share, in priority to any distribution of assets among the Ordinary shareholders. The creation and issue to the Preference shareholders of one Ordinary share of 1s. for every Preference share now held is suggested by reason of the fact that the Preference shareholders are asked to forego the arrears of dividend, and in these circumstances it is deemed right that they should have a substantial interest in the Ordinary shares.

PROVINCIAL CINEMATOGRAPH THEATRES.

A trust deed has been registered, dated August 1, 1929, to secure £2,000,000 6 per cent. Debenture Stock, repayable at 2½ per cent. premium. The deed contains a charge on various freehold and leasehold properties in Ashton-under-Lyne, Bournemouth, Bradford, Brighton, Bristol, Darlington, Glossop, Hanley, Ipswich, Northampton, Nottingham, Plymouth, Preston, Sunderland, Leicester, Peterborough, Sheffield, Worcester, Scotland, London and elsewhere, a specific first charge on certain shares in fourteen other companies (including 1,686,040 7½ per cent. Cumulative Preference Shares of 1s. each and 14,470 Ordinary Shares of £1 each in Associated Provincial Picture Houses, Ltd.), and a floating charge on the company's undertaking and property, present and future, including uncalled capital.

CALLS IN ARREAR.

Yet another instance of the large scale nonpayment of calls due on shares is disclosed in the statutory report of International Talking Screen Productions. The total number of shares allotted is 1,460,000 Ordinary of 10s. each, of which 260,000 have been allotted as fully-paid as part-purchase consideration. The total amount of cash received in respect of 1,200,000 Ordinary Shares issued wholly for cash is £190,302, a deficiency of £409,698. The directors make no comment upon this heavy shortage. The preliminary expenses, excluding underwriting and over-riding commission and brokerage, are estimated at £24,950. The payments side of the capital account contains the following items: Part purchase consideration, £140,665; capital duty and registration fees, £8,590; preliminary expenses, £8,264; underwriting commission and brokerage, £12,754; advances to subsidiary companies, £16,550; revenue expenses, £1,418; and balance at bank, £2,062.

INDUSTRIAL MARKET.

SATISFACTORY TENDENCY.

SUPPORT FOR TEXTILE LEADERS

While the general tendency of the Industrial Market yesterday was fairly satisfactory International issues had a less firm appearance, business in the latter having slackened to some extent. Most of the interest centred around Rayons and Textiles, on more hopeful outlook regarding the cotton trade position, following the deliberations of the Master Spinners' Federation.

For reasons stated good support was forthcoming for the Textile leaders, which quickly responded to buying orders from the North. Bleachers went ahead to the extent of 1s. 9d. to 31s. 9d., with Bradford Dyers marked up 1s. 3d. to 40s., Sewing Cottons 1s. 3d. to 50s., Wardle and Davenports 1s. 3d. to 50s., Fine Spinners 1s. to 37s. 6d., J. and P. Coats 9d. to 68s. 10½d., and Listers a similar amount to 23s. 6d. Calico Printers at 24s. 7½d. and Joshua Hoyle at 8s. 3d., each recorded an improvement of 7½d.

In the Artificial Silk department all the Celanese issues continued in the ascendant. American Celanese Common further advanced ¼ to 6¾, with Canadian Celanese a similar fraction up at 4¼. British Celanese Ord. rose 5/32 to 1 23/32, in anticipation of the meeting to be held next month, when it is expected that the chairman will be able to give later information regarding the company's progress. A steady demand for Courtaulds lifted the price 1/16 to 3 11/16, with buyers also in evidence for Snia Viscosa at 18s. 9d., and British Enka at around 15s.

Motor shares generally exhibited strength, the feature being Guys, which touched 24s. 6d. and finished 1s. 10½d. up on balance at 23s. 1½d. Dennis put on 1/16 to 2 1/16, Leylands 1s. to 54s. 3d., Rolls-Royce 1/16 to 2 7/16, and Thomas Tillings a similar fraction to 5 1/16.

Engineering descriptions came in for a fair amount of provincial support. Bobcocks rose 9d. to 63s. 9d., with steady buying also noticeable of Vickers Ord., which put on 7½d. to 9s. 4½d.

International Nickels were subject to a little profit-taking, closing fractionally easier at 53. Some of the Electricals gained ground, though a few sellers appeared in places. Of the Equipments, Associateds were a good spot, touching 49s., and closing with a net advance of 1s. 6d. at 48s. 6d.

A certain amount of hesitation was witnessed in the Canadian-American group. Brazilian Traction Common were offered at one time around 72¾ and Hydro-Electrics at 72½, both closing at 73. International Holdings reacted ⅛ to 12⅝.

The Record leaders made a mixed showing. Gramophones (H.M.V.) further improved at one time to 7¾, eventually closing at 7⅝. Columbia Graphophones were subject to sales from New York in the "street," when the final quote of 13¼ left them with a decline of 1/16.

Cable and Wireless Pref. stock improved a point to 95, but the "B" Ord. fell back that amount to 75. Banks were generally better, with Insurance issues little changed.

Shipping descriptions received quiet support in places. Cunards further improved a few pence to 24s. 9d., with Elder Dempster 6 p.c. Pref. slightly harder at 12s. 6d. Royal Mail 5 p.c. Pref. Stock recovered a couple of points to 52.

Irregular movements occurred in the Stores, Catering and Food Supply sections. Margarines came in for renewed support at the opening, but profit-taking was again in evidence, and both the Unions at 109s. and Unies at 113s. finished without net change, after being up to 110s. 3d. and 114s. 9d. respectively. Aerated Bread hardened a few pence to 20s. 9d.

Dunlops found further supporters, and put on 4½d. to 17s. 10½d. James Finlay also came in for attention, gaining 1/16 also to 5 1/16. African and Eastern had buyers at 16s. 3d.

The Swedish group turned dull, Kreuger and Toll receding to 35⅝, and Swedish Match to 19⅞. United Molasses had an easier appearance at the close around 8⅛. Imperial Chemicals were fairly steady, the Ord. and Defd. closing unchanged.

RECENT ISSUES DEALINGS.

Renewed support was forthcoming for Metafilters, and the price improved 9d. to 18s. 9d. Smiths Potato Crisps were an active feature, rising to 9s., with buyers still in evidence at the close. British Power and Light improved to 16s. 10½d., Brownlacs to 8s. 9d. Hector Whaling to 2 1/16, and Morgan Square Ord. to 4s. 3d. Zinc Manufacturing "A" Ord. stiffened to 6d. prem. "Daily Express" Building Debs eased to 96¾, and Oertz Streamline Rudders Debs. gave way to 10 dis.

OIL SHARE PRICES HOLD WELL.

Firmness continued to characterise the leading Oil shares yesterday, and, although there was a distinct slackening of demand from the North for those descriptions which have lately been in keen request from that quarter, prices held well. The running was taken up, however, by other favourites, prominent among which was Mexican Eagle, of which some strong buying took place, the demand being largely local, but supplemented to no mean extent by purchases on Paris account. As a result the price moved up smartly. Canadian Eagles, although rather less active, were also a strong spot. Operators in the North took a hand in the Eagle movement, and also bought Shells, while the Continent was reported a buyer of Royal Dutch. Venezuelans commanded only a small amount of attention, and while Creoles continued their upward course, V.O.C. Holdings came on offer towards the close and registered a decline. United British met with a fair demand and strengthened. Phœnix continued firm, but otherwise there was nothing of interest among Rumanians.

RUBBER SHARES STEADY.

Although there was no material expansion in the volume of business transacted in Rubber shares, a decidedly firmer tendency was apparent, the stronger tone of the commodity market being reflected in share values. Higher values were registered in the commodity market on the American consumption figures, which, at 41,520 tons, were more favourable than anticipated. Spot and August opened at 10½d., and strengthened to 10 11/16d., while October to December closed at 10 11/16d. after 10 9/16d. and 11d. per lb. January to March commenced at 11 1/16d., and, after touching 11¼d., closed at 11 3/16d. per lb.

LONDON MINING MARKET STILL CHEERFUL.

BIG BUSINESS IN RHODESIANS.

Thanks to the continued improvement in the political and financial atmosphere, the cheerfulness which characterised most of the speculative departments on the preceding day was maintained yesterday. Business was still mostly of a professional character, the holiday season being, no doubt, responsible for the almost entire absence of public interest. At the same time several Mining counters are becoming more and more popular, and the demand for these is having a strengthening influence on the market as a whole. The Kaffir department claimed few adherents, the apathy of the public here and the continued indifference of both Paris and the Cape being reflected in the small number and insignificant extent of the movements on the day. Rhodesians provided the feature of the house, a big business being in progress in most of the leading counters, dealings in several of which were continued for some time in the "street." Chartered were in good demand on home and Continental account, and closed appreciably higher, and Tanks and Zams came into better request than for some time previously, both showing substantial gains. The Northern issues, however, were the centre of attraction, and among these Bwana M'Kubwa easily maintained first place. Despite profit-taking, the fresh demand was so persistent that 3s. 7½d. was added to the quotation, while N'Changa were substantially higher, and Congo Border, Rhodesia, Broken Hill, and one or two others were harder; Roan Antelope were finally a trifle on the wrong side. In the Diamond section De Beers were hardly mentioned, but Jagersfontein improved, and there was some nibbling at Consolidated Diamond shares and options, both of which closed higher. The price of tin declined slightly to £208 18s. 9d. per ton, and the share market was dullishly inclined. There was no real selling, but in the absence of fresh demand one or two prices receded. Among Coppers, Rio Tinto went ahead smartly on home and Paris demand, while in the Canadian list Mining Corporation were higher. Elsewhere Burma Corporation continued on the up grade and Panama Corporation were a good market. Closing prices

THE MONEY MARKET.

UNCHANGED CONDITIONS.

Conditions were practically unchanged in Lombard street, and, despite the calling in of funds by some of the banks for window-dressing, credit remained in comfortable supply. During the early hours, borrowers occasionally paid up to 4¾ p.c. for loans over the night, but towards the close these were again offering at 4½ p.c. down to 4 p.c. In the discount market November Treasuries were offered at 5 1/16, and October at 5¼ p.c. The fine three months' commercial bill rate was still unaltered at 5 13/32 p.c., with business on a small scale.

At the Bank of England bar gold to the value of £1,055,384 was sold, and 10,000 sovereigns were taken for export. The efflux for the week thus amounts to £759,967; efflux for 1929 to date, £14,152,532. The market for bar silver was quiet, and quotations declined 1/16d. per oz. to 24⅛d. per oz. for spot and 24⅜d. per oz. forward. Gold rose ⅛d. per oz. to 84s. 11½d. per fine oz.

Following the export of gold from the Bank of England the New York exchange recovered to a little over 4.84 11/16, but the Montreal quotation reacted to a little under 4.88. There was no further movement in German marks, but the French exchange was less favourable to this country. Dutch guilders moved in our favour to 12.10 1/16. Swiss francs, Austrian schillings and Danish kroner were all cheaper, but Swedish kronor, Italian lire and Belgian belgas quoted less for sterling.

PHŒNIX V. MR. J. M. HONE'S TEAM.

(12-ASIDE.)

Mr. J. M. Hone fielded a very useful team against Phœnix yesterday in the Park, and they gained an easy victory by 70 runs with two wickets to spare.

Batting first Phœnix fared poorly against the bowling of Ingram, and in one and a half hours were dismissed for 84, to which Fisher contributed 20 and De Burgh 19. Ingram got seven wickets for 40, and T. H. Dixon the other four for 31 runs.

Mr. Hone's team got the runs for the loss of four wickets, and, continuing on, had made 154 for nine wickets at call of time. The batting was consistent, six of the side getting into double figures. Ingram headed the list with 29 (five 4's), and N. Hone showed confidence in a contribution of 17. Score:—

HANTS V. SOUTH AFRICANS.

Bright batting at Southampton in the match between Hampshire and South Africans realised 427 runs, and the County, by making 168 for 4 wickets in reply to the tourists' total of 259, had the better of the day's play. Harfield completed 1,000 runs, thus performing this feat in his first full season in the County team. Score:—

SOMERSET V. SURREY.

Surrey gave a crowd of 3,000 spectators some remarkable contrasts in batting in the opening of the match of the Weston-super-Mare Festival yesterday. After being at the wickets 5 hours and 35 minutes, they put together 321. Heavy rain fell in the early hours of the morning, but the wicket did not seem unduly affected, and J. C. White caused great surprise by sending Surrey in after winning the toss, a policy which was not justified. Surrey owed nearly everything to Hobbs, who, at first, he later made runs at a great pace in perfect ease, scoring 134 out of 215 in 3 hours 35 minutes. His complete dominance of the situation is indicated by the fact that he made 50 in an hour after lunch, and his share of 114, put on by the aid of Gregory for fourth wicket, was 23. White bowled wonderfully well, though handicapped by a damaged foot, his 8 wickets costing 67 runs apiece. Score:—

WARWICKSHIRE V. NOTTS.

The pitch at Coventry yesterday favoured the bowlers, and, going in for seventy-five minutes at the close of the day Warwickshire fared badly against S. Staples, who took four wickets for 29 runs; while six batsmen were out for 42 at the close. Notts, batting first, lost half their side for 169, but later on steady batting by Walker and Sam Staples improved the position, and the innings, which lasted just under four and a half hours, realised a total of 311. George Gunn and Whysall scored 55 for the first wicket, and afterwards Whysall and Walker added 55 for the second.

A. Staples, during a short stay, hit Santall to square leg for six, and later drove Wyatt into an adjacent street. When Sam Staples joined Walker a prolonged stand was made, which yielded 121 in fifty minutes. Batting for three hours and a half Walker carried out his bat for 133. He met the bowling with easy confidence and hit fourteen 4's. Paine was the most successful bowler, taking three wickets for 29 runs. Warwickshire finished 269 behind with four wickets in hand. GLOUCESTERSHIRE V. SUSSEX.

Sussex gave a sparkling display of batting at Cheltenham in the two hours before lunch, getting 170, and, though they lost five wickets, the rate of scoring set up at the outset never declined. They were all out for 263, with enough time left for Gloucestershire to obtain 125 at a cost of three wickets. The pitch was fast and true to start with, and Bowley, aided by some luck, hit 49 in half an hour out of 65. His performance was eclipsed by Duleepsinhji with 65 in as many minutes—a fine effort, which contained ten 4's. His success on the ground where he earned his cricket was very popular. By comparison the afternoon play was dull, Langridge alone shaping well against the good bowling of Parker and Goddard. Like Bowley, he hit six 4's. Sinfield, missed when 13, helped Dipper to give his side a good start, the pair spending 80 minutes over 62. When they left Hammond and Lyon made the finish as thrilling as the opening had been. In twenty-five minutes they added 55 by free hitting. Then Hammond trod on his wicket when playing a ball to leg. At the close Gloucestershire were 138 behind, with seven wickets to fall.

YORKSHIRE V. DERBYSHIRE.

At Sheffield yesterday a fine innings by Robinson rescued Yorkshire from an unsatisfactory position. Sutcliffe played well at the beginning of the innings, scoring a faultless 41 out of 66, but after he was second out, Worthington caused a collapse quickly, getting three more victims and claiming wickets for 18 runs before lunch, when the total was only 93 for 5 wickets. Yorkshire recovered afterwards, thanks largely to a splendid effort by Robinson, who stayed for two and a half hours, but failed to reach his hundred by only five runs. Score:—

MIDDLESEX V. ESSEX.

Three thousand spectators at Lord's enjoyed some remarkably interesting cricket yesterday, as a result of which Middlesex led Essex by 45 runs. As the fall of twenty wickets for 349 runs would suggest, few batsmen enhanced their reputation; whereas the bowlers, particularly H. T. O. Smith, the Midland Bank player, did some splendid work. Indeed, the feat of Smith in dismissing three men with the third, fifth and sixth balls of one over altered the whole outlook. Middlesex, before this happened being within 69 of their opponents' score with seven wickets left. Score:—

...RKET STILL CHEERFUL.

IN RHODESIANS.

...viously, both showing substantial gains. The Northern issues, however, were the centre of attraction, and among these Bwana M'Kubwa easily maintained first place. Despite profit-taking, the fresh demand was so persistent that 3s. 7½d. was added to the quotation, while N'Changa were substantially higher, and Congo Border, Rhodesia, Broken Hill, and one or two others were harder; Roan Antelope were finally a trifle on the wrong side. In the Diamond section De Beers were hardly mentioned, but Jagersfontein improved, and there was some nibbling at Consolidated Diamond shares and options, both of which closed higher. The price of tin declined slightly to £208 18s. 9d. per ton, and the share market was dullishly inclined. There was no real selling, but in the absence of fresh demand one or two prices receded. Among Coppers, Rio Tinto went ahead smartly on home and Paris demand, while in the Canadian list Mining Corporation were higher. Elsewhere Burma Corporation continued on the up grade and Panama Corporation were a good market. Closing prices

PHŒNIX V. MR. J. M. HONE'S TEAM.

(12-ASIDE.)

Mr. J. M. Hone fielded a very useful team against Phœnix yesterday in the Park, and they gained an easy victory by 70 runs with two wickets to spare.

Batting first Phœnix fared poorly against the bowling of Ingram, and in one and a half hours were dismissed for 84, to which Fisher contributed 20 and De Burgh 19. Ingram got seven wickets for 40, and T. H. Dixon the other four for 31.

Mr. Hone's team got the runs for the loss of four wickets, and, continuing on, had made 154 for nine wickets at call of time. The batting was consistent, six of the side getting into double figures. Ingram headed the list with 29 (five 4's), and N. Hone showed confidence in a contribution of 17. Score:—

SOMERSET V. SURREY.

Surrey gave a crowd of 3,000 spectators some remarkable contrasts in batting in the opening of the ... match of the Weston-super-Mare Festival yesterday. After being at the wickets 5 hours and ... minutes, they put together 321. Heavy rain ... in the early hours of the morning, but the wicket did not seem unduly affected, and J. C. White caused great surprise by sending Surrey in after winning the toss, a policy which was not justified. Surrey owed nearly everything to Hobbs. Quiet at first, he later made runs at a great pace in perfect ease, scoring 134 out of 215 in 3 hours 35 minutes. His complete dominance of the situation is indicated by the fact that he made 50 in an hour after lunch, and his share of 114, put on with the aid of Gregory for fourth wicket, was 83. White bowled wonderfully well, though handicapped by a damaged foot, his 8 wickets costing ... runs apiece. Score:—

They were all out for 263, with enough time for Gloucestershire to obtain 125 at a cost of three wickets. Three thousand spectators at Lord's enjoyed a remarkably interesting cricket yesterday, as a result of which Middlesex led Essex by 45 ... As the fall of twenty wickets for 349 runs would suggest, few batsmen enhanced their reputation; whereas the bowlers, particularly H. T. Smith, the Midland Bank player, did some splendid work. GLAMORGAN V. LEICESTERSHIRE

On a wicket that was always responsive to spin, the bowlers held the mastery in the match between Glamorgan and Leicester at Pontypridd, and none did better than Ryan and Clay, who were responsible for dismissing Leicester for 102 runs. Glamorgan might have fared just as disastrously had it not been for a fine innings on a bad wicket by Bates, to whom chief credit was due for Glamorgan's first innings lead of 68 runs. When Leicestershire went in a second time only 10 of these were wiped out for the loss of one wicket.

YACHTING.

ROYAL VICTORIA REGATTA.

SHAMROCK WINS CUP.

There was a light north-westerly breeze blowing at Ryde yesterday when the Royal Victoria Yacht Club opened their two days regatta. A fine entry was received for the ten events on the card, the chief of which was that for yachts exceeding 21 metres, for a Cup presented by the town, the handicap boats sailed for the Assheton-Smith trophy and the 12-metre class for the Rear-Commodore's Cup. The "big six" which sailed for the Ryde Town Cup were sent away at 10.45. Westward allowed Shamrock, White Heather II. and Lulworth 46 secs each; Candida, 4 mins. 36 secs., and Cambria, 5 mins. 45 secs., over the 46-mile course. The order away was:—Shamrock, Westward, Lulworth, White Heather II., Cambria and Candida last. After a beat to the Ryde Middle, where Shamrock still led, they went, with spinnakers to port, towards the Outer Spit. As they passed Ryde Pier the green cutter had a lead of one minute from Westward, Lulworth and White Heather II. being close astern, and the two Bermudian boats bringing up the rear. At The Nab end Shamrock still led, but White Heather II. and Lulworth had displaced the schooner, and as they beat through the line to finish the first round the times were:—

	H.	M.	S.
Shamrock	2	15	52
White Heather II.	2	16	36
Lulworth	2	18	16
Westward	2	23	55
Cambria	2	43	46
Candida	2	46	34

The leader held her position during the last circuit and won the trophy from Lulworth. White Heather II. took third prize, the corrected times being:—

	H.	M.	S.
Shamrock (winner)	5	56	44
Lulworth (2nd)	5	57	42
White Heather II. (3rd)	6	0	49
Westward	6	17	2
Cambria	6	28	20

Three yachts competed for 35 to 110 tons handicap for the Assheton-Smith challenge trophy, and sailed over the same course as the big class. Moombeam (scr) allowed Corona 2 mins. 16 secs., Sumurun 7 mins. 22 secs. and Nannette III. 20 mins. 58 secs. Nannette III. was first away, followed by Corona, Sumurun and Moonbeam, in the order named. The last-named eventually took the lead and held her advantage until the finish, winning by over 3 mins., thus securing the trophy for the second time in her career; Nannette III. took second prize, the corrected times being:—

	H.	M.	S.
Moonbeam (winner)	4	49	24
Nannette III. (2nd prize)	4	52	41
Corona	4	56	45
Sumurun	5	4	8

There were eight starters at 11.15 in the 12-metre event, for which the Rear-Commodore offered a cup. Iyruna, closely followed by Mouette, were the first away; then Rhona, Vanity, Flica, Modesty, Iris and Zinia last, 3½ mins. late through being recalled. After completing the initial round Mouette led by 25 secs. from Vanity. Rhona, Iyruna and Flica headed Vanity during the final round, but Mouette had the race well in hand. The finishing times were:—

	H.	M.	S.
Mouette (winner)	4	14	24
Rhona (2nd prize)	4	18	41
Flica (3rd prize)	4	21	18
Iyruna	4	25	45
Vanity	4	26	28
Modesty	4	27	22
Zinita	4	27	50
Iris	4	34	40

Esmeranda won the 10 to 35 tons by 16 mins. 35 secs. on corrected time from Noresca, which took second prize. Eight of the 8-metre class boats sailed a course of 17 miles, Unity getting the winning gun by 2 mins. 1 sec. from June, the third prize going to Finola. Jean won the 6-metre event by 39 secs., the second prize going to Dana and the third to Dadu.

THE FASTNET CUP.

OCEAN RACE BEGINS.

This year's annual Fastnet Cup Race, organised by the Ocean Yacht Club, started from Cowes yesterday in fine weather and a moderate westerly breeze. This was the fifth race, and the entries included two former winners, Jolie Brise, having won the first race in 1925, and Ilex, which received the trophy in 1926. The event is open to cruisers of 35 to 60 feet waterline. The course is from Aline, off the Royal Yacht Squadron, to the eastward, round the Isle of Wight, to the Fastnet Rock, and finishing at Plymouth—a total distance of 615 miles. The yachts are handled mostly by amateur crews. Of the eleven entrants Seabreeze was the only absentee. The entries and time allowances were as follow:—

Guerveur (Baron A. Dencufville), scratch.
Amaryllis (Royal Naval College, Dartmouth), 3h. 45m. 30s.
Grey Fox (Harold Nengass), 5h. 38m. 15s.
Jolie Brise (Robert Somerset), 9h. 54m. 30s.
Neptune (Lieutenant-Colonel O. L. Chambers), 9h. 54m. 30s.
Ilex (Royal Engineers Y.C.), 10h. 35m. 10s.
Vega (M Baldenweck), 13h. 9m. 15s.
Maitenes II. (Lieutenant L. B. Luard), 15h. 22m. 30s.
Cariad (Commander H. F. Nash), 16h. 54m. 45s.
Saladin (Ingo Simon), 17h. 15m. 15s.
Seabrise (Arthur Ausle), 22h. 33m.

The start was made at 11.30 a.m. in a moderate North-Westerly breeze, which gave them a run through the line. Neptune was the first boat away, crossing the line about one minute after the gun. The order of the others was Jolie Brise, Saladin, Maitenes, Vega, Ilex, Amaryllis, Cariad, Guerveur, Grey Fox, the last-named being 9½ minutes after the starting signal. From the run to the Norman Fort they carried spinnakers to port. As they passed Stokes Pier Neptune was leading the fleet, with Maitenes 22 seconds behind her, followed closely by Saladin, Jolie Brise, and Ilex. Nearly 3 minutes later came Guerveur. The next four were in the following order—Grey Fox, Amaryllis, and Cariad. The leader was just over 16 minutes ahead of the last boat. They gybed and set spinnakers to starboard after passing the Norman Fort, and Saladin looked to be leading as they hauled round the east end of the Isle of Wight. Given favourable weather the race should finish early next week

NORTH SHANNON Y.C. REGATTA.

TARMONBARRY, Tuesday.

Rain threw a gloom over the opening day of the North Shannon Y.C. Regatta on Lough Forbes. It delayed the starts, but there was a good turn out of Shannon one design class boats in the race for the Lyster Challenge Cup. There was also a fine breeze from S.E., and it gave a run on the first leg, a close haul on the next, a beat on the third and a run on the last leg of the course. The winner (S. 42) was steered by Mrs. G. Webb, and the second boat (S. 32) by Mr. L. Lyster). Details:—

THE WATER WAGS.

The first of two Crews' Races ("crews" to steer), for prizes presented by Mr. J. A. Magauran, was sailed in a fine westerly breeze last evening, with the start at 6.36 p.m. There were only five boats out, and one of them Coquette, suffered a recall at the start. Very soon afterwards another boat, Marie Louise, fouled Pansy and dropped out at once.

The wind holding true, they had a beat, a run, a reach and a beat again, round the course for the three rounds. Early on Mollie took the lead, followed by Coquette, Pansy and Tomboy, and this order was preserved to the finish, which was timed:—

GOLF.

SOUTH OF IRELAND CHAMPIONSHIP.

DUBLIN PLAYERS OUT.

THE LAST FOUR.

By OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.

LAHINCH, Wednesday Night.

The Dublin players did badly in the third round of the championship this forenoon, and when the round ended all had disappeared. P. A. Bell, after being two up at the ninth, went down to Ryan; Kelly was beaten by the holder, Burke; Kilduff struck his colours to Musgrave, and Brindley lost his match to Sweeney.

The most surprising result of the day, was, however, the defeat by Simcox by Dr. O'Malley, a player with a handicap of six at Moorpark. Many of us thought that we would see a fine match between the former holder of the title and the local crack, but Simcox played the last few holes of this match so badly that he was beaten on the home green after being two up with four to play. The loser never at any part of the match played as we knew him to be capable of playing, and, with the winner keeping a dead straight course, and the other trying for too much all the time the result was, perhaps, not surprising to those who watched the play.

Kilduff in his match with Musgrave played strokes below his best form, but the Cork-man put up such an excellent game that the Milltown-man would have had to be doing brilliantly to beat him. One of the best matches of the week was the struggle between McCarthy and Saunders. The former seems to have struck about his best game here. He opened with six fours for four wins, but the Killiney-man fought back gallantly and managed to get square at the home hole, to which McCarthy hit two balls from the tee out of bounds. A half at the nineteenth followed, Saunders being, perhaps, lucky to get it through a fine second by his opponent being trapped, but the Douglas representative put a lovely second to the twentieth, which won the match for him.

BURKE IN GREAT FORM.

Burke had no difficulty in getting through the round, the margin over Kelly being 6 and 5. He plays delightful golf, having 48 for the 13 holes, and Ffrench also survived. The evening round, however, brought about the downfall of the Rosslare man. The golf in his match with Sweeney was poor, and while it improved somewhat after the turn, it never reached the standard that one expects from such players. Still the defeat of Ffrench came as a surprise, and it featured the round.

Burke was again right at the top of his form against Ryan. Reaching the turn in 33, he stood three up at that point, and the result was, of course, never in the least doubt subsequently. Anything better than the golf played by the local man has not been seen at Lahinch for many a year. As a matter of fact, there are not many of the Irish professionals who, on his play this week, would hold him over this course, which he knows so well. Should he go to the Irish Amateur Championship at Portrush next month his will be a most interesting début in the event. I should have remarked that in the match between Ffrench and Sweeney the turning point was the thirteenth, where the latter missed a putt of about two feet, which virtually put him out of the running.

M'Carthy and his fellow-clubman, Musgrave, had a good match, which M'Carthy won with comparative ease, and convincing is the only term that one can apply to the golf shown by O'Reilly in his match with Dr. O'Malley, who was beaten 6 and 5.

The semi-final round will be played tomorrow, and the final on Friday, but unless the holder should crumple up (and that is not at all likely) there will be a similar result to that of twelve months ago.

POULTRY, CAGE BIRDS, DAIRY.

THE SIZE AND QUALITY OF EGGS.

Writing on this subject in the Weekly Irish Times, the Poultry Correspondent says:—

Many poultry breeders think, as eggs are sold by quantity irrespective of size, that the greater number they have the more they will make. But this will tell against them in the long run. It is not fair to ask people to pay the biggest price for the smallest eggs, but if eggs were sold by weight, as they should be, it would not be so bad. Now is the opportunity for those who want to market theirs to the best advantage. Get rid of the White Leghorns and any other hens laying small eggs, and breed only from hens laying large eggs—preferably of a brown colour, like the Rhodes. The large brown eggs will top the market price, and there will be no difficulty in selling them. We have a letter which has just reached us from the country complaining of only receiving 1s. 8d. a dozen for eggs last winter, when the Dublin prices were from 3s. to 3s. 6d. There may be many reasons for this, but we believe if breeders went in for large eggs they would easily get the highest price. Of course, this would mean if they were able to sell to the consumer, without the intervention of the middleman.
